The Tower. county to be elected in place of John Bertelot, deceased, and Robert Blech, who is insufficiently qualified.

Jan. 27. To treasurer and chamberlains. Order to pay without further
The Tower. delay to Richard de la Pole, the king's butler, 4,766*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, from the issues of the tenth granted by the clergy of the realm in the last great council at Nottingham, from the following dioceses, of the first terms of the payment of that tenth, to wit, 270*l.* from the diocese of Bath; 710*l.* from the diocese of Salisbury; 550*l.* from the diocese of London; 1,170*l.* from the diocese of Norwich; 330*l.* from the diocese of Ely; 610*l.* from the diocese of Winchester; 360*l.* from the diocese of Worcester; 340*l.* from the diocese of Chichester; and 426*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* from the diocese of Coventry; and 100*l.* remaining, of the same issues of the second term of payment, from the diocese of London, and those payments being made, to receive from Richard his evidences and memoranda and the letters obligatory, if he has any from the king, and such letters of acquittance as they shall see fit, because the king is bound to him in 4,000*l.* for divers expenses incurred by him in his office, and in 1,000 marks, which he delivered to the king on loan, as may appear by divers memoranda and evidences in Richard's possession, and in 200*l.* previously assigned to him by a certain tally, which he restored at the king's receipt, and which was afterwards delivered to William de Dunstaple, the king's clerk, upon making divers provisions for the king's use. Jan. 27. To the prior of Blythe. Order to deliver 40 oaks to William de Kelm, the king's carpenter, to be taken to the place where they shall be required, as the prior lately granted 40 oaks to the king at his request for the making of a galley, which he had commanded to be made at Kingston-upon-Hull, by William de la Pole, and the king has caused the galley to be begun, in the confidence [of receiving] that timber.
[Fœdera.] By K.

Feb. 8. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with a messuage and a carucate of land in Freydevill Esole and Nunynton, because the king has learned by inquisition taken by the escheator that John Colkyn held no lands at his death of the late king in that bailiwick, but that he held the said messuage and land in his demesne as of fee, of Geoffrey de Say, who held of the late king in chief, and whose lands were in the late king's hands by reason of the minority of Geoffrey, Geoffrey's son and heir, by the service of a moiety of a knight's fee, and that the said messuage and land afterwards came into the present king's hands, and that John Colkyn, son of the said John, who has proved his age before the escheator, is John's next heir; and the king lately took the homage of the said Geoffrey, son of Geoffrey, for all the lands which his father held of the late king in chief.

Feb. 10. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the executors of the will of Henry Beaufiz, to whom the late king granted the custody of all the lands which belonged to John Golkyn, the father, until the heir should come of age, rendering a certain thing yearly to the king, to be discharged of the said thing, provided that he answer to the king for the residue thereof before the said day.

To the sheriff of Gloucester. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of William de Tedrynton, who was lately indicted before Richard Talbot and his fellows, justices of oyer and terminer in co. Gloucester, for divers trespasses and felonies, and committed to prison for that cause.

Feb. 3. To the sheriff of Southampton. Order to pay Peter Bolle, to whom on 12 October in the 6th year of his reign, the king committed the custody of his park of Fremantel, to hold during pleasure, receiving the accustomed wages for that custody, the arrears of such wages, from the said 12 October, and to pay such wages henceforth as long as he is sheriff.

Feb. 9. To Simon de Grymesby, escheator in the liberty of Holderness. Order to cause reasonable dower to be assigned to Avicia, late the wife of Robert le Conestable, of Halsam, tenant in chief as of the honour of Albemarle, from all the lands which Robert held of the said honour, in the presence of John, Robert's son and heir, if he choose to attend, upon her taking oath not to marry without the king's licence.

Feb. 10. To Peter Bard, bailiff of Sandwich. Order to pay 40*l.* of the ferm of that town to William de Clynton, constable of Dover castle, for repairing divers defects in that castle.
By K.

Feb. 10. To Thomas Appelane. Order to pay 20*l.* of his money without delay to William de Clynton, constable of Dover castle, whom the king has ordered to cause divers works to be newly done within that castle, for the said works, and the king will cause Thomas to have due payment thereof or an assignment in places where he shall quickly be satisfied for that sum.

Feb. 12. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter-
 The Tower. meddle further with a messuage, 40 acres of land and the moiety of an acre of wood in Thunderle, amoving the king's hand therefrom, as the escheator returned that he had not taken those tenements into the king's hands, but that Robert de Holewell, his predecessor, had so taken them, pretending that the prior of King's Hatfield had appropriated them to himself and his house from John atte More, without licence; and afterwards, at the prior's suit, showing that he had no other estate in those tenements except for four years, by the demise of the said John, and beseeching the king to cause his hands to be amoved from them, the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisition upon the matter, whereby it is found that the prior did not acquire the messuage, land and wood of John in fee, but that he held them by John's demise, for the term of four years, from Michaelmas in the 9th year of the king's reign, and that the tenements are held of Geoffrey de Launey, by the service of 5s.
 yearly.

Jan. 28. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains.
 The Tower. Bartholomew de Bard and Peter Byne and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Bardi, have shown the king that whereas the late king, on 20 July in the 14th year of his reign, ordered the then treasurer and chamberlains by his writ of privy seal, to pay to Gerus and Bonus and their fellows, then merchants of the said society, 200 marks, which they had undertaken to pay for the late king to Master Andrew Sapiti, then the late king's proctor in the Roman court, or certain of his affairs there, charging therewith Roger de Northburgh, then keeper of the wardrobe;
 and although Gerus and Bonus and their fellows paid the said 200 marks by the view and information of Andrew, to divers persons in the Roman court, for the said cause, as may fully appear by the letters patent of Andrew, which Bartholomew and Peter and their fellows have in their possession, yet because the said merchants did not exhibit the said letters upon Roger's account at the exchequer, Roger has charged them with the said 200 marks upon the rendering of that account, upon which pretext 200 marks are now exacted from them; the king therefore orders the treasurer, barons and chamberlains to view the said writ of privy seal and Andrew's letters patent, and if they find that Gerus and Bonus paid 200 marks as aforesaid, then to supersede the demand for 200 marks, and to discharge and acquit the merchants thereof at the exchequer.

 Hatfield. and John Junctyn and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Peruzzi, 173*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, without delay, or to cause them to have a competent assignment, charging Arnald de Duro Forti with 100*l.*, and Bartholomew de Burghersh with 40*l.*, as the said merchants delivered 100*l.* to Arnald upon his wages, which he lately received from the king, and 40*l.* to Bartholomew upon his expenses in going to parts beyond the sea on the king's affairs, and 50 marks to John de Frandeston of the king's gift. By K.

 Hatfield. Byne and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Bardi, or to cause them to have a competent assignment therefor, charging nobody therewith, as the king is bound to them in 73*l.* for divers jewels, bought by

Feb. 27. To Richard de la Pole, the king's butler, or to him who supplies his
The Tower. place in the port of London. Order to deliver those 20 tuns of wine which the king ordered him to buy for the munition of Dover castle, and to deliver to William de Clynton, constable of that castle, if he have not hitherto delivered it to Richard Haket, whom the king has now appointed receiver and keeper of his victuals in that castle, with all speed. The king has ordered Richard to receive the wine from William, and keep it as is fitting.

Hatfield. granted to the king by the laity in the last great council at Nottingham. Order to have 650*l.* of the first term of payment at London on Monday in the first week of Lent next, to be delivered to Bartholomew de Bard and Peter Byne or to Baukynus Belkare, merchants of the society of the Bardi, or to their attorneys, notwithstanding the king's order to pay that money at the exchequer, knowing that if the payment of that money is delayed beyond that day, upon any pretence, the king will rigorously punish them as obstructors of his affairs and those of the realm and as disobedient to him and his orders, as the king lately ordered the treasurer and chamberlains to cause 650*l.* of the issues of that tenth and fifteenth to be paid to these merchants, in part payment of 12,235*l.* 17*s.* 5*d.*, which they have lent to the king, and the merchants have promised to pay that sum at London on the said day. Westminster. Richard Lovel, who formerly held the lands of Roger de Moeles, tenant in chief of the late king, by the late king's grant, for rendering a certain thing to that king yearly, until Roger's heir should come of age, of the said thing from 17 September in the 19th year of the late king's reign, as on that day the late king took the homage of John de Moeles, Roger's brother and heir, for all the lands which Roger held at his death in chief, and rendered them to him.

To John de Glanton, constable of Carlisle castle. Ordered to expend 50 marks in repairing the houses, walls, turrets and other buildings of that castle, of the ferm of 63*l.* 7*s.* 7½*d.*, which he is bound to render to the king yearly by the hands of the sheriff of Cumberland, for the custody of the said castle, and of the king's demesne lands there, beyond those sums which the king ordered him at divers times to expend in such repairs, by the view and testimony of Peter de Tiliot (sic). By K.

March 14. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause John Westminster. de Glanton to have due allowance in his ferm and the sheriff of Cumberland in his account for 50 marks, if they shall find that he has expended that amount in repairing the said castle.

Feb. 1. To Thomas de Foxele, constable of Wyndesore castle. Order to cause Hatfield. the houses, tower, and bridges of that castle, the houses and walls of the garden without the castle, the houses and ponds of the king's parks there, the houses and walls of the king's manor of Kenyngton, and the paling and wall about the king's park there, to be repaired where necessary, by the view and testimony of the viewers of works there, up to the sum of 40*l.*

Feb. 28. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the
The Tower. sheriff of Warwick to have due allowance in his account for the sums which they shall find him to have expended in repairing the king's gaol of Warwick, by the view and testimony of William de Sutton, up to the sum of 13*l.* 2*s.* 10*d.*, as the king lately ordered the sheriff to spend up to 20 marks in repairing the gaol which was so ruined that the escape of prisoners there was to be feared, and the sheriff expended up to 13*l.* 2*s.* 10*d.*, by virtue of the said order, as may fully appear by an indenture under William's seal and in the sheriff's possession.

Jan. 28. To the taxers and collectors in co. Essex of the tenth and fifteenth
The Tower. granted by the community of the realm in the last great council at Nottingham. Order to pay to John de Pulteneye, citizen of London, 300*l.* of the first money of that tenth and fifteenth, without delay, according to the tenor of the king's letters, notwithstanding the king's order under the exchequer seal to have that money at the exchequer at York on Monday in the first week of Lent next, as John, at the request of the king and his council, paid 300*l.* for the king to Arnald de Bosco, the king's clerk, in which sum the king was bound to him according to a composition made between the seneschal of Gascony and the constable of Bordeaux and others of the king's council in those parts, and the said Arnald, as Arnald has confessed in person in chancery, and the king granted to John that he should receive those 300*l.* of the first money of the said tenth and fifteenth in that county, by the hands of the taxers and collectors. By K and C.

March 5. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to permit the Westminster. abbot of Reading to hold the manor of Eston in Hertfordshire, by reason of doing certain chantries, or alms for the manor, freely and without rendering aught thereof, according to the tenor of the king's charters and confirmations, superseding the disquieting of the abbot upon his possession of that manor, as king Henry, the king's progenitor, by his charter, which the late king confirmed, granted to St. Mary and the monks of Reading, the said manor with the church of that town in frankalmoin, as they held them of the gift of king Henry, grandfather of the said Henry; and by an inquisition taken by the escheator it is

Feb. 7. To the sheriffs of London. Whereas the king ordered them to cause

John Junctyn and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Peruzzi, 1,000*l.* of the issues of the tenth and fifteenth granted in the last great council at Nottingham, with all possible speed, as the king is bound to those merchants in 1,000*l.*, which he received from them on loan for certain urgent affairs, wherefore he afterwards granted that they should receive the said 1,000*l.* of the issues of the ancient custom in the port of London, and the king ordered the collectors of that custom to pay the 1,000*l.* to the merchants from the said issues, and now the collectors have certified the king in chancery, at his order, that they have paid nothing to the merchants because the seal called "coket" in that port, was closed by the king's order, and the merchants have restored the king's said letters obligatory to chancery to be cancelled. March 10. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains.
Westminster. Whereas the king sent John Darcy to the Tower of London to stay there for the safe keeping of the same, and caused 10*l*. to be delivered to him upon his wages and those of others in his company, and afterwards sent him to France, and caused 100*l*. to be delivered to him upon his expenses in that journey, for the receipt of which money John is distrained to render an account to the king by the treasurer and barons, as he asserts, and has besought the king to order that account to be audited; the king therefore orders the treasurer, barons and chamberlains to account with John upon the premises, and to cause him to have payment or a competent assignment for what shall be found to be due to him in this respect.

March 14. To the same. Order to pay to Gilbert de Umframvill, earl of Anegos, Westminster. or his attorney, 274*l*. 20*d*., or to cause him to have competent satisfaction or an assignment therefor, receiving from the earl his bill, as the king is bound to the earl in that sum, both for his wages and those of his men-at-arms retained by him in the king's service in the war of Scotland, and for replacing his horses appraised and dead in the said service, between 14 May in the 10th year of the king's reign, and the 7th December following, as may fully appear by a bill under the seal of Richard de Feryby, keeper of the wardrobe, which the earl has in his possession; and the earl has besought the king to cause him to have such payment or assignment. By C.

To the same. Order to pay 37*l*. to Ranulph de Dacre, banneret, or to cause him to have a competent assignment therefor, if they shall find, upon viewing his bill, that the money is owing to him, receiving from him the said bill, as the king is bound to Ranulph in 37*l*. for his wages and those of his men-at-arms whom he retained in the king's service in the war of Scotland, between the 11th May in the 10th year of the king's reign, and the 10 September following, as may fully appear by a bill under the seal of Richard de Feriby, keeper of the wardrobe, which Ranulph has in his possession, and he has besought the king to cause such payment or assignment to be made to him. By C.

March 13. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge late sheriff of that county, as the king, having compassion on William's estate, who is much depressed by depredations and damage of goods upon the sea, has granted that he shall pay 10 marks yearly until the debt be discharged.

March 18. To the same. A like writ in favour of Nicholas Piers of Lostwythiel, Westminster. merchant, who is bound to the king in 60*l.*, for the stampage of tin in co.
Cornwall for the time of John Petit, to pay 10*l.* yearly. By K.

March 25. To Master John de Ayleston, the king's clerk. Order to cause all Westminster. the king's money which is in the treasury in his custody, and which is henceforth to be sent to the king's receipt for his use, to be safely kept, and to cause no assignment or attermination of debts which are owed by or to the king or his progenitors to be made to any one until further orders. By K.

March 11. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas on 15 February Westminster. in the 9th year of his reign, the king sent by writ of privy seal to Robert de Sapy, keeper of the forest of Dene, now deceased, Richard Garne, the king's fletcher (fleccharium) and ten working fletchers to stay within that forest until they had made a great number of darts (pilorum), with which the king charged Richard, and the king ordered Robert to cause 6*d.* a day to be paid to Richard from the issues of that bailiwick, and 3*d.* a day to each of the said workmen for their wages from the time of beginning the work until they should complete the number of the said darts, and to cause sufficient carriage for carrying the darts to the king, to be found, making an indenture between Robert and Richard for what he should pay to Richard in this respect, whereby the king would wish to make allowance to him thereupon, and Robert, by virtue of that order, delivered 64*s.* 6*d.* to Richard for his wages from 21 February in the said year, when he began that work, until 29 June following, and 16*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* for the wages of ten fletchers for the said time, and 63*s.* 8*d.* for a newly constructed waggon, for charging the said darts and for carrying them from St. Briavels to the king at Berwick-upon-Tweed, as may fully appear by the said indenture; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to view the king's order and the said indenture, and if they find that this is so, then to cause Alina, late Robert's wife, and the executrix of his will, to have due allowance for the said money in the account for the issues of the said forest, receiving from her the said order and indenture.

To the same. Whereas on 24 July, in the sixth year of his reign, the king ordered Robert de Sapy, constable of St. Briavel's castle and keeper of the land and honour of St. Briavel's, by writ, to cause 500 pieces of iron and 5,000 shoes for horses, with the nails pertaining thereto, to be bought and purveyed without delay, and to cause the iron and nails to be brought to Bristol and delivered to the mayor of that town by indenture, and Robert delivered 500 pieces of good iron and 5,000 horse shoes with nails to the mayor by the hands of John de Rostle, his attorney, by virtue of the king's order, as may fully appear by indenture between Robert and the mayor; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to view the said order and indenture, and if this is so, then to cause due allowance to be made to Alina, late Robert's wife and the executrix of his will, in the account for the issues of the said castle, land and honour.

To John Darcy, justiciary, and John de Ellerker, treasurer of Ireland, or to him who supplies the justiciary's place. Order to permit the abbot of Fourneys and his ministers to receive and levy the fermes, rents, and other profits issuing from the abbot's lands in Ireland, and to permit those ministers to send and carry them at will to the abbot, within the realm, notwithstanding the king's ordinance, and to restore to the abbot anything which they may have levied of his lands, goods and chattels there for the said cause, as the abbot has complained to the king that the justiciary and treasurer, by reason of an ordinance made by the king and his council in a late parliament at Westminster, that lords who hold lands in Ireland shall pay a subsidy and costs for the defence of their marches, hinder the abbot and his ministers in Ireland from receiving and levying fermes, etc., from his lands in Ireland, and from taking them to the abbot to England, wherefore the abbot has besought the king to provide a remedy, and it is not the king's intention or that of his council that the abbot or others of the realm who have lands in Ireland be hindered from receiving profits at will from their lands.

March 15. To Richard de la Pole, the king's butler, or to him who supplies his Westminster. place in the port of Southampton. Order to deliver to the prior and convent of St. Denis, near Southampton, or to their attorney, a tun of red wine of the king's prise of the present season of rack, of the wines brought to that port, in accordance with the king's grant to them of a tun of red wine yearly.

Feb. 8. To Thomas Espelon and Nicholas Chaumpeneys. Request to pay 20l.
The Tower. of their money without delay to William de Clynton, constable of Dover castle, whom the king has ordered to cause divers works within the castle to be done.

March 13. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to distraign Westminster. John son of John son of Ranulph, for his homage and fealty, as he has done homage and fealty for the lands which he holds of the king.
By p.s. [9832.]

March 20. To Roger de Grey and his fellows, justices of oyer and terminer in Westminster. co. Bedford. The abbot of Rameseye has shown the king by his petition before him and his council in parliament, that whereas he was residing at his abbey of Rameseye, co. Huntingdon, and has done so for a long time, Thomas de Stodleye, the elder, then one of Roger's fellows, contriving maliciously to annoy the abbot, Richard the abbot's brother, and John Baroun, impleaded them before those justices, by a certain bill, for having cut down, and broken by force and arms, the hays of Thomas at Wotton, and for having eaten, trodden down, and consumed the corn and grass growing there to the value of 20l., to the damage of 50l. to Thomas and against the king's peace, and he procured a day to be appointed by the justices for the abbot, Richard and John, to answer before the justices to Thomas concerning the said trespass, from day to day, and the sheriff of co. Bedford to adjudge the issues upon the abbot at the will of Thomas, from day to day, until the abbot lost his issues to the sum of 52l. by his default, the abbot then staying in co. Huntingdon, and being ignorant of the appointed days on account of the shortness of the same, and caused those issues to be adjudged forfeit to the king, wherefore the king ordered Roger to send the said record and process with all the things touching it, to the king in chancery, under his seal;

and because by the record and process so sent and afterwards viewed and examined before the king and his council in the said parliament, it fully appears that Thomas, then one of the king's justices with Roger, had not pursued his suit attached before the justices, and that it was considered that the abbot should go thence without a day, and that Thomas and his pledges should be at mercy, wherefore the abbot cannot be discharged of the damages which he sustained in the said record and process by the king's writ of error or by the king's writ of deception, because Thomas did not recover anything in the said plea against the abbot, and that the day appointed for the abbot, who is one of the peers of the land, to answer Thomas in this respect from day to day, was against the law and custom of the realm, chiefly because in the eyre of the justices where the summons contains 40 days, the said assignment of days is too short, it is agreed by the prelates, earls, barons, justices and others in the said parliament, for the aforesaid causes and that the justices may not constitute it an example for aggrieving prelates, earls, barons or others in the said form, that the said record and process shall be annulled, and that the issues and amercements in the extracts thereof shall be cancelled and withdrawn, saving to the king the amercement of Thomas for the aforesaid non-suit, the king therefore orders the justices to cause the issues returned upon the abbot, the amercements of the abbot, Richard and John and of their pledges and mainpernors, which are enrolled on their rolls, to be withdrawn from the rolls and the rolls to be cancelled with respect to the said issues and amercements, and to cause the abbot, Richard and John, and their said mainpernors to be quit of the said issues and amercements, saving to the king the amercement of Thomas and his pledges.

March 24. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the Westminster. abbot and convent of St. Albans to have the terms which the king has granted to them for 1,000 marks, which they are bound to pay to the king for having the last voidance of the abbey, and the profits of the abbey when void for their own use, as the king, considering the damages and the expenses which they have sustained in prosecuting the election of the last abbot in the Roman court, has granted that they shall pay 100 marks yearly until the debt be discharged. By K. and C.

March 18. To Dinus Forcetti and Peter Byne and their fellows, merchants of the Westminster. society of the Bardi of Florence. Request to pay without delay, in the king's name, 100 marks to Gilbert de Umframvill, earl of Anegos, 40*l.*, to Ranulph de Dacre of the king's gift, and 200 marks to John de Norwyco or William Gylmyn, John's yeoman, in his name, to wit, 100 marks thereof of the king's gift, and 200 marks upon his wages in going in the king's service to Gascony, as has been fully enjoined upon him by the king.

March 23. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause Richard Westminster. de Herthull, son and heir of Adam de Herthull, to have full seisin of all the lands of which his father was seised at his death in his demesne as of fee in that bailiwick, receiving security from Richard for rendering his reasonable relief at the exchequer, saving to Cristiana, late Adam's wife, the dower assigned to her by the king, as the king has taken Richard's homage for all the said lands.

March 7. To the taxers and collectors in the parts of Lyndeseye, co. Lincoln, Westminster. of the tenth and fifteenth granted by the laity of the realm in the last great council at Nottingham. Order to cause 760*l.* of the first term of payment to be brought to York, without delay, to be delivered to William de la Pole, merchant, or his attorney, in part payment of 4,026*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* in which the king is bound to him, notwithstanding any previous order of the king under the exchequer seal, directing them to pay that money at the exchequer, so that the urgency of the king's affairs may not be frustrated for lack of such payment, and that the king may not suffer damage, whereby he would have cause to punish them, receiving from William or his attorney, his letters of acquittance and the tally levied at the king's receipt thereupon, which the king ordered to be delivered to William in discharge of the taxers and collectors, as the king is bound to William in 4,026*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, which he delivered on loan, at the king's request, to divers lieges, at divers orders of the king, for urgent affairs, as may fully appear by the said orders, and the king wishes to hasten the payment of that money because William is charged by the king in a short time with divers other urgent affairs, in furtherance whereof it will behove him to expend divers sums of money. Berks, took the said estovers into the king's hands, because Geoffrey de Hurle, John's kinsman and heir, released the estovers to the present prior by his deed, pretending that the prior had appropriated those estovers to mortmain without licence; and the escheator unjustly compels the abbot to pay to him divers sums for the said estovers yearly, wherefore the prior has besought the king to provide a remedy, by his petition before him and his council in parliament; and the said release of the estovers ought not to be considered as an alienation contrary to the statute of mortmain. March 4. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause Westminster. 75*l.* 7*s.* 1*d.* to be allowed to William de Bello Campo in the arrears of the extent of the manor of Wadbergh, co. Worcester, and in the other debts which he owes at the exchequer, as lately as William's suit, to whom the late king granted the said manor, which belonged to Guy de Bello Campo, earl of Warwick, and which was then in late king's hands by reason of the minority of the earl's heir, to hold until the heir should come of age, rendering the extent of the manor to the late king yearly, showing the king that the late king afterwards amoved William from that manor and delivered it to Master John Walewayn, then escheator beyond Trent, to be kept, so that William received no issues from the manor from that time, and the late king had taken divers goods and chattels of William, found in the manor, into his hands, and had done his pleasure therewith; the king ordered the treasurer and barons to take an inquisition upon the premises, and to discharge and acquit William of the said extent from the time when he should be found to have been amoved from the manor, and to inform the king of the value of the said goods so taken by the late king; and they caused William to be discharged of the extent of the manor from the time when he was amoved therefrom, and certified to the king in chancery that it was found by inquisition that on 15 June in the 14th year of the late king's reign, on which day William was amoved from the part which he then held in the manor, by Robert le Ewer and Simon de Redyng and others of the late king's household, by his order, there were found in the manor corn, animals and other goods and chattels of William to the value of 75*l.* 7*s.* 1*d.*, according to the appraisement made thereof, and that all the said goods and chattels came into the hands of Robert and Simon for the late king's use; wherefore the king ordered the treasurer and barons to cause the said 75*l.* 7*s.* 1*d.* to be allowed to William in the arrears of the extent of the said manor for the time when he he'd it, and

Thomas de Litleton, 6 acres of land and 2½ acres of pasture in Wardon, in that county, together with the issues thereof, to hold according to the form of the king's letters patent, as the sheriff returned that he had caused those tenements to be seised into the king's hands by virtue of a writ of the exchequer, directed to him by reason of the alienation which John de Boweles made thereof, without the late king's licence, John having formerly held them of the late king in chief; and now Isabella has besought the king to order the land and pasture to be delivered to her, as on 6 August, in the 8th year of his reign, the king granted to her the custody of 6 acres of land and 2½ acres of pasture in Wardon, which belonged to Thomas, tenant in chief, and which were in the king's hands by reason of the minority of Thomas's heir, to hold until the heir should come of age, in aid of the maintenance of that heir and of the other children of Thomas and Isabella, without rendering anything thereof to the king, which said 6 acres of land and 2½ acres of pasture, of which the said king's writ makes mention, are the same as the 6 acres of land and 2½ acres of pasture contained in the king's letters patent, and were taken into the king's hands by a false suggestion made in the exchequer by reason of the exchequer writ directed to the sheriff. To William de Clynton. March 11. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Because the king has Westminster. learned by inquisition taken by the escheator that a messuage, 60 acres of land an acre of meadow and an acre of wood in Crondal, co. Warwick, in chief by knight's service, alienated the said rent and advowson, which are parcels of that manor, to Alan son of Geoffrey de Shypedene, without licence, and afterwards, at Alan's suit, showing the king that the said rent and advowson are held of Elizabeth de Burgo, as of the manor of Clare, and not in chief, the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisi-

To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with a rent of 50*l.* in Colston Basset, co. Nottingham, which he had taken into the king's hands by reason of Hugh's death, restoring the issues thereof to Alesia, as on 14 November in the 9th year of his reign, the king ordered Walter de Cirencestre, then escheator in cos. Warwick, Leicester, Nottingham, Derby and Lancaster, not to intermeddle further with the said rent, which he had taken into the king's hands by reason of the death of Ebulo. March 24. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to deliver all the Westminster. the lands, fees and advowsons which belonged to John de Multon, of Egremound, at his death, except the tenements, fees and advowsons which Alice, late John's wife, holds in dower, to Joan, late the wife of Robert son of Walter, Elizabeth late the wife of Robert de Haveryngton, and Margaret, whom Thomas de Lucy married, the sister and next heirs of John, and to Walter de Bermegeham, who has now married Elizabeth, and to the said Thomas to hold in tenancy by a mainprise until it shall appear whether any heir of John's body is procreated, saving to the king the making of a partition of the said tenements, fees and advowsons among the heirs and parceners, if no heir is procreated, and also the homages and reliefs of the heirs and parceners, as it was found by inquisition taken before William de Clapham, late escheator in cos. York, Northumberland, Cumberland and Westmorland, concerning the lands which belonged to John, that John at his death held in his demesne, as of fee, the castle and manor of Egremound, in chief as of the crown, by homage and fealty and by the service of a knight's fee, and that Joan, Elizabeth and Margaret were his next heirs and of full age; and the king has been besought by Joan, Thomas, Margaret, Walter and Elizabeth—whereas from the time of John's death, which took place on 23 November in the 8th year of the king's reign, they sued the king instantly for the lands of John's inheritance to be delivered to them, yet because it was found by inquisition, taken before John de Bolyngbrok, late escheator in cos. Lincoln, Northampton and Rutland, concerning the lands which belonged to John in those counties, that Alice was with child by John, and by the king's writ to the sheriff of Lincoln directed before the king at the prosecution of the heirs for the examination of Alice, it was returned that she was with child by John, but that she could not tell the time of birth, because she had passed the common time of bearing, and she did not know whether the infant was alive or dead, the said Joan, Walter, Elizabeth, Thomas and Margaret have hitherto been delayed and put off—that the king will be pleased to cause the said lands, with the knight's fees and advowsons, to be delivered to them, in consideration of the premises and on account of their imminent danger of disinheritance in this respect; and the king wishes to deal graciously with them in this matter, both in consideration of this affair before him and his council in the last parliament at Westminster, and because Joan, Walter, Elizabeth, Thomas and Margaret have found the following mainpernors before the king in chancery, to wit: John Darcy, of co. Nottingham, Ranulph de Dacre, Peter de Tilliol, Thomas de Burgh, parson of Brigham church, and Robert Parnyng, of co. Cumberland, who have undertaken to restore the said lands, fees and advowsons to the king, and to answer to Queen Philippa, to whom the king committed the custody of the lands to hold under a certain form, for the issues of those lands, when it can be seen if any heir was procreated of John's body.

March 28. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to deliver to Westminster. Katherine, late the wife of David de Strabolgi, earl of Athol, tenant in chief, the manor of Brabourn, co. Kent, extended at 58*l.* 8*s.* 6¼*d.* yearly, 6*l.* of yearly rent in the towns of Bishops Hatfeld and Beiford, co. Herts, which the king has assigned to her as dower. By K. and C.

Memorandum that the said manor and rent were assigned to the countess with the assent of the council, from the manors of Braburn, Gaynesburgh, Bichyndon, two parts of the manor of Ponteland, Little Eland, and Calverdon, the castle and manor of Mitford, certain tenements in Mollisdon, certain tenements in Merdesfen, 6*l.* yearly rent in Bishops Hatfield and Beyford, and 4*l.* yearly rent in Cherdesle, which belonged to the earl and were returned to chancery after his death, upon condition that reasonable dower should be saved to the countess from the other lands which belonged to him, when they should be returned in chancery.

March 19. To John de Cobeham, collector in co. Kent of the tenth and fifteenth Westminster. granted by the laity of the realm in the last great council at Nottingham. Order to pay to Reginald de Cobham, to whom the king lately granted 400 marks, to be received yearly from the king for life, until the king should provide him with 400 marks of land or rent yearly for life, 200 marks for the term of Easter next. March 18. To the sheriff of Sussex. Order to pay 50*l.* to Thomas de Byndon, as Westminster. he has besought the king to cause due recompense to be made to him for the damages which he has sustained by reason of the king's service, as he lately sent to Galueye, in Ireland, a ship of his called la Grace de Dieu, of Southampton, laden with 1,000 quarters of salt, to deliver the salt to certain men of that town, to whom he had sold it, to wit, at 3*s.* a quarter, and John Darcy, late justiciary of Ireland, caused the ship thus laden, and sailing towards the town of Galueye by the port of Waterford, to be arrested, and discharged of the salt there, and taken for the king's service to go to Scotland, and caused it to be detained there until his return to Ireland, without giving him satisfaction for the detention of the ship, or for the loss which he suffered by reason of the unloading of the salt, whereof a quarter cannot now be sold at more than 16*d.*, and the king wishes to grant Thomas's request, because John has certified to the king in chancery that the ship was arrested for the king's service on Wednesday before St. Peter ad Vincula, in the 9th year of the king's reign, and afterwards was discharged of the salt, and was in the king's service from the said Wednesday until St. Matthew following, without any satisfaction being given to Thomas for its detention or for the loss of the unloading and sale of the salt, and the damages sustained by Thomas are extended at 50*l.* and more, legitimate information having been taken thereupon. By C.

Vacated because it was surrendered, and is otherwise on the close roll of the 12th year in the month of May.

March 17. To the sheriff of Hertford. Order to deliver to Mary, late the wife Westminster. of Aymer de Valencia, earl of Pembroke, 60½ acres of land, 11 acres of meadow and pasture and 4*s.* rent in Westmelne, co. Hertford, which Agnes, late the wife of Geoffrey Thomlyn, held in dower of the inheritance of Richard de Wynneferthyng, clerk, which the king granted to Mary for life, together with the manor of Westmelne, to hold together with the issues thereof for life; the king also wishes the sheriff and Mary to be quit of these issues and of the extent of the said land, meadow, pasture and rent towards him, as the late king granted to Mary the manors of Anesty, Mesedene, Hormad and Westmelne, co. Hertford, which belonged to Aymer, and which Richard, who held them of the enfeofment of Aymer, gave to Mary to hold for life of the late king and his heirs, with remainder at her death to Laurence son of John de Hastynges, and Eleanor daughter of Hugh le Despenser, son of Hugh le Despenser, earl of Winchester, and the heirs of the bodies of Laurence and Eleanor; with remainder, if Laurence and Eleanor should die without an heir, to the said Hugh son of Hugh and his heirs; and on its being found by inquisition, taken by John de Shardelowe and John Blomvill, that William de Polhey formerly held $65\frac{1}{2}$ acres of land, 5 acres 3 roods of meadow and pasture and 26s. $1\frac{3}{4}$ d. rent in Westmelne as his free tenement, until he had fully levied 12 marks in which Richard son of Geoffrey Thomlyn, of Westmelne, was indebted to him, according to the form of the law merchant, and that William demised those tenements to Aymer, and that Richard afterwards demised them to Aymer to hold for life, and that afterwards, in the time of the late king, Richard released to Aymer all his right and claim in the same, and granted that the said $60\frac{1}{2}$ acres of land 11 acres of meadow and pasture and 4s. rent in Westmeln, which ought to revert to Richard and his heirs after Agnes's death, should remain to Aymer and his heirs for ever; and that Agnes by virtue of this grant, attorned herself to Aymer, and that subsequently, to wit, in the 17th year of the late king's reign, Aymer granted the said tenements with the reversions of the lands which Agnes so held in dower, to Richard de Wynneferthyng, and Richard afterwards gave those tenements to the late king in fee, and Agnes attorned herself both to the late king and to Richard de Wynneferthyng for the lands which she held in dower, and that Richard son of Geoffrey, notwithstanding the premises, in the 3rd year of the king's reign, granted the reversion of the lands which Agnes held in dower to John de Welton, who entered those lands immediately after the death of Agnes, to wit, before the feast of All Saints, in the 5th year of the king's reign, and he continued in occupation, receiving all the issues and profits thereof, and John de Welton was warned by the sheriff to be present at the taking of the aforesaid inquisition; and the king ordered the sheriff to take the said $60\frac{1}{2}$ acres of land, 11 acres of meadow and pasture and 4s. rent, which Agnes held as her dower, into the king's hands, together with the issues thereof, from the time of their occupation, which belonged to the king, and to keep them safely until further orders, so that he should answer to the king for the issues thereof, from the time of such occupation and for the issues of the lands so occupied; and now Mary has besought the king to order the said land, meadow, pasture and rent, together with the issues thereof, to be restored to her, as the said $60\frac{1}{2}$ acres of land, 11 acres of meadow and pasture and 4s. rent are of the appurtenances of the manor of Westmelne, and the reversion thereof was granted to the late king by Richard de Wynneferthyng with the intention that the late king should grant the reversion together with the manor of Westmelne, and the other manors, to the said Mary.

To the same. Order to cause 180*l.* to be allowed to the same sheriff in his account, having viewed the indenture, as John de Tumby of Boston, undertook before the king and his council to pay to John Clyngonbergh 220*l.* for a ship called Prucebergh, bought from John for the king's use, and the king ordered the sheriff to deliver the said 220*l.* to John by indenture, and the sheriff has paid 180*l.* to John in part payment of the said 220*l.*, as may fully appear by the indenture, as he says.

To the same. Order to cause the same sheriff to have due allowance in his account for the costs which he shall have reasonably incurred in the following matters, having viewed the indenture, as the king ordered the sheriff to cause 300 good and sufficient bows, and cords suited to them, and a tun of arrows, an ell long, of good and dry timber, and well steeled heads, for those arrows and with broad barbs (falas largas) for the king's use, to be bought and purveyed from the issues of that bailiwick, and to be sent to York, to be delivered to the sheriff of York by indenture, and by virtue of this order John bought 300 good bows and cords suitable for them, and a pipe of arrows containing 146 sheaves, with the heads thereof, and delivered them to the sheriff of York for the king's use, as may fully appear by an indenture made thereon, as he says.

MEMBRANE 25.

March 15. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Richard de Haveryng, Westminster. constable of Bordeaux, of Edward I, has besought the king by his petition before him and his council in parliament, to cause the following sums to be allowed to him in his account now rendered at the exchequer, as he paid divers sums of money for the expenses of John de Haveryng, then seneschal of the duchy of Aquitaine, and of William de Dene, then seneschal of Agen, and for his own expenses, by the order of Edward I, in going from England to the duchy and returning thence, and for replacing the horses of John, William and Richard, lost in the said king's service, as may fully appear, he asserts, by the testimony of the controller of the duchy; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to inspect the control concerning the payments made by Richard for such expenses for the replacing of the horses, and to cause him to have due allowance, notwithstanding that he did not exhibit any special warrant before them in the exchequer. By pet. of C.

To the same. Order to cause due allowance to be made to the same Richard for reasonable expenses incurred by him in arraying his account, as has hitherto been customary with like accounts, as Richard has besought the king by his petition before him and his council in parliament, to order such allowance to be made to him, as after his departure from the duchy he incurred several expenses by his ministers in arraying his accounts, and for taking four coffers with rolls and memoranda touching the said account, from the duchy to England, and in rendering the said account. By pet. of C.

To the same. Order to cause due allowance to be made to Richard de Haveryng, sometime escheator beyond Trent of Edward I, for what he shall be found to have paid by reason of divers writs and acquittances, having viewed the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer touching the said writs and acquittances, exhibited upon view of the said account, notwithstanding that Richard does not exhibit the said writs and acquittances, as Richard, after rendering the account for the issues of the said escheatry, exhibited before the king writs and acquittances of divers payments made to divers men, and the said writs and acquittances being placed in view of the account, before the treasurer and barons, were enrolled, and they are by mishap lost. By pet. of C.

March 4. To John Moryn, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle Westminster. further with a messuage and 4 bovates of land in Gedelyng, amoving the king's hands therefrom, and restoring the issues thereof to Richard Ingram, as the escheator returned that he had taken these tenements into the king's hands because Matilda de Cauce, who held them of the king's progenitors, alienated them to Richard Ingram, deceased, without the licence of the king's predecessors, and Richard, Richard's son and heir, having entered them after his father's death, alienated them to Richard Ingram, his son in fee, without obtaining the king's licence; and afterwards at Richard's suit, showing that the said tenements are held of Adam de Everyngham and not of the king, and beseeching the king to order his hand to be amoved therefrom, the king ordered the escheator

to take an inquisition upon the premises, by which it is found that the said tenements are held of Adam by scutage, homage and fealty and suit at the court of Shelford every three weeks, and that they are worth 30s. yearly.

To the same. Like order in favour of Thomas de Whatton concerning a messuage and 6 bovates of land in Stoke Bardolf, which the escheator had taken into the king's hands, because Matilda de Cauce, who held them of the king's progenitors, had alienated them to Geoffrey le Botiller without licence, and John le Botiller, Geoffrey's son and heir, had entered them after Geoffrey's death, and alienated them in fee to Richard de Whatton, grandfather of the said Thomas, without obtaining the king's licence; and Thomas has besought the king to cause his hand to be removed from those tenements, showing that they were held of Adam de Everyngham, and it was found by inquisition that they were worth 40s. yearly.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge and acquit Thomas Hastang, to whom the king lately committed the manor of Kynton, co. Warwick, which belonged to Stephen de Segrave, tenant in chief of the late king, which was in the late king's hands by reason of the minority of John, Stephen's son and heir, to hold until the heir should come of age for rendering a certain fixed thing yearly at the exchequer, of that fixed thing from 20 March last, on which day the king took John's homage, who proved his age before William Erneys, late escheator in cos. Warwick, Leicester, Nottingham, Derby, and Lancaster, for all the lands which Stephen held at his death of the late king in chief.

March 6. To Ralph de Nevill, keeper of the Forest beyond Trent or to him who Westminster. supplies his place in the forest of Ingelwode. Cumberland.

March 6. To the sheriff of York. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be Westminster. elected in the place of John de Fosseton, deceased.

March 4. To the sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolke. Order to pay to Rhys (Reso)
Westminster. son of Rhys ap Mereduk, a Welshman, imprisoned at Norwich, the arrears of those wages which he has hitherto been accustomed to receive, from the time of the sheriff's appointment, and to pay such wages henceforth as long as he is sheriff.

March 3. To John Moryn, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle
Westminster. further with two messuages and two bovates of land in Gedelyng and Stokebardolf, amoving the king's hands therefrom, and restoring the issues thereof to William Amyas, as the escheator returned that he had taken the messuages and land into the king's hands because he had found by inquisition of office that Matilda Cauce, who held them in chief of the king's progenitors, alienated the messuage in Stokebardolf, in fee to Ralph le Botiller, and that after Ralph's death, Roger le Botiller, Ralph's son and heir, entered that messuage, and after Roger's death, John le Botiller, Roger's son and heir, alienated that messuage to William; and also that Matilda alienated the said messuage and land in Gedelyng, in fee to the said William, without obtaining the licence of the king or his progenitors; and subsequently, at William's suit, showing the king

that the messuage and land in Gedelyng are held of Philip de Somervill, and the messuage in Stokebardolf is held of Adam de Everyngham, of Laxton, and not of the king in chief, and beseeching the king to order his hand to be amoved from these tenements, the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisition on the matter, by which it is found that the said messuages and land are not held of the king in chief, but that the messuage and land in Gedelyng are held of Philip by the service of a pound of cinnamon and the messuage in Stokebardolf is held of Adam de Everyngham, by the service of a grain of pepper yearly for every service.

March 8.

To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with a toft, 110 acres of land and 16 acres of wood in the manor of Whethamsted, amoving the king's hands therefrom and restoring the issues thereof to the abbot of Westminster, as the escheator returned that he had not taken those tenements into the king's hands, but that Robert de Holewell, late escheator in cos. Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Huntingdon, Essex, and Hertford, delivered to William by indenture a toft and a grove (gravam) called 'Marescallesgrave,' with 110 acres of land in Whethamstede, asserting that they were in the king's hands by reason of the trespass of the abbot in approving them for himself and his church, without licence; and afterwards the abbot besought the king, to order his hand to be amoved therefrom, as a former abbot of that place had acquired the said toft, land and wood for himself and his successors long before the publication of the statute of mortmain, as it was then lawful to do, wherefrom the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisition upon the premises, by which it is found that Walter, sometime abbot of Westminster, acquired of Geoffrey Pycot, long before the statute of mortmain, to wit, in the 12th year of the reign of Edward I, a toft and 110 acres of land in Whethamstede, co. Hertford, and that he likewise acquired, long before the publication of the said statute, in the same year a grove of wood called 'Mareschallesgrave,' in the town of Whethamstede, of Ralph Friday.

To the prior of St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield. Order to have the 550*l.* of the tenth granted to the king by the clergy of the province of Canterbury, in the congregation of Leicester, in the diocese of London, at London on Wednesday after Sunday in the middle of Lent next, without further delay, to be delivered to Richard de la Pole, the king's butler or to his attorney for the king's affairs, notwithstanding the imposition and order of the late pope; knowing that if the king's affairs are delayed for lack of the payment of that money, the king will punish him as disobedient, as the king lately ordered the treasurer and chamberlains by writ to pay 550*l.* of the issues of the said tenth to Richard of the first term of the payment of that tenth, in part payment of 4,866*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, in which the king was bound to him for various causes; and afterwards because Richard promised in good faith to pay a certain great sum of money to the king at London for his most urgent affairs, the king ordered S. bishop of London to have the said 550*l.* at London on the feast of St. Gregory the pope, last, to be delivered to Richard for the aforesaid cause, notwithstanding the imposition by the late pope of a sexennial tenth upon the clergy of the realm, and his order to keep that money safe for the passage of the Holy Land, which imposition and order the present pope has revoked; and the money thus collected is not in the custody of the bishop but of the prior, who was deputed to collect the same, and

To Master Bernard Cistre, nuncio of the pope and apostolic see in England. Order to supersede the exaction which he is making upon the master and brethren of the order of St. Lazarus of Jerusalem, in England, for the quadrennial tenth imposed by pope John XXII upon the clergy of England, Ireland and Wales, and granted to the king for one moiety, permitting the master and brethren to be quit of that tenth for the other moiety; as the late king, at the suit of the master and brethren, showing that their order is founded upon lepers and warfare, and that by reason of their order and by virtue of bulls of the holy see, and by other instruments which the late king inspected, they ought to be quit of such tenths and of all manner of tallages and aids chiefly because it behoved them to be in the front line in the Holy Land, against the enemies of the cross, and that they were charged with divers tenths granted to the late king by the apostolic see, and much disquieted and aggrieved for that reason, ordered the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, by divers writs to discharge the master and brethren and their successors of the said tenth, tallages and aids for time past, and henceforward in like cases, and the present king, wishing to continue this favour, because it fully appeared by a certificate of the treasurer and barons that the master and brethren had been discharged of such tenths, tallages and aids by reason of the aforesaid writs, several times ordered to acquit and discharge the master and brethren of tenths, fifteenths, tallages, and such aids henceforward, as appears by inspection of the chancery rolls.

The Tower. and heir of Ralph de Wilmynton for his homage, as on 2 October last the king took his fealty for all lands which his brother held at his death in chief, and gave him respite for his homage until Easter next, and ordered the escheator to cause him to have seisin of all the said lands, having taken security from him for rendering his reasonable relief to the king. By p.s.
- March 10. To John de Langeford, constable of Caresbrok castle, in the Isle of Westminster. Wight. Order not to distrain Nicholas, son and heir of Henry atte Wode, for his homage and fealty for all the lands which his father held in chief of the king in that island, saving always to the king the relief which is due to him in this respect. By p.s. [9803.]
- March 8. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter-Westminster. meddle further with a messuage and 24 acres of land in Thyryngg, restoring the issues thereof, as the escheator returned that he had taken those tenements into the king's hands, because John, earl of Warenne, who holds the manor of Gymynggham, co. Norfolk, in chief, manumitted Simon Pleisaunt, his bondman, and made him free with all his issue, and he alienated the said tenements, which are parcel of the manor, to Simon and his heirs in fee, without licence; and afterwards at the suit of John, son and heir of the said Simon, showing the king that the said tenements are held of the earl as of the manor of Castleacre, and not in chief, the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisition upon the premises, by which it is found that the said messuage and land were in the possession of John Pleisaunt, grandfather of Simon, who was of free condition and held them freely by hereditary succession of Philip Burnel, by fealty and by the service of 10*d.* yearly for every service, and Philip held them of John, earl of Surrey, by knight's service of the manor of Castleacre, which is held in chief; and that the said Simon, kinsman and heir of John Pleisaunt, held the said messuage and land freely until the day of his death, and John, his son and heir, so holds them freely.
- March 18. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, Dublin. Order to Westminster. inspect the rolls and memoranda of their exchequer, and if they find by such inspection, by inquisition or otherwise, that the dean and chapter of the church of St. Patrick, Ardmagh, have received and held issues and other profits of the city of Ardmagh, and the manor of Tillahog, which are of the temporalities of that archbishopric, in time of voidance of the archbishopric, in times past, in aid of the election expenses of the archbishopric, and that answer has not been made to the king or his progenitors for the issues of the said city and manors, in such voidances in times past, then to cause the demand which they made on the dean and chapter to render an account to the king for the issues of the said city and manors for the voidances of the archbishopric to be superseded, and to discharge and acquit them of the issues and profits of the said city and manors; as the dean and chapter have shown the king, by their petition before him and his council in parliament, that whereas they have always hitherto received the said issues and profits from time out of mind in every voidance of the archbishopric, in aid of their expenses, so that neither the king nor his progenitors were wont to receive anything thereof, yet the treasurer and barons cause the dean and chapter to be distrained to account before them

Westminster. lains. Order to cause 319*l.* 16*s.* to be paid to John Baronshele and John Junctyn and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Peruzzi, or a competent assignment therefor to be made to them, charging Albertinus de Plesence with 100*s.* and Richard de Leyburn with 113*l.* 16*s.*, as the said merchants, at the king's request, delivered 100*s.* to Albertinus, whom the king lately sent to parts beyond the sea, upon his expenses in that journey, and 113*l.* 16*s.* to Richard, upon his wages, which were in arrears to him for the time when he was with the king in Scotland, as may fully appear by a bill under the seal of Richard de Feriby, keeper of the wardrobe, in the merchants' possession, and 200*l.* to Robert de Artoys, of the king's gift. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the taxers and collectors in co. Northampton of the tenth and fifteenth granted in the last great council held at Nottingham, on moveables, and the men of the town of Little Hoghton, co. Northampton, to be discharged of the said tenth and fifteenth, which were exacted from those men, as the king having compassion on the estate of these men, their town being accidentally burned with the corn and other goods and chattels therein, and wishing to help them to regain their estate, pardoned them 67*s.* 3*d.*, which they were bound to pay by reason of the tenth and fifteenth granted to him in the tenth year of his reign in the Parliament at Westminster, and which are exacted from them for the king's use; and the king acquitted them of the said 67*s.* 3*d.*; and the men have now informed the king that the taxers and collectors in that county have levied that sum on them by reason of that tenth and fifteenth against the tenour of the king's letters, and they have besought him to discharge them of the tenth and fifteenth granted at Nottingham, in recompence of that sum which was pardoned them. By p.s.

Westminster. meddle further with a messuage, a mill, 80 acres of land, 2 acres of meadow, and 13 acres of pasture of Henry de Bokewell, in Bocton Alluf, amoving the king's hands therefrom, and restoring the issues thereof to Henry, as the king ordered the escheator to return why he had taken those tenements into the king's hands; and subsequently, at the suit of Henry showing the king that the said messuage, mill, land, meadow, and pasture are held of Thomas del Haye and not of the king, the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisition upon the matter, by which it is found that the messuage, mill, land, meadow and pasture were alienated to Henry's ancestors by Thomas del Haye, formerly lord of Beaumondeston, before the memory of man, to be held of Thomas and his heirs by the service of paying 10*s.* every 24 weeks to the ward of the castle and honour of Dover for every service, and that the manor of Beaumondeston is held in chief by the service of a knight's fee. March 23. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause Westminster. Thomas de Monte Caniso, son of William de Monte Caniso, to have full seisin of the manor of Edwardestone, and not to intermeddle further with the other lands which are held of other lords, because the king has learned by inquisition taken by the escheator, that William held that manor at his death, in his demesne as of fee of the king as of the honour of Eye then being in the hands of Queen Isabella, and that the Queen committed the manor, which was in her hands by reason of the minority of William's heir, to John de Hothum, late bishop of Ely, to hold until the heir should come of age, which honour has come into the king's hands by the death of John earl of Cornwall, who held it afterwards under a certain form, by the service of a knight's fee and a quarter, and certain other lands of other lords, by divers services, and that Thomas, William's son, is his next heir and of full age, and the king has taken the homage of Thomas for the said manor.

Westminster. meddle further with a messuage and 10 acres of land of John Godrich, in Blebury, amoving the king's hand therefrom, and restoring the issues thereof to John, as the escheator returned that he had taken the messuage and land into the king's hands because he had found, by inquisition of office, that Nicholas, son of Laurence le Carter, bondman of the abbot of Redynges, acquired them in fee; and afterwards the abbot, on 28 December last, placed his hands on these lands and tenements without the king's licence; and afterwards John besought the king to order his hand to be amoved therefrom, as the messuage and land are held of him by certain services and without a mean, in chief, and that he, by reason of the appropriation which the abbot made thereof in the premises, had entered upon the messuage and land as chief lord, as his escheat, to hold according to the form of the statute of mortmain, and the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisition on the matter, by which it is found that the said messuage and land which Nicholas acquired for himself and his heirs in fee, and on which the abbot afterwards laid his hands, are held of John without a mean, by the service of paying 5s. yearly to him, and that John, by reason of the appropriation which the abbot made thereof, entered that land on 2 January last, as chief lord, to hold as his escheat according to the said statute, and that John so held it from 2 January until the 10th day of that month, when the escheator entered it by reason of the abbot's appropriation, and that the messuage and land are worth 2s. yearly beyond the said rent.

March 14. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause Westminster. William de Monte Acuto, keeper of the king's manor and park of Wodestok, to have due allowance in his ferm of 6*l.*; which he delivered by the king's order, as he says, to wit, to John de Dunelm and Richard de Clifford, the king's parkers there, 100*s.*, and to Robert de Smythele, keeper of the king's stud, 20*s.* of the king's gift.

March 18. To William de Monte Acuto, earl of Salisbury, fermor of the manor Westminster. of Wodestok with its members, or to him who supplies his place there. Order to pay from that ferm to Peter de Dodecote, clerk of the king's works of that manor, as much money as he shall think necessary upon repairing the houses, walls, mills, ponds, palings and parks and for the maintenance of the king's stud and wild animals there and for the payment of the accustomed wages to the parker of Cornebury park. By K.

March 17. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause John Westminster. de Cherleton to be discharged of those 500 marks which are exacted of him, which he received lately from the merchants of the society of the Bardi as a prest, and which he employed in the late king's affairs, as the king has pardoned him the said sum. By p.s. [384*v.*]

March 14. To the same. Order to cause Peter de Dodecote, clerk of the king's Westminster. works, in his manor of Wodestoke, to be discharged and acquitted of 10*l.*, for the hundred of Wotton, co. Oxford, from 12 December in the 6th year of the king's reign, provided that he answer to the king as he ought for the ferm of the manor of Wodestok, as on the said 12 December the king granted the said hundred to William for his good service, to hold for life, rendering 10*l.* thereof to the king yearly; and afterwards on 5 January following, the king granted that Peter should hold for life the said hundred, which is member of the said manor, the custody of which the king committed to William de Monte Acuto for rendering a certain ferm yearly to the king, together with the issues from the said 12 December, rendering to William yearly the said 10*l.* in aid of his ferm, as long as he should have the said custody.

To the same. Order to cause Richard de Welles, chamberlain of Kaermerdyn, to have allowance of 49*l.* 0*s.* 9¼*d.* in his account for the issues of his chamber, as on 25 June in the 9th year of his reign, the king ordered Richard by writ to pay to Gilbert Talbot, justice of South Wales, the arrears of his fee for the time when Richard was chamberlain there, and to pay that fee henceforth as long as Gilbert should remain in his office, from the issues of his bailiwick, and by virtue of that order Richard has paid 49*l.* 0*s.* 9¼*d.* to Gilbert for his fee from

March 25. To Roger de Gosewyk and John Belle. R. bishop of Durham has Westminster. besought the king by his petition before him and his council in the present parliament, to revoke his letters of scrutiny in the town and port of Hertipol, as the bishop has and ought to have, as his predecessors have had, the liberty and royal jurisdiction and royal profits within his liberty of Durham, and they have exercised justice, and received royal profits by themselves and their ministers, without the king or his progenitors, or any bailiff or minister of the king or his progenitors, intermeddling with matters arising therein, except in default of the bishop or his ministers in showing justice; and the king appointed Roger and John in the town and port of Hertipol, which are within the said liberty, to make scrutiny there, to wit: that no one of whatever state or condition shall take sterling, silver in sheet, vessels of gold or silver out of the realm in that town or port without the king's licence, under pain of forfeiture of the same, and shall not bring false money and counterfeit sterling into the realm, under pain of forfeiture of the same, and to seize and take into the king's hands the said money, vessels and silver so forfeited and to cause them to be sent to the king's exchanges by indenture, and to do certain other things contained in the king's letters patent; and because the king has ordered divers of his ministers by divers writs, before these times not to intermeddle with the royal offices within the liberty of that bishopric, as appears by inspection of the chancery rolls, he revokes the said letters of scrutiny for that port and orders Roger and John not to intermeddle further therewith.

castle-upon-Tyne; and although Henry III. ordered John to do homage to R., then bishop of Durham, for the said knights' fees, and to be attendant upon and answerable to him there, yet the treasurer and barons cause 5 marks 40*d.* yearly for the ward of the said castle to be exacted from the bishop from the time of the said order, and cause him to be distrained for that cause, because in a certain memorandum in the exchequer, it is contained that Henry III. ordered John de Balliolo to be attendant upon the bishop concerning the said fees, so that the bishop should answer to that king for the ward which is exacted of those fees for the custody of the said castle, unless he could show to the said king that he ought to be quit of such ward by charter of the king or his predecessors, whereupon the bishop has besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to hear the bishop's plaint in this respect, having viewed his charters and other evidences, heard his reasons and inspected the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer, calling before them, if necessary, the justices of either bench, and if they can find by these means that the bishop ought not to be charged with the said 5 marks and 40*d.* yearly for the ward of the said castle, then to cause the bishop to be discharged thereof and of the arrears of the same, and to cause the demand made on him for 5 marks 40*d.* to be superseded until Christmas next, so that in the meantime he may pursue his discharge as he ought.

the younger, in Kyllingwyk, Nessyngwyk, Egton, Lyth, Sandesend, Barneby near Lyth, Barneby near Mikilby, and Hoton near Mulgreve, as on the said 23 September, because Peter the younger, who was in the king's service in Scotland by his order, departed from that service without the king's licence, to the manifest danger of the king and his other lieges staying there, the king ordered the sheriff to cause all Peter's lands, goods, and chattels in that bailiwick to be seized into the king's hands and kept safely, so that the sheriff should answer at the exchequer for the issues of the lands and for the said goods and chattels; but Peter, the elder, recovered his seisin of 300 marks yearly of which Peter, the younger, and Margaret his wife, were disseised, and with which the said lands were charged, by consideration of the king's

March 18. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, Dublin, and to the Westminster. chamberlains. Order to inspect the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer touching the account of John Moricz, late escheator in Ireland, and if they find that he has had no allowance or payment of 100*l.* of the profits of his escheatry, then to cause those 60*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.* due to the king by John for the remainder of his accounts to be allowed to him, in the said 100*l.*, and to cause the remaining 39*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.* to be paid to him from the treasury, as lately, in recompence for the damages which John sustained in the king's service in that office, the king granted to him 100*l.*, to be received of certain profits arising from the office of the said escheatry, of the king's gift, and John has now besought the king to order such allowance and payment to be made to him, as he accounted fully before the treasurer and barons for the issues of the said escheatry, for all his time, and is bound to the king in 30*l.* 18 $\frac{3}{4}$ d. of the remainder of his account, wherefore he cannot receive the said 100*l.* granted to him by the king, of the profits of the escheatry; and John is likewise bound to the king in 30*l.* 23 $\frac{1}{4}$ d. for the remainder of his account for two parts of the manor of Atherde, which he lately held at ferm by the demise of the king. Westminster. to view the king's writs directing them to pay 79*l.* 12*s.* 8*d.* to John Morice, and to cause that sum to be paid to John if he have not yet received payment of the same, as John has besought the king to order such payment to be made to him as it was ordained by John Darcy, justiciary of Ireland and by the council there, that John Morice should have 79*l.* 12*s.* 8*d.* both for his wages and of the king's gift for divers costs and expenses incurred by him in the king's service at different times; wherefore the treasurer and chamberlains were ordered, by divers writs under the seal which the king uses in those parts, to pay that sum to him, and he has not yet received payment thereof. Order to restore to William de Rostelye, chaplain, his lands, goods, and chattels, which were taken into the king's hands upon his being indicted before Richard Talbot, William de Chiltenham and Robert Dapitote, justices of oyer and terminer in that county, of the robbery of 20*l.* from Robert Bulleye, citizen of Gloucester, and of the death of Robert, killed at the park of Bremesfeld, co. Gloucester, as he has purged his innocence before Simon, bishop of Worcester, ordinary of the place, to whom he was delivered by the justices in accordance with the privilege of the clergy.

April 16. To the sheriff of Leicester. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of John le Marewe, who is so broken by age and so weak that he cannot discharge the duties of his office.

MEMBRANE 21.

April 2. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the distraint which they make upon Nicholas Torny and Richolda his wife, daughter (fil'), and heirs of William de Cateby, son of William de Cateby, on 3 bovates of land in Folquardby, co. York, for 32*s.* yearly, of the extent thereof, and of the arrears of the same by reason of the grant of these bovates to Richard de Insula, provided that answer is made by Richard for the said extent before 18 August in the 13th year of the late king's reign, and by Nicholas and Richolda for 20*s.* yearly, for which William held the said land; as on the said 18 August, the late king ordered Ralph de Crophull, then escheator beyond Trent, to restore those 3 bovates to William, without delay. [As in this Calendar, 13 Edward II., page 155.]

March 26. To the sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk. Whereas lately at the suit of Thomas de Debenham, merchant, of Ipswich, showing the king that whereas a certain ship of Thomas of 160 tuns of wine burthen was arrested at Great Yarmouth upon the sea, by the king's admiral, and Thomas caused that ship to be prepared for war and provided with victuals and other necessities, by the order of that admiral to be taken to the port of Erewell, to set out thence with other ships upon the sea in the king's service, certain malefactors of the parts of Cales and Normandy, lying in wait for that ship, attacked it before the town of Oreford, entered it by armed force, killed the men therein, carried away the ship, of the price of 200 marks, and the goods, victuals and other things therein, to the value of 100*l.*, and committed other crimes; and Thomas beseeching the king to provide a remedy upon the restitution of the said ship, goods, victuals and things, the king appointed Ralph de Bockyng and Giles de Wachesham to take an inquisition on the matter, by which it is found that on Thursday before St. Bartholomew last, certain felons of Cales, Normandy, and elsewhere of the power of the king of France, in four ships prepared for war, having the commission of the king of France to injure and aggrieve all Englishmen in all possible ways, saving to the king of France a moiety of the gain which the subjects of the said king should win from the English, attacked a ship of Thomas called la Katherine, in going from the town of Great Yarmouth to the port of Erewell, as was enjoined upon Thomas by the king's admiral, before the town of Oreford, co. Suffolk, and they entered it by force, killed certain men who were in it, took the said ship with its gear, of the price of 200 marks, and the goods, victuals and other things of Thomas therein, to wit: millstones (molas), white wine, iron and planks, to the value of 150 marks, and carried them away to La Escluse in Flanders, whence they took them to the town of St. Valéry (Sancti Walerici), in Picardy, and there they exposed the ship, goods, victuals and things for sale; and that the jurors asserted that they knew the truth of the premises, because six of them and several others of the town of Oreford, standing on the shore at Oreford, saw the said robbery and felony done, and some of them saw the said ship newly made at Yarmouth, and the said goods and chattels bought and placed therein, and that some of the jurors were at La Escluse in Flanders, when the ship arrived there with the said goods, and they went to the ship in the company of John Foveyle, their host, bailiff of La Escluse, who arraigned the malefactors upon their deed, and the malefactors all professed that they had done it by virtue of the commission of the king of France, which they showed to the bailiff, written in Latin (verbis Romanis), and which the bailiff read publicly before the said merchants and several others, wherefore for fear of the king of France, the bailiff let these malefactors go free, and they took the ship with its goods to Wytsand, and the jurors knew this, because some of them, then being at La Escluse, and not daring to cross from there to England for fear of the said enemies, went to Wytsand to have a safer passage there, and they were there when the said ship and another ship of Ipswich laden with divers goods and merchandise of the men of Ipswich were taken before the said town of Wytsand towards the town of St. Valéry; and the said merchant has besought the king by his petition before him and his council in parliament to provide him with a remedy towards the recovery of his ship, goods, victuals, and things; and because the sea passage is closed and prohibited, wherefore the merchant cannot sue for justice in this respect as is customary in such case, the king orders the sheriff to cause all the goods and merchandise of the said felons and malefactors and of other men and merchants of Cales and Normandy and elsewhere in the power of the king of France, which can be found in that bailiwick, to be arrested without delay, and to be detained until satisfaction has been done to the said merchant for 250 marks, and for the damages which he may be found to have reasonably incurred by the said plundering, or until further orders, and to inform the king without delay of the goods so arrested, their value, and to whom they belonged, and of all his action in the matter. Yet the king does not wish that the goods

The king has also sent a like order to the sheriff of Essex to arrest such goods and merchandise up to the remaining 100 marks.

To the same. A like order (with a like reservation) to arrest the goods and merchandise of certain felons and malefactors and of other men and merchants of the parts of Cales and Normandy, and other parts whence such felons were, which shall be found within that bailiwick, until satisfaction has been done to William Ryngild, Ed[mund] Petygard, Joan late the wife of Ed[mund] de Castelacre, Thomas Northen, Walter Casteleyn, and Humphrey de Ockele, merchants, of Ipswich, for 920*l.*, which said merchants have shown the king, and it has been found by inquisition, taken by Ralphe de Bockyng and Giles de Wachenham, that on Friday before St. Bartholomew last, certain malefactors of Cales and Normandy having the king of France's commission to annoy the English, attacked a ship of William Ryngild, called la Paternoster, of the price of 120*l.*, in the port of Erewell, before the town of Walton, co. Suffolk, in coming from La Escluse towards the said port, and they took and plundered the goods and chattels of William, Ed[mund], John, Thomas, Walter and Humphrey, to wit: 100 coloured cloths, 100 striped cloths, 20 tuns of woad, 60 barrels of ashes, 60 pieces of wax, iron and hats (capell), to the value of 900*l.* and more, which were in the said ship, and they carried them away to La Escluse, in Flanders, and thence to the town of St. Valéry, in Picardy, and there the goods and chattels were divided among them, and they delivered a moiety thereof to the attorney of the king of France, and that the jurors assert that they know the truth of the premises, because several of them were at Herewycz, in the said port, and saw the robbery done, and some of them were in Flanders and saw the said merchants of Ipswich buy the said goods and merchandise and place them in the ship, and they were at la Escluse when the said felons in their four ships arrived there with the ship, goods, and merchandise, and John Foveyle, then bailiff of la Escluse, arraigned these malefactors at the request of the said jurors, and the malefactors pleaded that they had acted by the commission of the king of France, which they showed to the bailiff, and which the bailiff read publicly, wherefore the bailiff, through fear of the king of France, let the malefactors go free, and they took the ship with the goods and merchandise to Wytsand, whither the merchants went to have a safer passage to England, and the merchants have besought the king by their petition before him and his council in parliament, to provide a remedy. The king has also ordered the sheriff of Essex to arrest such goods and merchandise to the sum of 100*l.* in his bailiwick.

To the taxers and collectors of the tenth and fifteenth in the East Riding, co. York. Order to cause the prior of Ellerton to be taxed in his goods and chattels in the grange and other lands of the prior of Ormesby, in Spaldyngton, and the fifteenth thereof to be assessed with the men tenants of the towns of Spaldyng, levying the portion of the fifteenth touching the prior of Ellerton of his goods and chattels as was wont to be done in the time of other fermors of the said grange and other lands, as the said men and tenants have shown the king, by their petition before him and his council in parliament, that whereas the fermors of the said grange and lands annexed to the church of the prior of Ormesby, paid the fifteenth of their goods and chattels in the grange and other lands in every taxation of a tenth and fifteenth, and paid their portion of such goods in such charges imposed upon the men of the town of Spaldyngton as on other towns of the realm, by the king or his progenitors before these times, with the men and tenants of that town; and although the prior of Ellerton is now fermor of the said grange and other lands, yet the taxers and collectors cause as great a sum of money to be exacted from that town as was levied in the last taxation, leaving out the prior of Ellerton; wherefore those men have besought the king to provide a remedy. March 10. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to distrain

Westminster. de Morf, son and heir of Henry de Morf, tenant in chief,, to have full seisin of all the lands of which Henry was seized at his death in that bailiwick, in his demesne as of fee, because John has proved his age before the escheator, and the king has taken his homage for all the said lands. he at his death held no lands in chief, but that he held lands of other

March 22. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause William Westminster. de Orlaston to have those terms which the king has granted to him the lands which belonged to Theobald de Gayton, tenant in chief of the late king, to wit, both his lands which came to him by hereditary right, through the death of his brother Philip, and others, and which were in the king's hands by reason of Theobald's death, and of the parparty touching Juliana, sister and co-heir of Theobald, to hold

March 18. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede men of his liberty who have not taken knighthood, according to the proclamation made thereupon, and to permit the bishop to have cognisance thereof, superseding the distraint which they made on the bishop and on the said men for that cause until Christmas next, so that in the meantime the bishop may prosecute that affair before the treasurer and barons as he ought, if they shall find upon hearing the bishop's plaint in this respect, and viewing his evidence and hearing his reasons that he ought to have the cognisance of this matter; as the bishop has shown the king by his petition before him and his council in parliament, that the treasurer and barons cause such a demand to be made upon him although he has had all reval rights in that liberty, and he and his predecessors have had cognisance thereof from time out of mind, and have received all the profits of such cognisances without the king intermeddling therewith, except in default of a bishop upon a default of justice in that liberty, wherefore the bishop has besought the king to provide a remedy. By pet. of C.

Westminster.

To William de Clynton, earl of Huntyngdon, Ralph Sauvage, Thomas de Aldon, John de Hampton, and William de Reycolvre, justices of oyer and terminer in co. Kent. Whereas Richard de Ivynghe, chaplain, master of the hospital of St. Thomas the Martyr, Estbrigg, Canterbury, is indicted before them at the king's suit of having taken and carried off by force and arms, a horse of Thomas Nicolas, of the price of 100*s.*, found at Westgate, and for that cause taken and imprisoned in Canterbury castle, the king orders the justices to release Richard from prison, having received a fine from him, if the said trespass does not touch a felony, and Richard is indicted before them at the king's suit, and not of another, and if Richard is willing to make such a fine with the king for what pertains to him in this respect.

To John de Shardelowe and Hugh de Croft, justices appointed to take assizes in co. Bedford. Order to proceed with all possible speed to take an assize between John de Bodenho, chaplain, and John de Derby and others, concerning a chapel built on the bridge of the town of Bedeford, and to cause full and speedy justice to be done to the parties, notwithstanding the allegation of William de Abberbury, to whom the king has given the said chapel by his letters patent, as lately at the suit of John de Bodenho, by his petition before the king and his council in parliament, showing that the mayor and bailiffs of Bedford had granted the custody of that chapel to him to hold for life, and that he was in peaceful seisin thereof until John de Derby and others amoved him from that custody, upon pretext of a collation of the king, of that chapel to John de Derby, and John de Bodenho arramed an assize of novel disseisin against John de Derby and others contained in the original writ, before John de Shardelowe, John de Cantebrigge and John Claver, late justices appointed to take assizes in that county, and had long prosecuted it, and the said justices had delayed to proceed to take that assize, because John de Derby alleged that he held the said chapel by the king's collation, which he exhibited before the said justices, and that he ought not to answer the said John de Bodenho without the king, wherefore the king ordered the justices to proceed with that assize with all possible speed, and to do full and speedy justice to the parties, notwithstanding the said allegation and collation; and now John de Bodenho has shown the king by his petition before him and his council in the present parliament, that although he often required the justices to proceed to take that assize, which remains before them, by virtue of the king's commission, to take all assizes, juries and certificates arramed before the king's justices in that county, according to the tenor of the king's order, yet the justices have hitherto delayed to take that assize, because William de Abberbury has exhibited the king's letters patent before them, whereupon John de Bodenho has besought the king to provide a remedy. April 8. To the sheriff of Wilts. Order to cause all the goods and merchandise of the men and merchants of the parts of France and Normandy and elsewhere of the lordship of the king of France, which he shall find in that bailiwick, to be arrested up to the sum of 73*l.*, in part satisfaction of 823*l.* for the ship and goods of Robert atte Grene, Nicholas le Coifster and John de Weston, merchants of the realm, by John de Sancta Agatha and several other malefactors of the Duchy of Normandy, France, and Scotland, and to keep the said goods and merchandise safely until the merchants have been satisfied for the said 823*l.*, with reasonable damages for the plunder, or until further orders, excepting the goods and merchandise of merchants of the lands of the king of France, who make continual stay in the realm and traffic there, and to inform the king of the goods which he arrests, their value and their owners, as the king ordered the sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk to cause all such goods and merchandise in his bailiwick to be arrested to the sum of 223*l.*, in part satisfaction of the said 823*l.*, excepting the goods of the said merchants [as in this Calendar, 10 Edward III. page 620]; and now the merchants have restored the king's writ to chancery under wax, and have besought him to order such goods and merchandise which shall be found within cos. Somerset and Dorset, to be arrested up to the sum of 223*l.*, in part satisfaction of the said 823*l.*, and to be safely kept as aforesaid. The king has ordered the sheriffs of London, Somerset and Dorset, and Southampton to arrest and keep safely such goods and merchandise found in their bailiwick up to the sum of 150*l.* By K. and C

the king's hands therefrom, and restoring the issues thereof, if the said manors were taken into the king's hands by reason of the voidance of the priory of Christchurch Twynham, as the king granted to William de Monte Acuto, now earl of Salisbury, and Katherine his wife the castle and manor of Christchurch Twynham, with the borough and hundred of Christchurch, co. Southampton, to hold for themselves and the heirs of their bodies, with all the appurtenances thereof, of the king and his heirs by the services by which they were held before they came into the king's hands, with reversion, in default of such issue, to the king and his heirs; and now the king has learned that the escheator, pretending that the custody of the said priory, which is of the appurtenances of the said castle and manor, and that of the temporalities of the priory ought to pertain to the king by reason of the present voidance by the death of Edmund, the last prior, has entered the said manors, receiving the issues and profits thereof, as if the custody ought to pertain to the king during a voidance, not permitting the sub-prior and convent to intermeddle therewith in any way, wherefore the king has been besought to provide a remedy.

Order to cause Agnes, late the wife of Ivo Vala, executrix of Ivo's will, to have full payment or a competent assignment for 4*l.* 8*s.*, in which the king was bound to Ivo, as fully appears by two bills, one under the seal of Thomas de Garton, and the other under the seal of Robert de Tanton, late keepers of the wardrobe, which Agnes has in her possession, as she says, as Agnes has besought the king, by her petition before him and his council in parliament, to order such payment to be made to her.

April 10. To Thomas de Foxle, constable of Wyndesore castle. Order to pay Windsor. to John Brocas, the king's yeoman, to whom on 6 November, in the 8th year of his reign, the king granted the bailiwick of chief forester of Wyndesore, for his good service, to hold for life, receiving the accustomed wages and fees, the arrears of such wages from the said 6 November, and to pay such wages henceforth as long as he is constable as has hitherto been done.

April 1. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter-Westminster. meddle further with the lands which belonged to Robert de Rochesford, restoring the issues thereof, because the king has learned by inquisition taken by the escheator, that Robert at his death held no lands in his demesne, as of fee in chief in that bailiwick, but that he held jointly with Isolda, daughter of William, son of Warin, now surviving, the manors of Rochesford and Berden, and 1,100 acres of marsh in Rochesford, with the advowson of Rochesford church, of the gift and grant of Thomas de Abyton, parson of Sutton church, and of Stephen de Rochesford, chaplain, by a fine levied in the king's court for the life of Robert and Isolda, with remainder to Thomas son of Robert and the male heirs of his body, and that the said tenements are held of the king as of the honour of Raleigh, now in the hand of Queen Philippa, by the service of three knights' fees and 6d. to hidage yearly, and suit of court of the barony of Rayleigh every month, and suit of the hundred of Rochesford every three weeks, for every service, and that Robert held lands of other lords by divers services.

April 1. To the prior and convent of Worcester. Order to have 360*l.* of the Westminster. money collected by the abbot and convent of Gloucester, of the tenth granted to the king by the clergy of the realm in the late congregation of the clergy of the province of Canterbury at Leicester, in the diocese of Worcester, which are in the prior's possession, and of the money received by the prior, at York on Palm Sunday next, without any further delay, to be delivered to Richard de la Pole, the king's butler, or to his attorney, for the expedition of the king's affairs, notwithstanding the imposition of a sexennial tenth on the clergy of the realm by the late pope, and his order to keep it for the passage to the Holy Land, knowing that if the king's affairs are delayed for lack of such payment, the king will punish him as disobedient and an obstructor of his affairs, as the king ordered S. bishop of Worcester to have 360*l.* of that tenth at York on the feast of St. Gregory the Pope, last to be delivered to Richard, notwithstanding the imposition and order of the late pope [as at page 17 above], and because the money collected from the said tenth is in the possession of the prior and of the abbot and convent of Gloucester, and not of the bishop, the king ordered the prior to have 180*l.*, and the abbot and convent to deliver 180*l.* of the said sum from the money of the tenth, at York, on Wednesday after Sunday in the middle of Lent, to be delivered to Richard or his attorney; and now the king has learned that the money collected by the abbot of Gloucester, who is deceased, and the convent, of the said tenth, is in the possession of the prior and convent in their church, and in deposit under their custody. April 28. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order to cause 1,758*l.* 4*s.* to be paid without delay to John Baronshele and John Junteyn and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Peruzzi, or a competent assignment to be made to them, so that they may not incur harm for lack of such payment, as the merchants, at the king's request, delivered 258*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* to John de Oxenford, for a like sum delivered by him to divers persons at the king's request; and 666*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* to Thomas de Bello Campo, earl of Warwick, upon his wages, and those of the men at arms staying in his company in Scotland in the king's service; and 40*l.* to Thomas, bishop of Hereford, in aid of his expenses upon his stay at London for the king's council; and 500*l.* to Henry de Bello Monte, earl of Boughan, for his wages in the war of Scotland; and 128*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.* to Giles de Badelesmere, upon such wages in the said war of Scotland, and replacing his horses lost therein; and 158*l.* 3*s.* to John Arundel, of Sandwich, for divers victuals taken from divers men upon the sea coast in co. April 20. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to pay to John de Windsor. Broghton the arrears of 10 marks yearly at the exchequer, which the late king on 1 April, in the 2nd year of his reign, granted to him for life for his good services, from the said 1 April, and to pay those 10 marks yearly henceforth during John's life, according to the tenor of the king's letters patent, as the present king has confirmed the late king's grant, and granted that in the payment of these 10 marks John should be preferred to others, who received fees there, notwithstanding any ordinance or statute to the contrary. April 8. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with a messuage and a carucate of land of Hugh Chaumpeneys, in Wykham, restoring the issues thereof to Hugh, as the escheator returned that he had taken the messuage and carucate into the king's hands, because he had found by inquisition of office that John Malemeyns, who held the messuage and land in chief, as of the honour of Dover, alienated them to Hugh without licence thereupon, and afterwards the king, learning from Hugh that the messuage and land are not held of him but of John de Erde, by the service of the fourth part of a knight's fee, ordered the escheator to take an inquisition on the matter, by which it is found that the messuage and land are not held of the king but of John, by the service of a fourth part of a knight's fee.

April 25. To John Moryn, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to inter-Windsor. meddle further with the manor of Million, co. Cumberland, amoving the king's hands therefrom, restoring the issues thereof, because the king has learned by inquisition, taken by the escheator, that Alice, late the wife of Richard de Hudleston, held no lands at her death in her demesne as of fee in chief, but that she held the said manor for life, and that the manor is held of the manor of Egremound—which was of the inheritance of John de Multon, of Egremound, tenant in chief, and which was lately in the king's hands, and in the custody of Queen Philippa by the king's commission, together with other lands, knights' fees, and advowsons, which belonged to John, because Alice, late John's wife, is pregnant—by the service of a knight's fee, and rendering 13*s.* 4*d.* yearly, at the Nativity of the Virgin, and that John son of Richard de Hudleston is his next heir of the said manor of Million, and of full age; and on 24 March last the king ordered the lands which belonged to John, and which are in his hands, to be delivered to Joan, late the wife of Robert son of Walter, Walter de Bermingeham, and Elizabeth his wife, and to Thomas de Lucy and Margaret his wife [as at page 26 above].

To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to pay to Alice, countess

26*s.* 8*d.* which the king granted to her on 20 May, in the 9th year of his reign, to be received weekly, beyond 20 marks, which the king caused to be delivered to her in part aid of her maintenance by the hands of the merchants of the society of the Bardi of Florence.

April 18. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause the Windsor. lands and rents which were granted by the king to Alan de Beverlay, to the prejudice of Richard son of Thomas Danvers, and William son of Thomas Danvers, together with the issues thereof received by Alan from the time of the king's grant, to be resumed into the king's hands and delivered to Master John de Hildesle, to be held as he held them before the said grant, so that he may answer to Richard and William for 10*l.* yearly therefrom, and they may be delivered to them according to the tenor of the king's order directed to them at another time, as on its being found by inquisitions that Roger de Mortuo Mari of Wyggemore granted to Richard on Saturday after the Purification, in the 14th year of the late king's reign, 100*s.* rent, to be received yearly by the hands of Roger's bailiff of Stratfeld Mortimer, for the time being, from Roger's land, rent and other possessions at Neubiry, co. Berks, to be held for Richard's life, or until Richard should be provided by Roger with an ecclesiastical benefice or prebend of the value of 20*l.* yearly at least, by reason of the gift of the manor of Woghfeld in that county, which Thomas Danvers, Richard's father, made by his deed to Roger and his heirs; and that Roger, by another deed, obliged himself on the same day to be bound to William in a rent of 100*s.*, to be received yearly for life from Roger and his heirs from the same lands by the hands of the said bailiff, until William should be provided by Roger with a marriage or other promotion of the value of 20*l.* yearly at least, by reason of the aforesaid gift; and that Roger was able to charge the said tenements in Neubiry on the day the deeds were drawn up with the said rent, and that Richard and William received the rents until the manors and other lands of Roger were taken into the late king's hands through Roger's forfeiture, to wit, on 24 March, in the 15th year of the reign, and that Richard was not promoted to a benefice nor William to a marriage, the late king ordered the then keeper of these lands to deliver to Richard and William the arrears of the said 10*l.* from the time when he had that custody and to pay that rent henceforth from the issues of the said manor [as in this Calendar, 18 Edward II, page 264], and afterwards, on its being found by other inquisitions that Roger on the same day, granted 100*s.* rent to Richard to be received yearly, and by another deed he obliged himself to William in the said 100*s.* to be received yearly for William's life from the said lands in Neubiry, by the hands of the said bailiff, or until William should be promoted by Roger as aforesaid, by reason of the said donation, the king ordered John, who then held the said lands in Neubiry by the king's commission for rendering a certain ferm yearly to the king to deliver the said yearly rent to Richard and William, until they should be promoted; and now the king has learned from Richard and William, that all the lands and profits which Roger had in Neubiry are demised at ferm to Master John for rendering 10*l.* yearly, and that they are prevented by Alan by reason of a grant which the king lately made to him of certain lands and rents in Neubiry, which are parcel of the lands charged to Richard and William in the said 10*l.* yearly, and which are extended at 75*s.*, from receiving the said 75*s.* yearly from the time of the grant to Alan, wherefore they have besought the king by their petition before him and his council in the last parliament at Westminster, to provide them with a suitable remedy. March 30. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter-Westminster. meddle further with a rent of 8*l.* in Moreby, Wylkesby and Conyngesby, restoring the issues thereof to Richard de Forthyngton, parson of Wodhalle church, and Roger de Stykeford, chaplain, as the escheator returned that he had not taken that rent into the king's hands, but that Gilbert de Ledred, late escheator in cos. Lincoln, Northampton, and Rutland, had delivered it to him by indenture, asserting that the rent was in the king's hands by reason of a trespass which Richard and Roger made in acquiring certain tenements in Moreby, Wylkesby, Conyngesby, and other towns in the soc of Horncastre, whence that rent issues, of Alexander de Cobeldyk, who held them in chief, without obtaining the king's licence; and the king afterwards learning from Richard and Roger that the rent is held of the bishop of Carlisle by certain services, and not of the king, ordered the escheator to take an inquisition on the matter, by which it is found that the said rent is held of the bishop as of his manor of Horncastre, by knight's service, and not of the king.

Request to pay the men from whom Geoffrey de Say, late admiral of the fleet of the Cinque Ports, and of the other ports from the mouth of the Thames towards the west, bought and took divers victuals for the maintenance of himself and of the other men about to set out in the king's service, or to John Arundel, the attorney of these men, the money due to them for those victuals, for which no satisfaction has yet been made to them, as Geoffrey has acknowledged in person in chancery, as the king ordered the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and the chamberlains to cause each of the said men to be paid the sum due to him for the victuals bought from him, or John Arundel, of Sandwich, who prosecutes for payment of that money for the said men for their use, or to cause a

To John de Wodehous, keeper of the hanaper of chancery. Order to pay 100s. to Michael de Wath, the king's clerk, keeper of the chancery rolls, which the king has granted to him for his expenses and those of divers clerks, writing divers extracts of donations and grants made by the king, in the company of Michael by the king's order, and of certain men and their horses sent by the king's order from the city of London to the city of York, to take divers rolls of chancery, which were there, to the city of London.

To Master John de Hildesle. Order to deliver to Richard son of Thomas Danvers, and to William son of Thomas Danvers, what he shall find to be in arrears to them of 10*l.* yearly rent from the lands which are in his custody by the king's commission, for rendering a certain ferm yearly at the exchequer, and from those which shall chance to come into his hands, and to pay those 10*l.* yearly from the lands and rents in Neubiry, which belonged to Roger de Mortuo Mari, of Wigemore, which were charged with the said rent, after satisfaction of the said arrears, as the king ordered William Trussel, escheator beyond Trent, to cause the lands granted by the king to Alan de Beverlay, to the prejudice of Richard and William, together with the issues received by Alan from the time of the said grant, to be resumed into the king's hands and delivered to John, to hold as he held them before that grant, so that he should be able to answer to Richard and William for the said 10*l.* [as at page 58 above]; and now the king has learned from Richard and William that although the said land and rent granted to Alan have been resumed into the king's hands, and delivered to John by the escheator, by virtue of the king's order, yet because he has found no issues in those lands and rents, and has not delivered to John any of them, John is not able to pay the arrears of the said 10*l.* yearly to Richard and William, whereupon they have besought the king to cause the said arrears to be paid to them.

To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause the manors of Holkham and Styvekeye, co. Norfolk, to be resumed into the king's hands, together with the issues thereof received from 10 April last, and to be delivered to Walter de Mauny, to hold according to the power of the grant and demise made to him, saving to Katherine, late the wife of David de Strabolgy, earl of Athol, tenant in chief, her reasonable dower from those manors; although on 10 April last the king assigned the said manors, extended at 21*l.* 2*s.* 4*d.* yearly, of the manors of Possewyk, Westlexham, Styvekeye, and Holkham, co. Norfolk, which belonged to the earl, to Katherine to hold in dower, so that she should pay to the king yearly during the minority of the earl's heir, and to the heir when he shall be of full age, 5*s.* 6*d.*, being the excess of the whole of her dower assigned to her from all the lands which belonged to the earl, yet because the earl, long before his death, granted and demised the manor of Holkham to Gilbert Burgeys, of Tychewell, Henry Burgeys, of Tychewell, and William de Waterdene, for life, and the manor of Styvekeye to William de Calthorp, knight, and William, parson of St. John's church, Styvekeye, to hold for life, render-to Paul of that sum of the tenth and fifteenth granted to the king by the laity in the last great council at Notyngham, and of the tenth granted by the clergy of the province of Canterbury in their congregation at Leicester, ordered the treasurer and chamberlains to pay to Paul 5,000*l.* of the issues of the said tenth and fifteenth in the following places and dioceses for the term of the Purification last, to wit: 330*l.* in the parts of Holand, co. Lincoln, 420*l.* in co. Warwick, 370*l.* in co. Leicester, 350*l.* in co. Nottingham, 506*l.* in co. Cambridge, 235*l.* in co. The king has also ordered the prior of St. Katherine without Lincoln, to deliver 1,000*l.*, the abbot of Osneye 800*l.*, and the prior of Daventry 247*l.* in the diocese of Lincoln; the dean and chapter of Exeter to deliver 245*l.* in the diocese of Exeter, the prior of Hereford to deliver 275*l.* in the diocese of Hereford, and the prior of Durham to deliver 110*l.* in the diocese of Durham, of the tenth granted by the clergy, collected at London, before the Ascension next, and as much of the second term of the payment of the same before St. Peter ad Vincula following, to Paul or his said attorneys, in full payment of the said 10,000*l.*, notwithstanding any order of the king to take to the exchequer the said money so assigned to Paul. The king further orders the treasurer and chamberlains to cause tallies of the sums to be paid to Paul by the said collectors for both terms, to be levied under the names of the collectors of the tenth and fifteenth, as they shall see fit and [delivered] to Paul or his attorneys in discharge of the collectors, and to cause the money of the tenth granted by the clergy, which was assigned to Paul, of the said first term received at the said receipt, to be delivered to Paul or his attorneys; and the king does not wish the payment of the said 10,000*l.* to be in any way retarded because the treasurer and barons have not yet ascertained to what uses the money will be turned, or who ought to be charged therewith; and when Paul has been satisfied for the said 10,000*l.*, they shall receive from him the king's letters obligatory, and such other evidences as he has in this respect.

The king does not, however, wish the account of the abbot for the money received by him of the tenth granted by the clergy for the time when he was collector of the same, to be put off beyond the day appointed by the king.

Henry Mount and the sheriff of Cambridge from 2 November, in the 9th year of the king's reign, of the extent of the lands which belonged to Henry in that bailiwick, which extent was sent to the exchequer in the extracts of the justices of the Bench, as Nicholas Tony lately impleaded Henry before the said justices that he should render a reasonable account for the time when he was receiver of Nicholas's moneys, and Henry was placed in exigent to be outlawed in co. Norfolk, because he did not come before the justices to answer Nicholas according to the law and custom of the realm, and he was afterwards outlawed for that cause; and on the said 2 November the king pardoned Henry the said outlawry, and ordered the said sheriff to deliver to him all his lands which he had caused to be extended by the sheriff and taken into the king's hands.

York. pay all the money arising from that custom to Dinus Forcetti and Peter Byne and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Bardi, in part payment of that money which they daily administer for the expenses of the household, according to the assignment thereof made to them by the king, and the king's order directed to the collectors thereupon at another time.

To Ralph de Middelneye, escheator in cos. Somerset, Dorset, Devon, and Cornwall. Order to cause reasonable dower to be assigned to Joan, late the wife of John de Basinges, from his lands in Westchelberghe, co. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order to discharge and acquit Arnald de Tilio, parson of Elyngton church, diocese of Lincoln, and others whom his account touches of 200*l.*, notwithstanding the king's order, as the king lately caused 200*l.* to be delivered to Arnald as a prest for certain expenses in doing things enjoined upon him by the king, and he expended that sum upon the said secret affairs, and because the king did not wish Arnald or any other to be charged with those 200*l.*, while information of the expenses was being awaited, he ordered the treasurer, barons and chamberlains to cause the demand made upon Arnald for 200*l.* to be superseded, and to discharge him and others concerned thereof; and Arnald has informed the king that the treasurer, barons and chamberlains have hitherto delayed to make a discharge in this respect, because the king's order contains that the said 200*l.* were exacted from Arnald for the king's use. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge and acquit the sheriff of Southampton of the issues which belonged to William le Rode, and which were taken into the king's hand by reason of the debts which William, at his death, owed to him, in his account at the exchequer, if they shall ascertain that the following things are true, as the king on 7 February, in the 7th year of his reign, granted the said lands to Hugh de Sancto Johanne, to hold as long as those lands should remain in the king's hands for the said cause, without rendering anything thereof to the king, in recompence of certain debts in which the king was then bound to Hugh; and afterwards, at the suit of John le Duyn and Eleanor his wife, and of John, son and heir of William, and Alice his wife, showing the king that although Hugh had granted those lands to them long before his death, by indenture, and demised them at ferm, to hold for the time that the lands should remain in Hugh's hands, rendering to Hugh 100*s.* at terms contained in the deed, and John, Eleanor, John and Alice were seised of these lands from the time of this grant and demise, and continued in seisin thereof during Hugh's life, yet the said sheriff took those lands into the king's hands by reason of a writ of privy seal, directing him to do so, and to keep them safely, because Hugh was dead, so that he should answer to the king for the issues thereof, as he has certified to the king in chancery, and they beseeching the king to cause those lands, together with the issues thereof, to be restored to them, on 10 July last the king ordered the sheriff to view the said deed, and if he should find that Hugh had

Order to cause 12*l.* 4*s.* 1*d.* to be allowed to William de Langeford, keeper of the New Temple, London, in his yearly ferm, from the time of the livery of certain houses and other places dedicated to God, to the prior of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in England, and to cause both William and the prior to be discharged and acquitted thereof, provided that William shall answer to the king yearly, as he ought, for the remainder of that ferm, as lately, at the prior's suit, by his petition before the king and his council in parliament, showing that Hugh le Despenser, the younger, had taken possession by force of the prior's manor of the New Temple, and had occupied the cemetery and enclosure of the prior there, and other consecrated places annexed to that church, where many bodies of founders of the church and of brethren of that Temple were buried, and so detained them against justice, ecclesiastical liberty and canonical sanctions; which said manor, cemetery, enclosure and other places came into the king's hands after Hugh's forfeiture, and the cemetery, enclosure and consecrated places are detained from the prior, who has besought the king to cause his hand to be amoved therefrom, the king ordered Reginald de Conductu, mayor of London and escheator there, to take with him the sheriffs of London and four lawful men of that city to the said Temple, cemetery, enclosure and other places, and inspect them and to enquire by the oath of lawful men of the neighbourhood of the Temple, &c. in the presence of the keeper of the Temple, upon the premises, and if he found that they had been annexed as aforesaid and unjustly occupied by Hugh, and to have come into the king's hands as aforesaid, then to cause them to be reunited to that church by certain bounds, and delivered to the prior, to be held as the prior and his predecessors and the Templars and their predecessors had held them before the said occupation; and the mayor and escheator certified to the king in chancery that he, having taken with him Walter de Morden and Ralph de Upton, sheriffs of London, and John de Oxon[ia], Richard de Lacer, and Richard de Berkyng, aldermen of that city, and Thomas de Maryns, chamberlain of the Guildhall (guithalde) of that city, and going to the Temple, found by the oath of lawful men of the neighbourhood and city, in the presence of the sheriffs, aldermen, chamberlain, and William de Langeford, keeper of the Temple, that the chapel of St. Thomas, at the door of the hall of the Temple, with a plot of land there, as a wall of earth, extends to the old gate of the Temple towards the highway, and likewise the enclosure, as a stone wall, which begins at the chamber called 'the chamber of the bishop of Ely,' extending towards the east, and afterwards that wall extending towards the north to the highway, are places consecrated and dedicated to God, annexed to the prior's church, and that one Roger Blom, sometime apparitor (nuncius) of that

To J. archbishop of Canterbury. Order to go in person to the chief messuage of the lands which belonged to Reginald de Rokesle, tenant in chief, of Creye, and to deliver that and the other lands which belonged to Reginald, together with the issues received by Isabella de Rokesle, to Augustine le Waleys, and if he find any one resisting him in the livery thereof, to cause him to be taken and kept in prison until further orders, taking the posse comitatus for this if necessary, and informing the king of the names of the persons so arrested, although the king lately committed to Isabella the custody of the lands which belonged to Reginald de Rokesle, and which were in the king's hands by reason of the minority of Richard, son of William de Rokesle, Reginald's kinsman and heir, to hold until the heir should come of age, rendering 10*l.* thereof yearly at the exchequer, at which the lands were extended by William Trussel, escheator this side Trent, yet because the king had previously granted to Augustine the custody of these lands for rendering the extent thereof yearly at the exchequer, and wishing him to have it, he revoked the commission to Isabella, and granted the custody to Augustine to hold until the heir should come of age, rendering the said 10*l.* yearly, and the king ordered the escheator to deliver all the said lands to Augustine, or to show cause why he should not obey the king's order; and the escheator has shown the king that he had gone to the said chief messuage and found there Isabella de Rokesle, Robert Ladde of Eynesford, John de Dorkynge, John le Brewere of Otteford, Robert le Mareschal of Otteford, Robert, parish chaplain of Otteford, John son of Gregory de Rokesle, William Sweyneslond, John atte Water, of Otteford, Robert Monelight, John le Heyward, of Lullyngeston, John Wither, John Launce, Geoffrey le Millere, Henry Brounsweyn, William atte Castel of Lullyngeston, and Simon le Porter, with several other persons unknown, who resisted him by armed force there, so that he could not deliver the messuage and lands to Augustine.

York, Northumberland, Cumberland, and Westmorland, and by Simon, that William de la Twyer, at his death held no lands in chief as of the crown in that liberty, but that he held certain tenements in Wynestede, in Holdernesse, and two tofts in Frothyngnam, and a yearly rent of 2*s.* issuing from free tenements in Paghelfete, in that liberty, of the king as of the honour of Albemarle, by the service of 20*s.* 1*d.* yearly, and that William de la Twier, his son, was his next heir and aged sixteen years, the king took William's fealty for the lands held of the said honour, and ordered Simon to cause him to have seisin thereof, having taken security from him for rendering his reasonable relief to the king; and now by an inquisition taken by Simon, it is found that Alice held no lands at her death in chief as of the crown, but that she held in dower divers lands of the inheritance of William son of William, as of the said honour, by fealty and service of 3*s.* yearly, and divers lands of other lords.

By C.

To the sheriff of Kaernarvan. Order to bring personally all sums of money due to the king in that bailiwick, to the exchequer of Kaernarvan, to be paid in the presence of the controller there, because the king has learned that divers sums of money which ought so to be paid, are irregularly collected by him and his ministers, so that the controller cannot charge the sheriff therewith, whereby the king and his subjects in that bailiwick have incurred many evils and expenses, the king, because answer is not made to him for the said sums more often, the subjects because they were not acquitted thereof. Whereas the king has ordained with the assent of the prelates, earls, barons, and others of the council, for the defence of the realm, that 30,000 sacks of wool brought to the realm by William de la Pole, of Kyngeston-upon-Hull, Reginald de Conductu, and other merchants of the realm, whom the king caused to be convoked at Westminster on the morrow of St. James the Apostle last, shall be taken and bought for a certain price agreed upon by the king and his council and the merchants, and shall be transmitted to parts beyond the seas, as is fully contained in an indenture made with the merchants, and that 10,000 sacks of the wool are loaded and taken away in the port of London, and the residue in certain other ports, and that 20s. are received from each sack of 3,500 of those taken out of the realm from the port of London; the king therefore orders the collectors to receive the said 20s. a sack for the king's use in the passage thereof from that port, and 40s. for each last of hides, and 20s. for every 300 wool fells, beyond the custom due by denizens, according to the form of the grant made by the merchants of the realm at Nottingham, in subvention of the expenses for the defence of the realm, and 20s. on every miliare of tin, 6s. 8d. for each load of lead, which hides and wool fells by denizen merchants, and tin and lead by alien and denizen merchants, the king granted, by the advice of William and Reginald, to be taken out of the realm by sufficient security, and the king wishes to cause 20s. for the tin and 6s. 8d. for the lead to be received in the meantime, and paid to those from whom they were received, at certain days, and to permit William and Reginald and the other merchants to take the said 10,000 sacks, hides, and fells and tin and lead to parts beyond, from that port, and to cause the seal called 'coket,' which was lately shut up under locks and seals by them, to be opened without delay, one part to be delivered to William and Reginald, or their attorney, and the seal to be kept for the collection of the new custom under the seals of William and Reginald, or their attorneys, notwithstanding any inhibitions or orders not to take wool and merchandise out of the realm, or to keep the said seals shut up, and to pay all the money from the said wool, hides and wool fells, to William and Reginald, from time to time, or to their attorneys, by indentures, in part satisfaction of a great sum of money which they and other merchants have undertaken to pay for the king. as the king ordered John de Harnham to deliver that rent to them and to pay it yearly thenceforth [as in this Calendar, 6 Edward III, page nation, and who have not wherewith to live of their own, unless they receive help from Christians, who also make no apportum on account

he has stayed thirty years and more at Wendovore and elsewhere in the Order to supersede the exigents and outlawry against Robert Martyn, of Jevilton, Walter de Spekyngton, and Robert Rely by a mainprise, as they are indicted before William de Shareshull and his fellows, justices of oyer and terminer in that county, because they had snatched John de Croucheston, a prisoner, by force from the custody of Thomas Gerberd, who took him by the king's order, and for other felonies committed in that county, and because they did not come before the justices to answer for the premises, they are placed in exigent in that county to be outlawed; and because it is testified before the king that the indictment is notoriously made by malice, he ordered William to send the indictment to him three weeks from Easter, so that justice might be done, and Robert, Walter, and Roger have found mainpernors before the king in chancery, to wit: Philip Crouk, John de Sancto Nicholao of co. Southampton, John de Rymton, of co. Wilts, Robert de Brideport, of co. Dorset, Henry atte Hoke, of co. Somerset, and William de Thorp, of co. June 3. To William de Sharesull and his fellows, appointed to take assizes in Stamford. co. Stafford. Order to continue the assize of novel disseisin, which James de Stafford, knight, arramed before them against John, son of William de Stafford, knight, now in Scotland in the king's service in war, and others, contained in the original writ, concerning tenements in Bromshulf, Legh, Fossebrok, and Dulverne, by the king's special favour, while John is staying in the said service, or until ordered otherwise, according to the ordinance made at Notingham, though it is not the king's intention that those who make such disseisins and straightway journey to Scotland in order to put off complaints and suits against them, shall profit by the said ordinance, as the king wishes to provide for the indemnity of the lieges serving with him in the war of Scotland from being disquieted more in their absence than when present, and defrauded in their absence, especially as lieges have departed from the king in Scotland for that cause, and have returned home to defend their rights, and the king assembled the earls, barons, and chief men of the realm and others of the council at Notingham, where it was ordained that assizes of novel disseisin against lieges in the said service should be continued from day to day while they were in that service, so that they might stay therein without any prejudice. By K. and C.

MEMBRANE 9d.

June 12. To Gerard de Spinula, marshal of the king of Sicily (Cesil). The Berwick-on-Tweed. king has inspected his letters directed to Nicholas Usus Maris, constable of Bordeaux, and because he has learned thereby, and by the relation of Anthony Bachem that Gerard is labouring for the completion of the matter expounded to him by Oliver de Ingham, seneschal of the duchy [of Aquitaine] and the said constable, for which the king thanks him, asking him to continue his benevolence, and further the said matter according to the desire of the seneschal and constable; the king assures him that he will have consideration for his efforts in this affair, so that he shall be content, and that with regard to the arrangement made by Master Paul de Monte Florum, his clerk, with certain adversaries and rebels of Gerard, this was done without the king's knowledge and much to his annoyance, chiefly because Paul was not charged with that affair by him. By K.

June 14. To Roger Lestraunge, knight, steward of Richard, earl of Arundel, or Berwick-on-Tweed. to him who supplies the earl's place. The king has learned that by reason of certain excesses and trespasses committed by Roger and others of those parts whom he maintains, as is said, he lately caused divers men at arms and other armed men to be assembled, both English and Welsh, and presumed to invade, with a great multitude, in a warlike manner, the borders of the land and lordship of John de Cherleton of Powys, while he was at Staunford by the king's order to treat upon the affairs of the realm, with other magnates and others of the council assembled there, and the king was in Scotland, bridling the Scots who were and are besieging his castles and fortalices there, and Roger perpetrated divers evils and crimes there in the land of Powys, demanding hostages from John's wife and his other friends, and retaining them until his inordinate desire was gratified, to the injury of the king's peace, chiefly because the Welsh, from lightness of head, may rise in war, and because Roger, by reason of his office, ought not to violate the peace, but to maintain it with all their power; the king therefore orders him, under pain of forfeiture, to withdraw from such deeds without delay, and not to do any harm to John or others under any pretext, under pain of forfeiture, or to do anything against the peace, knowing that if anything is attempted injuriously between him and John, the king will cause speedy justice to be done both to him and to John and others in suits concerning trespasses and excesses, if any are done, according to the law and custom of these parts, when he returns from Scotland, unless the said discords are appeased beforehand. The king has made a like prohibition to John not to attempt or do anything against Roger or his people. By K. and C.

France, as the king appointed Ralph to take all the lands, goods and chattels of Frenchmen in co. Norfolk, and deliver them to the sheriff of the county to be kept, and the prior has besought the king to order the priory, etc. to be restored to him, as he is not a native of the said

Salop, by the grant of Joan, late the wife of Richard de Cornub[ia], by a fine levied in the late king's court by his licence, for themselves and the heirs of their bodies, with remainder to the right heirs of Geoffrey, and William de Evereys had no other estate there except as Margaret's husband, and Margaret beseeching the king to cause his hand to be amoved from the manors, he ordered the escheator to take an inquisition upon the premises, by which it is found that Geoffrey and Margaret held the manors jointly of Joan's grant as aforesaid, and that the

Aug. 12. To the sheriff of Southampton. Order to go to the prior of St.
The Tower. Swithun's, Winchester, and the abbot of Waverle, and exact the money which they owe, delivering it to Richard de la Pole, the king's butler, and if they refuse to pay that sum immediately then to cause it to be levied without delay of their goods and chattels, so that the sheriff shall have the money at London on the Beheading of St. John the Baptist next, to be delivered to Richard, and to make known to the prior and abbot that they shall be in person before the king and his council on the said day to answer for their contempt and to do and receive what shall then be determined, and if the sheriff is remiss in the execution of the order the king will cause him to be amoved from his office and punished; as the king lately ordered the prior and abbot to have all the money collected by them of the tenth granted by the clergy of the province of Canterbury, in their congregation at Leicester, and which was to be collected for the term of Midsummer last, at Westminster on Monday after St. Margaret last, to be delivered to Master William la Zousch, dean of St. Peter's, York, the treasurer, or to John Charnels supplying his place; and afterwards the king, considering the services of Richard de la Pole, and wishing the assignments made to him upon that tenth to remain in force, ordered the prior and abbot to pay to Richard the arrears of the said assignments, notwithstanding the previous order, and to have the remaining money at London to be delivered as afore-said; and the prior and abbot have not paid certain sums of that tenth, to wit 410*l.*, due to the king and Richard, detaining these sums in their possession and refusing altogether to pay them to Richard, and because Richard has promised to pay that money to the king for the defence of the realm, the king wishes it to be quickly levied and delivered to him.  The Tower. to Peter de Cusancia, parson of Northreppes church, or his attorney, the said church and his goods and chattels, together with the issues, and not to intermeddle further therewith, as Peter has besought the king to order this to be done, as the church and goods and chattels were taken into the king's hand by Ralph by reason of the king's commission to him so to take all the possessions of the men of the power of the king of France in co. Norfolk, although Peter is not a native of that power, as is said, and although the king can extend his hand to the said possessions, he wishes to show favour to Peter for the good service of William de Cusancia, his brother, the king's clerk, to John earl of Cornwall, the king's brother. Westminster. To Robert de Wardecop, the king's clerk. Order to restore to the prior of Bromholm the said priory and its lands, benefices, goods and chattels, with the issues, without delay, by a certain security, as the late king—at the suit of the prior and convent there, showing that Edward I (in time of war with the king of France, when the prior and convent showed him that they were English, and paid no tax to any one of the power of the king of France, and had free election of their prior, and were not bound to obedience to any one of that power except to receive the abbot of Cluny when he came to England) had ordered inquisition to be taken on the matter, and after the inquisition was taken by the sheriff of Suffolk, he caused their priory to be restored to them, and Geoffrey With and Henry de Hale, whom the late king appointed to take such possessions of aliens into his hands, had unjustly detained them, and the king ordered the treasurer and barons of the exchequer to view the inquisition and rolls and memoranda made thereupon, and to cause such remedy to be given to the prior and convent as was just, or to show cause why they should not obey the order, and they returned the transcripts of the aforesaid inquisition, and of two writs issued by the order of Edward I, containing that the prior and convent were English as aforesaid, and owed no foreign service, and Edward I had ordered the treasurer and barons to cause the priory to be restored to the prior and convent, and the treasurer and barons returned to the late king that Edward I had ordered the priory to be restored as of favour, and that it seemed to them that without an order of the king making express mention of restoring the priory, as was done in the orders of Edward I, they could not carry out the king's orders—ordered the treasurer and barons to cause the priory to be restored to the prior and convent as had been done in the time of Edward I; and now the present prior has besought the king to order his hand to be amoved from the priory, its lands, goods and chattels, as the priory has been so taken because of his commission to Robert to take the possessions of aliens; and Robert de Ufford, earl of Suffolk, has undertaken to answer before the king and his council for what ought to pertain to him of the priory and its lands, if it be found that they are to be taken into the king's hands by virtue of the order, to take possessions of aliens, or that answer was made to Edward II or Edward I for like reasons. and of the lands, forests and chaces there, to hold during pleasure, rendering yearly at the exchequer as much as others have rendered for the same, and receiving the accustomed wages and fees, and the king had ordered the treasurer and barons to inspect their rolls and memoranda, and if they found that some did not have that custody before the said grant, who answered to the king for anything, then to charge Hugh with the extent of the castles, etc. by account to be made with him, allowing him so much as had been allowed to other keepers for wages and fees, and although they afterwards caused the castles, etc. to be extended and charged Hugh with that extent, yet they have delayed to make allowance to him for his wages and fees, because they have not found that any have had that custody before who answered to the king for anything, and that wages or fees were allowed to any, and Hugh beseeching the king to provide a remedy, the king ordered Gilbert Talebot, justice of South Wales, or him who supplies his place, to take an inquisition on the premises, by which it is found that the steward of Blainleveny is wont to receive 10*l.* yearly and a robe, hay and forage as often as he comes, the constable of Bulkendinas 4½*d.* daily and a robe yearly, the constable of Blainleveny 4½*d.* daily and a robe yearly, the gatekeeper of Blainleveny 2*d.* daily and a robe yearly, the gatekeeper of Bulkendinas 2*d.* daily and a robe yearly, two foresters 1½*d.* daily each, and the hayward of Blainleveny and of Llyn Safaddu (mara) 2*d.* daily, the bedel of a knight 6*s.* 8*d.* yearly, and 2*d.* at each court, the Welsh reeve, 2*d.* at each court, the Welsh bedel 2*d.* at each court, and the chief forester 2*d.* at each court and four serjeants 1*d.* daily each at each court: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to allow to Hugh for himself and his ministers retained for the said custody, such sums for the time when he had the said custody by the king's commission, in his account at the exchequer. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause the priory of Goldeclyve to be extended by the oath of lawful men of that bailiwick, and all the lands belonging thereto, with the names of those who hold the lands, as the prior of Goldeclyve has besought the king to show favour to him, as at the time when the possessions of those of the power of the king of France were taken into the late king's hands, the custody of the priory and of the manors of Coudray, in the march of Wales, Membury, co. Devon, and Preston and Selvre, co. Somerset, pertaining to that priory, was committed by the late king to the then prior for rendering 100 marks yearly, at which the priory and manors were extended, and William Martel, who made himself prior by false and forged bills, after the prior and manors had been taken into the late king's hands, granted the manors of Membury, Preston and Selvre, extended at 50*l.* yearly, to John Inge, to hold for life, and the manors of Goldeclyve and Coudray alone remain to the priory, which do not exceed an extent of 20*l.* at most, wherefore the present prior cannot answer for 100 marks for the custody of the priory, and the king wishes to be informed concerning the true value of the priory and the manors and lands pertaining thereto. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas at the suit of Adam de Lymbergh, the late king's constable of Bordeaux, showing at his suit both by writs of chancery and of the exchequer, to Master John Guytard, then his controller in the duchy [of Aquitaine], deceased, and to the executors of his will afterwards, it had been demanded that they should cause that control to come to the exchequer, and they had never executed that order, and Adam had been so occupied with pacifying the war of the king of France in that duchy, that he could not fully levy the issues of the duchy, and he could not cause Master Gerard de Sancto Sereno, then treasurer of Pergork, and Master William Raymond of Abinion, then treasurer of Agen, and other ministers and receivers appointed by him and the late king, to come to account with him for the issues of their bailiwicks; and because they adhered to the king of France in taking certain castles, towns and lands occupied by him upon the late king, and stayed in his power from that time, and have fully answered to the said king for those issues, by compulsion, as may fully appear by a certificate of the seneschal of Gascony and constable of Bordeaux, sent to the exchequer by the king's order, the king ordered the treasurer and barons to audit the account of Adam for the issues of the duchy, and to command the seneschal of Gascony, by writ of the exchequer, to cause the executors to come to the exchequer on a certain day with the control, or to send it there, and to audit the account in the meantime, and if the control was sent, then to recite what was begun of that account, according to the oath and assertion of Adam, charging the ministers and receivers of those parts who have not accounted with Adam for the issues of their bailiwicks and could not be judged to do so, in Adam's discharge, so that he should be charged with what he received by the hands of the receivers, and after the auditing and final rendering of the account, they should command the executors to come with that control and rectify the account thereby, and cause justice to be done; and now Adam has besought the king to order to proceed to the issue of his account, as he fears that it may easily be delayed, both because the control cannot be sent to the exchequer on account of the war with the king of France in Gascony, as the executors have adhered to that king, although it has been demanded of the seneschal, and because some of the rolls, tallies, letters and other memoranda touching his account have been lost in the transit from the duchy and by the carriage from London to York and back again, Adam being then in the king's service in Ireland, and the seals of certain of the said letters and memoranda are broken; and the king, considering the state which Adam kept for the king and his father in the duchy, and for the king in Ireland, and his proved fidelity and untiring labours, at great expense, orders the treasurer and barons to audit the account according to the tenor of the other order, and rectify it with the control if it is sent on the said day, and if not then to proceed to the final discussion of the account according to Adam's oath and affirmation, not awaiting the control, and notwithstanding the said loss and breaking.

Order to cause the common signs by fire upon the hills and elsewhere in that county to be made without delay, and diligently guarded by four, five or six men at arms or armed men, so that the men of those parts may be warned in time of a hostile attack, and not to compel or distrain the men of religion and others of those parts to find any men at arms or armed men at Portsmouth, Southampton or elsewhere staying in that county, or to contribute to the expenses of the same, beyond what is necessary for the custody of the aforesaid signals; because the king has learned that Bartholomew and his fellows distrain men of religion and others for such causes, wherefore this cannot sustain such burdens, upon which they have besought the king to provide a remedy. The king wishes, however, all men, both servants of men of religion and others, men at arms and armed and able-bodied men to be compelled to repel enemies if they invade the realm. By C.

Sept. 26. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to distrain Westminster. Sept. 18. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter-Woodstock. meddle further with the lands of Thomas de Lacy in Holkham, co. Norfolk, restoring the issues thereof to Thomas, as the escheator returned that he had taken those tenements into the king's hands, because John Dakeny, who held them in chief, alienated them to Thomas without the king's licence, and afterwards at the suit of Thomas, showing that the said lands are not held in chief, and that neither John, his ancestors nor any other tenants had held them of the king, the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisition upon the premises, by which it is found that Thomas does not hold any lands in chief in Holkham, but that he holds a messuage, a wind mill, 2 acres of land and 60*s.* rent there, and the market there every Monday, of the heir of Robert de Tony by the service of the 20th part of a knight's fee, and of rendering 2½*d.* thereof yearly to the hundred of Northgreneho by the hands of the bailiff of the same for 'warepound,' and that Thomas and his ancestors have held these tenements of the heir's ancestors, and of no other, from time out of mind.

Surrey, Sussex, Kent and Middlesex, that Thomas Tracy held no lands in chief at his death, the king ordered that escheator not to intermeddle further with the lands which belonged to Thomas, restoring the issues thereof, and Thomas de Bourn has besought the king to provide him with a remedy, as Paulina de Gras, of whom Thomas Tracy held certain lands in Stanford Ryvers, as is found by the aforesaid inquisition, had entered these lands immediately after the king's hand was amoved therefrom, and had demised the custody thereof to Thomas de Bourn, to hold until the heir of Thomas Tracy should come of age; and although Thomas de Bourn is aggrieved and disquieted by certain of the king's ministers, pretending that the custody of these lands ought to pertain to the king by reason of certain other lands which Thomas Tracy held in chief, and has found mainpernors in chancery, to answer to the king for the issues of the lands in Stanford Ryvers, if they pertain to him, it was agreed by the council in chancery that he should hold these lands in peace by the said mainprise, until further orders, by the advice of the council, and Thomas is amoved from the custody of these lands by pretext of a commission of the king to Mabel of the custody thereof; which lands were said to be in the king's hands by reason of the minority of the heir of Thomas Tracy, to hold until the heir should come of age, and of an order to the escheator to deliver to Matilda those lands and the issues received from 21 April, Thomas de Bourn not being called; and the king has consideration of the mainprise which provides for his indemnity.

Oct. 18. To Geoffrey le Scrop and his fellows, justices appointed to hold pleas Westminster. before the king. Whereas at the suit of the abbot and convent of Stanleze by their petition before the king and his council in parliament, at Westminster, in the 4th year of the king's reign, showing that their predecessors had been seised of the manor of Berewyk Basset, co. Wilts, by enfeoffment of Philip Basset, as of the right of their church, until Hugh le Despenser, the elder, afterwards unjustly disseised them thereof, and the manor was taken into the late king's hands by Hugh's forfeiture; and the present abbot and convent have diligently sued by their petitions before the king and his council in his various parliaments for justice, and to have the manor again, the king sent the petition, with an inquisition, writs, and other memoranda touching that affair, to the justices enclosed in a certain writ, ordering them to inspect these, calling before them the king's serjeants, and hearing the reasons on both sides, and to do justice, but not to proceed to render judgment without consulting the king; and although afterwards, according to the process held before them by an inquisition which they caused to be made, and in which the abbot and convent placed themselves, it was found that Philip was seised of that manor in his demesne as of fee as of his inheritance, in the time of Henry III, and had enfeoffed Walter de Pokelechirch, a former abbot thereof by his charter, to hold in frankalmoin, and abbot Walter and the convent were seised thereof from the Annunciation in the last year of the reign of Henry III, until St. Andrew following, and that Hugh, asserting that he was Philip's next heir, disseised Walter of the manor, with Roger Bigot, earl of Norfolk and marshal of England, and Hugh continued his seisin until he forfeited, and the present abbot and his predecessors have not released their rights to Hugh, and it is certified to the justices by the treasurer and barons of the exchequer that they have not found any such release made to Hugh or the late king, upon inspection of the deeds, muniments, and memoranda of Hugh and the late king, which are in their custody in the treasury, as is clear by the tenor and process of that affair which the king caused to come before him in chancery, yet the justices have hitherto delayed to proceed further in that affair, wherefore the abbot and convent have besought the king by their petition before him and his council in the last parliament at Westminster, to cause justice to be done to them; the king therefore orders the justices to inspect the record and process and proceed further to render judgment with all lawful speed, notwithstanding the king's previous order, or that the manor is in his hands.

Oct. 22. To the purveyors and takers of wool in co. Southampton. Order not Westminster. to take the wool of John Baroncelli, John Stephani, John Junctin, and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Peruzzi of Florence, trading in the realm, by reason of their commission to take certain wool in that county for the king's use, not permitting the merchants to buy wool in that county henceforth until further orders, whereby the buying of wool for the king's use might be impeded, provided that they do not take out of the realm the wool bought and purveyed by them, as the king wishes to show favour to them. Thame. counties. Order, upon sight of these presents, to cause 30 tuns of flour to be bought and purveyed at Bristol and elsewhere in those parts, for the king's benefit, and if he cannot find it there, then to cause wheat to be purveyed and flour to be made thereof, and put it into tuns and cause them to be loaded in a ship in the port of Bristol, which Richard de la Pole, the king's butler, is about to send with certain of the king's wine to Skymburnesse or Carlisle, with speed, to be delivered by indenture to the receiver of the king's victuals there, for the maintenance of the king's army in Scotland. The king has ordered Richard to permit Stephen to put the flour in the ship, to be taken to the said parts, and has ordered the receiver to receive the flour. By K.

Oct. 20. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause 250*l.*
Westminster. to be allowed to William de Briclesworth and John de Northalle, who were elected sheriffs of London from Michaelmas, in the 10th year of the reign, in their account at the exchequer, or in their ferm for that city, in recompence for the loss of certain of their profits for their year of office, provided that they answer to the king for the remainder of the ferm of that city, as lately at their suit, by their petition before the king and his council in parliament at Westminster on Monday after St. Matthew last, beseeching the king to remit to them a moiety of the ferm for the city for the first term of the year, and to provide for their indemnity if the sea passage should be closed for the whole year—as they are bound to render 315*l.* for the ferm for that year, and they and other sheriffs receive nothing certain in aid of payment of the ferm, for the maintenance of ministers and others whom it behoves them to retain at their own cost, for executing the king's orders and for preserving the quiet of the people, except certain customs of wool, hides and wool fells and other things and merchandise taken out of the city and brought into it, to or from parts beyond the sea, and William and John have been impeded by reason of the king's prohibitions made before the said Michaelmas, forbidding such things to be taken out of the realm, and by reason of the unsettled state (motionis) upon the sea and of the damages inflicted there, wherefore such merchandise did not come to the city from parts beyond, so that they received little or nothing of such customs from Michaelmas aforesaid until Easter last—and because it was agreed by the king and council in answer to the petition that the mayor and six aldermen of the city should be examined upon the premises, and that the sheriffs should have allowance for what they should be found to have lost by the aforesaid causes, and by such examination taken before the king in chancery it was found that the sheriffs were wont to receive 5*d.* on each sack of wool, 2*d.* on each dicker (dacre) of hides, 4*d.* on every 100 wool fells, 12*d.* on each tun of honey and divers customs on other merchandise, and that William and John lost up to the sum of 150*l.* of such customs from Michaelmas till Easter, the king ordered the treasurer and barons to cause 150*l.* to be allowed to them in their ferm of the first term of the said year, according to the aforesaid agreement, but the king wishes that if his passage is open in the last term of the year, and if it be found by inquisition taken by the mayor and six aldermen at Michaelmas next, in chancery, that the sheriffs have received more from the custom of wool, hides and woolfells in the last term, because the passage was closed in the first term, than they ought to have received if the passage had been open all that year, and than other sheriffs had been wont to receive, then they shall be bound to restore to the king of that surplus according to the proportion of the 150*l.* which the king ordered to be allowed to them. And because at the suit of William and John, asserting that the passage was altogether closed until Michaelmas last, so that no merchandise was taken out of the realm or brought into it, except certain of the king's wool which the king caused to be taken to parts beyond, the king has found by diligent information of the mayor and six aldermen of London, who had full notice of the premises, on Saturday the feast of St. Luke last, that William and John lost up to 100*l.* of the customs of wool, hides and woolfells, cloth, wine, cattle of weight and other things and merchandise which they ought to have received in aid of their ferm when the passage was open, from the said Easter until Michaelmas last, by reason of the king's prohibition and without their fault, beyond the 59*l.* 3*s.* 7*d.* which they received for the said time of the custom of wool taken out of the port of London to parts beyond.

Oct. 12. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter-
The Tower. meddle further with the manors and lands which belonged to Hugh de Audele in Heghtredbury, Great Hornyngesham, Orcheston Marie, Knouk, Smalbrok, and Anstigh, near Hull Deverel, restoring the issues thereof, as the escheator returned that he had taken those lands into the king's hand because he had found by inquisition of office, that Hugh and Margaret, tenants in chief, had alienated the manor of Heghtredbury with certain tenements in the towns of Great Hornyngesham, Smalbrok and Anstigh, pertaining thereto, and the manor of Orcheston with a moiety if the manor of Knouk, to divers men for life, without the king's licence; and afterwards at the suit of Hugh and Margaret, showing that they had demised those manors and tenements to the said men for a term of years, and had not alienated them for the life of those men, and beseeching the

Oct. 18. To the taxers and collectors of the tenth and fifteenth last granted, Westminster. in the East Riding, co. York. Order to cause the prior of Ellerton, if he is fermor of a grange in Spaldyngton and other lands there of the prior of Ormesby, to be taxed for his goods and chattels in the grange and lands, and assessed at the said fifteenth with the men of that town and to cause the portion touching him to be levied of his said goods and chattels, as was wont to be done, as at the suit of the men of that town by their petition before the king and his council in the parliament at Westminster on Monday, the morrow of St. Matthew last, asserting that the fermors of the grange and other lands of the prior of Ormesby there, annexed to that prior's church, had paid the fifteenth of the goods and chattels in the grange and other lands, in each taxation and their proportion in each charge on that town, and that although the prior of Ellerton was then fermor of the grange and lands, the taxers and collectors of the tenth and fifteenth granted in the great council at Nottingham on Monday after St. Matthew, in the 10th year of the reign, appointed in that riding, unjustly caused as much money to be levied from those men, the prior being left out, as had been previously levied, and caused them to be distrained, and they beseeching the king to provide a remedy, and because it is not just that the prior of Ellerton because he was a fermor should have immunity of his ferm, although he is a man of religion, the king ordered the taxers and collectors to cause the prior to be taxed and assessed on his said goods and chattels for the fifteenth as was wont to be done.

Oct. 26. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the king has Sheen. received 600*l.* of the six yearly tenth imposed on the clergy of England by the pope, which were deposited in a chest kept in the abbey of St. Mary, York, of which money the king has promised to keep free the abbot and convent of St. Mary, York, collectors of that tenth in the archdeaconries of York and Clyveland, the king orders the treasurer and barons to cause these 600*l.* to be allowed to the abbot and convent, collectors of the two yearly tenth granted by the clergy of the realm in the same archdeaconries, in their account for the two yearly tenth, and to discharge and acquit them thereof, as the pope has revoked the six yearly tenth.

Oct. 16. To the sheriff of Suffolk. Order to pay 10*l.* for Michaelmas term last Westminster. to Robert de Ufford, whom the king lately created earl of Suffolk, granting him 20*l.* yearly of the issues of that county.

Oct. 25. To the taxers and collectors in co. Essex of the tenth and fifteenth Thame. granted for three years in the last council at Westminster. Order to supersede the levying of that tenth and fifteenth of the goods of the hospital of St. John the Baptist, Sideburnbrok, diocese of London, and to permit the master to be quit thereof, as the hospital is an ecclesiastical benefice, and Master Gilbert de Welton was appointed and inducted master or warden there, and the hospital is not taxed among the other benefices of that diocese on account of its poverty, as is clear by certain letters patent shown before the king in chancery, and the king has considered that if the hospital is charged with the aids granted to him by the community of the realm, it will behove the master to diminish the appointed alms, and the king ordered the taxers and collectors of the tenth and fifteenth granted at Nottingham in the 10th year of the reign. to permit the master to be quit thereof. Nov. 1. To the collectors of the old and new custom in the port of Great Sheen. Yarmouth. Order to cause the wool and hides of Richard de Crunchi, David de Kymberyngeham, and divers other merchants of the realm and of Scotland, arrested by the collectors by virtue of the king's order, to be de-arrested and delivered to these merchants, so that they do not take them out of the realm without the king's special order, as the king sent a like order to the bailiffs of Great Yarmouth, learning that divers merchants caused wool, hides and wool fells to be taken to the port of Berwick-upon-Tweed, to be taken thence to parts beyond the sea, contrary to the king's orders to the collectors of customs in divers places in the realm, to put under lock the seal called 'coket' and not to permit the exportation of wool, hides or wool fells, the king ordered the collectors of customs in the port of Berwick, by his writ on 12 October in the 10th year of the reign, not to permit any wool, etc. of Scotland brought to that port, to be so taken, before the takers should find security not to take the wool, etc. to parts which are not in the king's friendship; and afterwards, learning that Richard and the others laded divers of their wool and fells in a ship called 'la Godyer' of Hull, in the port of Berwick, long before the said 12 October, and paid custom thereon, as appears by letters patent under the coket seal, shown before the king in chancery, the king ordered the bailiffs of Great Yarmouth to de-arrest the wool and fells, which the merchants, their serjeants and the mariners of the ship had caused to be taken into the port of Great Yarmouth, while sailing towards Flanders, because of the danger of malefactors then upon the sea, which wool, etc. the bailiffs arrested because the merchants wished to take it to Flanders after the prohibition aforesaid, and the king has now learned from the merchants that their wool and hides are detained by the collectors and not by the bailiffs.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to audit the account of Thomas de Melchebourn of Lynne, for the victuals purveyed by him for the king's use, and to allow to him 7*s.* 6*d.* for each of 180 quarters of wheat, and 4*s.* for each of 238 quarters of oats, as on Wednesday after Michaelmas in the tenth year of the reign, the king caused 2,000 quarters of wheat and 1,000 quarters of oats, at 7*s.* 6*d.* and 4*s.* the quarter respectively, by the measure of 8 bushels, according to the standard of England, each bushel of wheat streaked (rasam), and of the oats one bushel streaked and one heaped up (cumulatam), to be bought of Thomas by John, archbishop of Canterbury, the chancellor, and Henry, bishop of Lincoln, the treasurer, before others of the council at Nottingham, and the king ordered Thomas to cause the wheat and oats to be taken at his own cost but at the king's risk to Berwick, to be delivered to Robert de Tong, keeper of the king's victuals there; and Thomas caused 180 quarters of wheat and 238 quarters of oats to be placed in a ship called 'la Godeyer,' of Lynne, and sent them to Berwick; and afterwards at the prosecution of Thomas, showing that the ship was wrecked in a storm and the corn therein totally lost at the entry of the port of Berwick, and beseeching the king to order his indemnity, the king ordered Thomas de Burgh, chancellor of Berwick-upon-Tweed and chamberlain there, to take an inquisition on the matter, by which it is found that Thomas caused to be placed in that ship 180 quarters of wheat in hundreds, by the measure called the English bushel, streaked without advantage, and 238 quarters of oats by the same bushel, of which one was streaked and the other heaped up, to be taken from the port of Lynn, to the port of Berwick, and that the ship was wrecked as aforesaid on the eve of St. Clement, in the 10th year of the king's reign, and that the wheat was lost without the fault of the master and mariners, except 13½ chaldrons (celdris) of wheat and 6 chaldrons, 1½ quarters of oats, which were sold at divers prices for 11*l.* 13*s.* 3*d.*, and that each chaldron of the wheat was then worth 24*s.* at Berwick, and each chaldron of oats 8*s.*; and Thomas has besought the king to cause allowance for the said corn to be made to him in his account for the time when he was one of the purveyors of the king's victuals and other things.

MEMBRANE 12.

- Nov. 20. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the late Quarrendon. king, on 10 April, in the 19th year of his reign, granted that John de Pulteneye, citizen of London, should be quit for life of all tallages, aids and other contributions, saving the due and accustomed prises, and although the king ordered the taxers and collectors of the tenth and fifteenth, granted in the parliament at Westminster in the 10th year of the reign to permit John to be quit thereof, and ordered the treasurer and barons and the collectors to cause John to be quit thereof, yet Hugh de Croft and Simon Croyser, taxers and collectors of that tenth and fifteenth, asserting that the treasurer and barons had delayed to allow them 56*s.* at the exchequer under pretext that John's goods and chattels in the towns of Clepham and Knotyng, co. Bedford, ought to be assessed and taxed at 40*s.* and 16*s.* respectively for the said tenth, with the goods and chattels of the other men of those towns, exact 56*s.* for the said tenth and fifteenth and also 56*s.* of the tenth and fifteenth granted at Nottingham, in the 10th year of the reign, whereupon John has besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to order the said 112*s.* to be allowed to Hugh and Simon in their account and to cause the exaction made on John to be superseded, and to cause John and the said towns to be quit thereof, if they shall find upon inspection of the rolls of the said taxations or by inquisition or otherwise that John's own goods in these towns were taxed at 112*s.* among the goods and chattels of the said men.

Like order to Hugh and Simon to supersede the said demand.

- Nov. 24. To Walter de Mauny, admiral of the fleet from the mouth of the Quarrendon. Thames towards the north, or to him who supplies his place. Order to cause all the ships of the fleet lately sent beyond the sea, which returned in his company to the port of Erewell or neighbouring places, to be detained under arrest as soon as they are provided with men and other necessities, until further orders, and if he sees fit to set out to sea with those ships to harass the king's enemies crossing the sea, or lying in wait for the king's subjects or friends, he shall do so, but so that the ships shall return to the said port or the port of Sandwich, within three weeks from the time when they set out, and the king does not wish him or any in those ships to inflict injury on merchants of Spain or Almain or other parts, which are in his friendship, who wish to come to the realm or otherwise to cross the sea. The king has ordered the sheriffs of Norfolk, Suffolk and Essex to cause suitable victuals to be bought and delivered to Walter, and to the masters, mariners and other men in these ships for their maintenance for three weeks, which victuals the king wishes Walter to receive from them by indentures. Nov. 16. To William de Clynton, earl of Huntyngdon, constable of Dover Thame. castle and warden of the Cinque Ports. The king has received the plaint of Peter Seseres, merchant of Aragon, containing that whereas at his suit showing that certain malefactors of Sandwich and the neighbouring parts had taken a ship called 'Seynt Lowys,' upon the sea near Sandwich, laden with the goods and merchandise of Peter and other merchants of Aragon of no small value, had brought it to the port of that town, and had done their will with the goods and merchandise, the king ordered William to find out by inquisition those who were so guilty, and to imprison them, and cause their goods and chattels to be arrested and detained until they satisfied the merchants for their ship, goods and merchandise; and although the men of Sandwich, appearing before the earl, have acknowledged that they are willing to pay to Peter and the others 330*l*. for the goods and merchandise, of those 500*l*. which the merchants demanded by amicable treaty made between them, yet the men of Sandwich delay to pay that money, wherefore the merchants have besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the earl to compel the men of Sandwich, and those guilty of the premises by all their goods and chattels, by imprisonment and in other ways, to pay 330*l*. to the merchants, without delay, and to pay them for the damages which the earl shall ascertain them to have

Dec. 1. To Ralph Hastyng, sheriff of York. Order to cause William Page, shall find mainpernors who will undertake to have them before the king or his justices to answer for their felonies and misdeeds, and to have the names of the mainpernors and this writ before the justices on the octaves of Hilary next, the king also wishes the sheriff to be attendant upon the others nominated in the letters patent to pursue and capture them, as upon the information of the community of the realm by their petitions before the king and his council in the late parliament at Westminster, showing that several malefactors, joining together in different places in the realm, entering the presence of the justices armed, lying in wait for men of religion, merchants, rich men and other lieges, take and imprison them and extort money from them by threats, committing all manner of crimes, and the men of that county have not dared to indict or arrest them while they are at large, the king appointed certain lieges to arrest and imprison such malefactors and their abettors, and the king appointed the sheriff so to arrest William, Ralph, John and Thomas and others named in the letters patent, suspected of such crimes, and to take them to the Tower of London, to be imprisoned by the constable or him who supplies his place; but the king has learned that William, Ralph, John and Thomas are of good report and not suspect, and he does not wish them to suffer by imprisonment. By C.

Jan. 4. To Roger Norman of Southampton. Order, under pain of forfeiture, The Tower. to restore to John Gomyz, lately sent to the king by the king of Spain, all his goods which were taken from him, without delay, as John's complaint contains that, whereas he was coming to the realm, James Dote, master of a ship of Collardus Mundenard of Southampton, called 'la Margerie,' Richard Cortenhale, Robert le Chaumberleyn and others, meeting him in a place called 'la Trade of St. Matthew,' unjustly took from him 140 quintals of iron, and other things to the value of 40*l.* sterling, delivered to him for his expenses, which goods were deposited in the houses of Roger and Collardus and in other places at Southampton, and James took from John two letters sent by the king of Spain to the king, which he has not yet restored, whereupon John has sought for a remedy to be quickly provided. [Fœdera.]

The like to Collardus Mundenard of Southampton. [Ibid.]

To the mayor and bailiffs of Southampton. Order to cause all the goods of John, which they shall find to be his by inquisition or otherwise, and which are in the custody of Roger and Collardus, to be seised into the king's hands and delivered to John with all speed, if Roger and Collardus do not execute the aforesaid orders. [Ibid.]

they find that he has spent that sum by the king's order directing him to cause the bridge of that manor to be repaired by the view and testimony of the sheriff of Nottingham, and he has spent 44s. 7d. on the said repairs, as may fully appear, he says, by an indenture made thereupon between himself and the sheriff.

Jan. 20. To the mayor and sheriffs of London. Order to cause 87 cloths of Berwick-on-Tweed. Peter Sesayres of Arragon and of Benedict Ferrandes of Spain, merchants, taken by armed force upon the sea, in a ship of Spain, called a 'carrak,' and brought to that city, to be restored to them, if it is found that Peter and Benedict are of Arragon and Spain, and that the cloth was taken away against their will, so that their plaint may not be repeated whereby the king ought to lay a heavier hand thereto, because it was agreed by the king and his council that all the goods of men of the duchy of Aquitaine, Spain, Portugal, Lombardy, and other friendly lands, which were taken, should be restored, and now the king has learned that the mayor and sheriffs have arrested the said cloth and have hitherto delayed to restore it, wherefore Peter and Benedict have besought the king to order it to be restored to them. Dec. 10. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to deliver to Reading. Joan, late the wife of Alexander de Frivill, kinswoman and co-heir of Philip Marmion, tenant in chief of Edward I., the advowson of the prebend in the collegiate church of Thomorth, which Roger Persone now holds, as her purparty of that inheritance, saving the rights of Henry Hillary and Joan, his wife, kinswoman and co-heir of Philip, as the late king, on 28 May in the 10th year of his reign, assigned the following advowsons of Philip, which Mary, his wife, held in dower, and which by her death and at the suit of the heirs and parcences of Philip's inheritance, were taken into that king's hands: to wit to Ralph le Botiller, kinsman and co-heir of Philip, the advowson of a prebend in the said church, which Simon de Wykford then held, extended at 4l. yearly, as his purparty, and ordered master John Walewyn, then escheator this side Trent, to deliver the advowson to Roger, and lately at the suit of Joan, wife of Alexander, beseeching the king to cause her purparty to be assigned and delivered to her, the king gave her a day for this, to wit the octaves of Martinmas last, and ordered the escheator to make known to Ralph, Henry and Joan, his wife, that they should be in chancery there to show cause why her purparty should not be assigned to Joan, and for Henry and Joan to receive their purparty; and the escheator returned that he had done this, and that Henry and Joan, his wife, did not come on that day, and that Joan, wife of Alexander, appearing by Robert Russell, her attorney, sought her purparty, and the king, wishing to do justice to her, assigned the said advowson to her, with Ralph's assent, who appeared by Adam de Derleton, his attorney, which advowson is extended at 100s. yearly.

Memorandum that Robert Russel, Joan's attorney, granted that if this assignment should be challenged as irregular by Henry and Joan, his wife, or other heirs of Philip, then the advowson should be resumed into the king's hands and a new partition made, without blame or perturbation of Joan, wife of Alexander.

Jan. 4.
The Tower.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. William, Frank and Reginald de Donyngton, clerk, have besought the king, that whereas they were lately appointed to arrest certain ships in co. Lincoln and cause them to be prepared for war with armed men, archers, mariners, helms, bridges and other necessities, and to provide 2,000*l.* for the wages of those men, for victuals and other necessities in that county, and to take the ships to Creswell, to set out thence in the king's service, of which money a great part still remains to be levied, that he will be pleased to order account to be made with them for what they have levied, for their costs in the premises, for the wages of the men paid by them before the last passage of wool, and the wages of the men in five ships of war in the king's service, for bringing wool from the north to Creswell and taking it thence to Middelburgh, in Seland, returning to England, and staying at Creswell until the Conception of the Virgin last, in the company of Walter de Mauny, admiral of the fleet of these parts; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to make such account with them, and to cause what they have reasonably expended in the premises to be allowed to them.

To the same. Order to supersede the demand which they make on William de Clynton, earl of Huntyngdon, for 60*l.*, for rendering his account, and to cause him to be discharged and acquitted thereof, notwithstanding that it is found at the exchequer that 60*l.* were delivered to him upon his expenses, as William has besought the king, that whereas in the 6th year of the reign, when he was appointed with others a justice of oyer and terminer in co. Kent, and the king caused 40*l.* at one time and 20*l.* by the hands of Robert de Walkefare to be delivered to him, and William is sued to render his account for these 60*l.*; the king will be pleased to provide for his indemnity, in consideration of his expenses in executing the said order; and it is the king's intention that William shall have the said 60*l.* for his expenses and shall not be charged therewith.

Jan. 6.
The Tower.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. William de Clynton, earl of Huntingdon, and Juliana, his wife, have besought the king to provide them with a remedy, as they are bound to him in 95*l.* 2*s.* 8*d.* of the debts of Juliana de Leybourn, grandmother of Juliana, whose heir she is, and they have an attermination of 100*s.* yearly for that sum, and although Juliana de Leybourn paid 46*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* thereof and had three tallies of the receipt of the exchequer, and by two of these tallies 35*l.* are allowed to the earl and his wife in the said 95*l.* 2*s.* 8*d.*, yet they have not obtained any allowance therefor because the third tally was burned by accident, and being renewed was afterwards lost by mishap, and a third could not be made according to the custom of the exchequer, and also because the renewal of that tally is not enrolled; the king therefore orders the treasurer, barons and chamber-although the king ordered the prior to have that money at London to be delivered to William or to John Charnels, supplying his place, the prior, appearing before the king and his council, has asserted that the priory was founded by the ancestors of John de Warennæ, earl of Surrey, and the priors never made any apportum out of the realm to parts beyond, except in paying 100s. yearly to the abbot of Cluny, appointed by the alms of the founders, and at the time when the late king caused the possessions of aliens of the power of the king of France to be taken into his hands, the prior was released and the lands of the priory, then seized, were restored to him for the aforesaid causes and others shown before the council, as may appear by process taken thereupon at the exchequer and in chancery; and because the exchequer is now closed and the rolls of the late king's chancery are not in the king's possession, he has given the prior the said respite.

reason of the dissensions between them, and the king wishes to prevent such evils, as his subjects ought to be united, since they are surrounded on all sides by enemies. The king has sent a like prohibition to the

Jan. 26. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the earls, Berwick-on-Tweed. barons, knights, freemen and community of the realm granted to the king a fifteenth and tenth in the great council at Nottingham on Monday after St. Matthew, in the 10th year of the reign, for the defence of the realm, and to avoid the oppression of the people of the realm by the taxers and collectors, the king appointed Constantine de Mortuo Mari and John de Hedersete to seek and receive from the cities, boroughs and towns in co. Norfolk, such sum and no more as had been levied for the tenth and fifteenth granted in the parliament at Westminster on Monday after Sunday in Mid-Lent, then last past; and afterwards at the suit of the men of the towns of Tilneye, Walpol, Walsokne and Westwalton, and the hamlet of Enemeth and the towns of Wygenhale and Tyryngton, showing that the lands pertaining to those towns and hamlet had been inundated by sea storms and otherwise in Tylneye, Walpol, Walsokne, Westwalton and Enemeth, on Monday before Hilary in the said year and in Wygenhale and Tyryngton on Tuesday following, and that the corn sown there and their goods and chattels there had for the most part perished by such tempests, and they beseeching the king by their petition before him and his council in the last parliament to have consideration for the premises and order their goods and chattels which remain to them after the said destruction, to be taxed and assessed at the said fifteenth, the king appointed Constantine and John and John de la Rokele to take inquisitions concerning the said damage; and because it is found by such inquisitions that the corn and goods have for the most part been destroyed as aforesaid, the king appointed Constantine, John and John, with a clerk whom they should choose for this, for whom they should be answerable, to assess and tax the goods and chattels in those towns at the fifteenth, and to collect and levy the money thereof, and pay it at the exchequer; and the towns and hamlet have been so taxed as the king has learned, to wit; Tilneye at 10*l.*, Walpol at 16*l.* 8*s.*, Walsokne at 12*l.*, Westwalton with the said hamlet at 16*l.* 2*s.*, Wigenhale at 13*l.* 4*s.* and Tiryington at 16*l.* 9*s.* 6*d.*, which sums the said men are ready to pay; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to view the said taxing, and if they find that this has been done with reasonable consideration to the said destruction, then to receive the said sums from Constantine, John and John, and not to charge them or the men of the said towns with any other sums by reason of the tenth and fifteenth so granted at Nottingham.

Jan. 28. To the same. Order to cause Jocus de Spaldyng to be discharged Berwick-on-Tweed. of 50*s.* yearly for the custody of a messuage, 65 acres of land, 12 acres of meadow and 14*s.* 7*d.* rent in Wyverton and Bernyston, co. Nottingham, which belonged to Hugh de Garthorp, deceased, tenant in chief of the late king, and which were in that king's hands by reason of the minority of William, Hugh's son and heir, from 8 June last, provided that answer is made to the king by Richard de Ty, parson of Multon church, for 52*s.* yearly for that custody from the same day, and by Jocus for any arrears due by him, as the late king, on 18 May in the 12th year of his reign, granted that custody to Jocus to hold from the morrow of the close of Easter, then last past, until the heir should come of age, so that Jocus should maintain the heir in food, clothing and other necessities during that custody and should render 50*s.* as aforesaid; and the present king on the said 8 June committed that custody to Richard to hold during pleasure, so that he should maintain the heir in food, clothing and other necessities, and render 52s. yearly at the exchequer.

Jan. 26. To John Petyt of Trenerth and Serlo Wyse, taxers and collectors
Berwick-on-Tweed. in co. Cornwall of the triennial tenth and fifteenth granted by the laity. Order to deliver to Dinus Forcetti and Peter Bini and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Bardi, 440l. of the money of the tenth and fifteenth granted for three years in co. Cornwall, if the king ordered them to do so by writ of the exchequer, in part satisfaction of a great sum of money in which the king is bound to them, receiving from the merchants the tallies which the king caused to be levied in discharge of John and Serlo, as the king wishes the payment to be accelerated, because the merchants have agreed to lend him that sum for his affairs when they have received it. Feb. 8. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause 250l.
Westminster. to be allowed to William de Brykelesworth and John de Northall, who were elected sheriffs of London for a year from Michaelmas in the tenth year of the reign, in their account for the said year, provided that they answer to the king for the residue of the ferm and issues of that city, as lately at the suit of William and John, by their petition before the king and his council in parliament at Westminster on Monday after St. Matthew last, beseeching the king to provide for their indemnity, as they ought to have received greater profits from the customs of wool, hides, wool-fells and other merchandise brought from and to that port, as other sheriffs there received them, in aid of the payment of the ferm and for the maintenance of the ministers of the city and of others whom it behoved the sheriffs to retain at their own expense for the execution of the king's orders and the preservation of the peace in that city, and the sheriffs were hindered from taking and receiving such benefits by reason of the king's orders before the said Michaelmas, prohibiting wool, hides, wool-fells or any merchandise or victuals to be taken out of the realm, and because of the disturbance (mocionis) made upon the sea, whereby such merchandise did not come to the city from parts beyond; and because it was found by examination and information of John de Pulteneye, then mayor of the city, and of six aldermen, before the king and his council in chancery, according to the agreement made in parliament thereupon, that William and John had lost such profits, without their own fault, up to the sum of 250l., the king ordered the treasurer and barons to cause 250l. to be allowed to them in their account, which they have hitherto delayed to do, as the king has been informed by William and John.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. John son of Stephen de Segrave, kinsman and heir of John de Segrave the elder, has besought the king to order account to be made with him, as John de Segrave was retained by the late king to stay with him with certain men-at-arms, for life, receiving from the king 100*l.* yearly in time of peace, as appears by an indenture made between the king and John, and 100 marks were delivered to John for his fee for the 15th year of the late king's reign, which sum is now exacted of John son of Stephen as of a prest; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to view the indenture, inspecting the memoranda of the exchequer, and if they find that John was retained as aforesaid and that 100 marks were so delivered to him, then to audit the said account and further to do what pertains thereto.

Wilts, and the said messuage, land, meadow and pasture, which moiety is held of the king by the service of rendering a pair of gilt spurs yearly of the price of 6*d.*, and the tenements in Renham are held of the prior by the service of a 20th part of a knight's fee, and that Joan, William's daughter, is his next heir and was then aged 10 years and more, at the prior's suit, beseeching the king to cause his band to be amoved from the lands which are held of the prior, the king ordered the escheator to make known to William le Bruere, who married Matilda, late the wife of William, and to Matilda, to whom the king committed the custody of two parts of the land which belonged to William Jarpenall, to hold under a certain form, that they should be in chancery on the morrow of the Purification last, to show cause why the said tenements in Renham should not be resumed into the king's hands and his hands afterwards amoved therefrom, so that the prior should have the custody thereof, and to do and receive what the king's court should determine, and the escheator returned that he had made this known to William and Matilda by Richard de Edersete and Henry le Clerk, and William and Matilda did not come on the said day or send any one for them.

Feb. 6. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause allowance to be made to Simon de Rugeleye, sheriff of Salop and Stafford, on his account, for the issues of the hundred of Pirhull, co. Stafford, as allowance has been made to other sheriffs there, for the time when the hundred was in the hands of Roger de Swynnerton and Robert de Sapy, if they shall find by inquisition or otherwise that Roger and Robert held the hundred during the whole of the time that Simon was sheriff and received the issues and profits thereof and that Simon received nothing from the hundred and did not intermeddle therewith, as on 17 September in the 6th year of his reign, the king granted the hundred to Roger to hold for life, rendering 4*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* yearly at the exchequer, and learning afterwards from Roger that the hundred had been taken into the king's hands by reason of an agreement concerning such hundreds, the king granted to Roger on 12 July, in the 8th year of the reign, that he should have the hundred for his good service, for life, in part satisfaction of 300*l.* of land and rent which the king granted him yearly for life, so that he should render 4*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* yearly at the exchequer, and that he should cause the hundred to be guarded according to the statute of Lincoln; and subsequently on 18 September in the same year, the king revoked that grant and granted that Robert should have the hundred, as the late king had granted it to him to hold under a certain form; and now the king has learned from Simon's plaint, that although Robert and Roger held the hundred during all the time that he was sheriff, so that he received nothing therefrom, yet the treasurer and barons intend to charge him with the ferm or issues of the hundred for the time when he was sheriff, by reason of the king's writ to the sheriff of those counties to take such hundreds into the king's hands, and they have hitherto delayed to make allowance to him thereof.

Feb. 3. To the same. Like order to cause allowance to be made to the same Simon for the ferm of issues of the hundred of Cherbury, which the king granted, on 31st May in the ninth year of his reign, to William fitz Waryn, with the custody of Montgomery castle, for life, without rendering anything thereof.

To the same. Like order to cause allowance to be made to Simon in the arenting of divers wastes in the king's forests of Kenefare and Cannok which were arented in the time of Edward I to Gilbert de Dunnesleye, John de Madeleye, John de Swynnerton, Walter de Strangefeld, Agnes de Somery and William atte Lee, by certain lieges appointed for this, and they were not assarted or cultivated from the time of that arenting, wherefore Simon could not levy these arentings by distraint or otherwise while he was sheriff, yet the treasurer and barons charged the sheriff upon his account with 4*s.* 2½*d.* for Gilbert, 3*s.* 8*d.* for John de Madeleye, 8*s.* 5*d.* for John de Swynnerton, 3*s.* for Walter, 3*s.* 2*d.* for Agnes and 6*d.* for William yearly, by reason of those arentings, wherefore Simon has besought the king to provide a remedy.

To the same. Simon de Rugeleye, sheriff of Salop and Stafford, has shown the king that whereas the custody of Stafford gaol is annexed to the body of co. Stafford, and is in the hands of the sheriffs who have received the profits thereof in aid of their fermes, and although John son of Nicholas received the profits of that custody by virtue of the king's commission, for all the time when Simon was sheriff, yet the treasurer and barons intend to charge him in his account with the entire farms of these counties; the king therefore orders them to inspect the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer, in John's presence, if he choose to attend, and if they find that the matters are as aforesaid, then to cause allowance to be made to Simon on his account, of the yearly value of the said custody for the said time.

Feb. 10. To the justices of the Bench. Notification that although William Westminster. Gramory asserted before them that he had the king's letters patent of protection to last until a time still to come, containing that he should be quit of all pleas and suits, except certain pleas, and has exhibited these letters and others to impede the suit of Henry le Vavasour in a plea which is pending before the justices between them, wherefore that plea has taken a long delay, yet upon examination of the chancery rolls it is not found that such letters are enrolled there, and the king has learned from trustworthy testimony that William was not then in his service and is not yet set out, the king revokes those letters, and orders the justices to proceed in that plea and to render justice to the parties. Feb. 16. To Robert de Tughale, receiver of the king's victuals at Newcastle- Westminster. on-Tyne and Berwick-on-Tweed. Order to exercise the office of receiver and keeper of the king's victuals in those towns, to which the king appointed him, to hold during pleasure, notwithstanding any order to the contrary under the privy seal. The king has ordered Robert de Tonge, late receiver of the king's victuals there, not to intermeddle further with that office. By K. & C.

Order to cause Westminster. 27*l.* 10*s.* to be allowed to the bailiffs of Great Yarmouth in the debts which they owe at the exchequer, having viewed the late king's writs and their indentures, as the late king ordered them by a writ under the great seal and another under the privy seal to pay 55*l.* by indenture to Master Roger de Acton upon certain purveyances for the expenses of the household, and Henry Rose, William atte Mowe, John de Akley and Roger Gavel, then bailiffs of that town, paid 27*l.* 10*s.* to Roger by indenture, by virtue of that order, as they assert.

Feb. 12. To the sheriff of Bedford. Order to cause a coroner for that county Westminster. to be elected in place of Peter de Sancta Cruce, who is insufficiently qualified.

Feb. 12. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. The prior of St. Katherine's without Lincoln has shown the king that whereas H. bishop of Lincoln deputed him to collect the money of the biennial tenth granted by the clergy of the province of Canterbury in the tenth year of the reign at London and Leicester, in the archdeaconries of Lincoln, Leicester and Stowe and the deanery of Rutland in Lincoln diocese, and although the prior exercised all ecclesiastical censures delivered by the bishop to him against those refusing to pay such money and used all diligence to levy it and delivered at the exchequer the names of those who refused to pay and the sums touching them, seeking to be discharged of those sums, yet the treasurer and barons have not cared to discharge him thereof, whereupon he has besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to discharge and acquit the prior of these sums if they find by inquisition or otherwise that he applied all diligence to levy them, calling before them those whose names the prior has delivered, hearing their reasons and those of the prior, and if they cannot reasonably be discharged of the sums exacted of them, then to cause the sums to be levied of them without delay.

Feb. 16. To the mayor and sheriffs of London. Order to admit John de Shirburn as the substitute of Michael Mynyot, the king's butler, as coroner in the city of London, as Michael is on the king's business.

Feb. 12. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to John de Trehampton, sheriff of Lincoln, the sums which they shall find him to have paid to Ebulo Lestraunge, Alesia his wife and Hugh de Frene, as the king ordered the sheriff of Lincoln to pay them the arrears of 20*l.* yearly rent which the king granted to Ebulo and Alesia for the third penny in that county, and John paid 30*l.* to them by virtue of that order, as is said.

To the same. Like order in favour of the same John for 40*l.* which he paid to John de Tumby of Boston, merchant, at the order of John de Potenhale, one of the purveyors of the household, for fish which he delivered at the request of H. bishop of Lincoln, late the treasurer, and for a ship called 'Prucebergh,' bought at Boston for the king's use, fitted for war, with streamers, standards, banners, crossbows, bows, arrows, robes and other armour, and delivered to Robert Carter, master of that ship, and the sheriff incurred other costs for the munition of the ships, for which things the king ordered the treasurer and barons to cause allowance to be made to him, and the sheriff has informed the king that they have hitherto delayed to make such allowance to him because he did not exhibit a bill upon his account. By C.

Feb. 15. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to pay Alice de Bedyngfeld, sister of Peter de Bedyngfeld, knight, 200 marks within three years, which the king has granted to her, as the king caused all Peter's goods and chattels found in his manors, to the value of 200*l.*, to be taken into his hands, because he was indicted for felony in co. Suffolk, of which felony he is now acquitted, and Peter has released to the king all the said goods and has besought him to ordain for Alice's marriage. By p.s.

Feb. 18. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order to pay 53*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* to William de Clynton, earl of Huntingdon, late banneret of the household, or to give him a competent assignment therefor, because the king is bound to him in that sum for his fee

Westminster. for 238*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.* to be made to John bishop of Exeter, Peter de Grandisson, Richard abbot of Dore and Agnes de Norwod, executors of the will of William de Grandisson, late executor of the will of Blanche, queen of Navarre, if they shall find, upon examination of the king's order and of the memoranda of the exchequer that the said sum is in arrear to them, as they have besought the king to order such payment to be made to them, as the king was lately bound to William in 1,000 marks for divers jewels in his custody, delivered to the king, who promised to pay that sum at certain terms, now past, and ordered William de la Zouch of Mortymer to pay that sum of those 5,000*l.* in which he and Eleanor his wife were bound to the king by a recognisance made in chancery on 19 January in the 4th year of the reign; and William and Eleanor paid 428*l.* 5*s.* 8*d.* of the said sum to William, and detained the remaining 238*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.*; and although on 21 May last, at the suit of the executors, the king ordered the sheriff of Gloucester to cause that sum to be levied of the lands and chattels of William and Eleanor, and to have it at York before the barons of the exchequer at a certain day, to be paid to the executors, yet the sum is not yet levied, because William and Eleanor are dead, and for other just impediments. Feb. 10. To the mayor of London. Order to cause the cloth of certain merchants of Brabant arrested at that city, to be dearrested without delay, to be sealed as is customary, and delivered to them, as they have besought the king to provide for their indemnity, as the mayor arrested divers cloths brought to that city by them after Michaelmas last by pretext of a statute that no merchants should bring woollen cloth into the realm after that feast upon pain of forfeiture, and the king wishes to do favour to them on account of his affection for John, duke of Brabant, and at the duke's request. By K.

Feb. 15. To the abbot of Langgedon. Catalonia, the duchy of Aquitaine and other friendly lands, coming to the realm with their goods and merchandise, showing that these were taken both on land and sea within that bailiwick, by the king's subjects by armed power, the king ordered the earl to hear their complaints and to cause restitution to be made to them [as at page 288 above]; and now the king has learned from the plaint of the merchants that although they sued before the earl for the restitution of their goods or for competent satisfaction therefor, yet he has been remiss in the execution of the king's order, since the barons and others of the ports and places in his bailiwick pretend that they have divers liberties, under colour of which they have neglected to appear before the earl to submit to justice, but maintain the malefactors in their misdeeds, conceal the goods so taken and eloin them, wherefore the merchants cannot obtain justice; the king therefore orders the earl to hear the plaints of the merchants, calling before him those whom he shall see fit, and taking information upon the premises, to cause the merchandise which these merchants can prove to be theirs to be restored to them, or competent satisfaction to be made to them therefor if it be destroyed, together with the damages which they have incurred, notwithstanding any alleged liberties of the Cinque Ports, and if any barons or others of those ports shall refuse to come before him, then he shall take inquisition upon the premises by the oath of merchants, mariners and other natives near the places where the evil was done, and take further information, if necessary, and to compel the ports or towns of that bailiwick, if the malefactors are maintained there, or the goods taken are concealed, eloin or detained, or if the barons do not display all possible diligence to punish the malefactors and restore the goods, to restore the said goods or give satisfaction to the merchants, together with damages, by distraint and otherwise, by taking their goods and chattels into the king's hands, notwithstanding any liberty, and to cause the premises to be published in ports and fitting places in the bailiwick, knowing that if he does not execute this order with diligence, the king will punish him as disobedient, and the king wishes him to make known to the barons and others of his bailiwick, that if they are found remiss or rebels in any of the premises, the king will take that liberty into his hands when he has been informed of such rebellion.

Feb. 10. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Godekinus le Calkier,

March 6. To the same. Gilbert de Boroudon has shown the king that whereas Westminster. he committed to him the custody of the lands which belonged to Gilbert de Umframvill, earl of Anegos, tenant in chief, which were in the king's hands by reason of the minority of Gilbert, the earl's son and heir, to hold until the heir should come of age, rendering the extent thereof at the exchequer yearly, and although the lands of the earl in co. Northumberland were destroyed and wasted by frequent incursions of the Scots, during the whole of the time that Gilbert had the custody, wherefore the king caused them to be extended by William de Denum and Richard de Emeldon, deceased, at the request of Gilbert de Boroudon; and although the extent is now made and returned into the exchequer, yet the treasurer and barons, not considering it, intend to charge Gilbert according to the extents of these lands returned at other times, whereupon he has besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons, that if the extent has been returned as aforesaid, to cause Gilbert to be charged according to that extent for the time that the lands were destroyed, and further to do what is right, not having regard to the other extents.

the prior paid 30*l.* of that sum by virtue of an attermination of 10*l.* yearly, granted by the king, and he is still bound in the residue, and the king is bound to the prior in 41*l.* 15*s.* for divers victuals brought from the prior's predecessors by the late king, as appears by a bill of the wardrobe, in the prior's possession, that the king will cause the 41*l.* 15*s.* to be allowed to the prior in the said 63*l.* 7*s.*, and order the residue to be paid according to the aforesaid atterminations, and the king, considering that the prior and his tenants are newly destroyed by the Scots, and also the great expenses incurred by the prior for the safe custody of Carlisle, orders the treasurer and barons to view the said bill, and if they find that such money is owing to the prior, then to cause allowance to be made to him as aforesaid, provided that the prior shall answer for the residue according to the attermination.

Feb. 27. To the justiciary of Ireland, or to him who supplies his place there. Westminster. Order to cause any presentation to the church of Artach made after the quinzaine of Hilary, in the 8th year of the reign, to be revoked, and to permit the prior of Lanthon Prima in Wales to have such state in the advowson of the church as his predecessor, John de Rufford, had there, as the king lately impleaded the prior of that place, before the justices of the Bench, Dublin, concerning the presentation to that church, void and in the king's hands; and afterwards, at the prior's suit, showing that there was an error in rendering judgment and in the record and process, the king caused it to be brought before him, and on its being viewed and examined, and the errors pointed out, because it was found before the king that Prior John died before judgment was rendered, and that John de Gloucestr[ia], the present prior, was then prior, and that a judgment against a dead man is null in law, it was determined in the court on the said quinzaine that the judgment should be annulled and that the prior should have a writ to the sheriff to place him in seisin of the advowson, as fully appears by the tenor of the record and process which the king caused to come before him in chancery, and now the prior has besought the king by his petition before him and his council in parliament, to provide him with a remedy, as the justiciary, after the judgment for annulling the previous erroneous judgment was rendered, has presented a clerk to the church, in the king's name, it being void by the resignation of William de Bardelby, clerk, the last rector.

yearly and for 116 marks of the arrears of the same until Michaelmas next, so that they may be able to prosecute their discharge, as with the assent of the parliament at Westminster in the 1st year of the reign, the king returned to alien men of religion of the power of the king of France, their lands, fees, advowsons pertaining to priories and places within the realm, which the late king caused to be taken into his hands by reason of his war with the king of France and committed to them for rendering a certain yearly ferm, at will, and the present king pardoned them the arrears of that ferm and ordered the treasurer and barons of the exchequer to cause such lands, etc. to be delivered to them, discharging them of the said fermes and the arrears thereof; and now at the suit of the abbot of Rewley, near Oxford, showing the king that he holds the church of Saham in the bishopric of Norwich, by the grant of the abbot and convent of le Pin, which the late king confirmed, which church the abbot and convent held previously for their own uses for rendering 43 marks yearly to the abbot of le Pin; and the treasurer and barons had caused the said abbots to be distrained to render 43 marks and 116 marks of arrears; the king therefore ordered the treasurer and barons to cause this demand to be superseded.

- To the mayor of London. Order to cause the de-arresting without delay of divers cloth of the merchants of Brabant trading in the realm, newly arrested by him, and permit them to do their pleasure therewith, as they have besought the king to provide for their indemnity, as their cloth was arrested by reason of a statute and ordinance made by the king and council that no merchants should bring woollen cloth into the realm after Michaelmas last, under pain of the forfeiture thereof, and although the cloth is forfeit, the king wishes to do favour to the merchants, on account of his affection for John, duke of Brabant, and at the duke's request. March 10. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Although it is found
Westminster. by certain inquisitions taken in the time of the king's progenitors that certain ancestors of Roger de Huntyngheld held the manor of Bokesworth, co. Cambridge, of these progenitors, by the service of a fourth part of a knight's fee, and by a certificate of the exchequer sent into chancery, and by other evidences it appears that those ancestors did homage to the king's for the manor, yet Henry earl of Lancaster and Robert de Ufford, earl of Suffolk, and certain others of whom Roger held lands at his death, have sued before the king, and in the last parliament at Westminster, asserting that Roger, who died seised of the manor in his demesne as of fee, as appears by his inquisition post mortem had not so held the manor of the king at his death, nor had his ancestors, that the king ought to have the custody of the lands which were held of him by Roger on the marriage of his heir, a minor, and beseeching the king to cause his hand to be amoved from these lands; and because, on the affair being examined before the king and his council, and for certain reasons propounded there the king ordained, with the assent of the earls and others, that the whole affair should be transferred to the exchequer to be discussed there, the king orders the treasurer and barons to view the tenors of the inquisitions post mortem of Roger and his ancestors, and the certificates sent into chancery, and the writ of homage of William son and heir of Roger de Huntyngheld, ancestor of Roger, made to Edward I, and certain other writs enrolled in the late king's chancery, by which the late king caused his hands to be amoved from the lands which belonged to William at his death, which the king sends to them under the half seal (sub pede sigilli), examining the books of Domesday, of fees, and the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer, taking an inquisition, if necessary, summoning before them the justices appointed to hold pleas before the king, if they are in these parts, and the justices of the Bench, the king's serjeants and others, as they shall see fit, hearing the reasons of the justices and serjeants, and those of Ralph de Nevill, to whom the king committed the custody of all the lands which belonged to Roger de Huntyngheld, for rendering a certain thing yearly at the exchequer, until Roger's heir should come of age, together with the marriage of that heir, and diligent and mature deliberation being taken upon the premises, to proceed to the final discussion of that affair, and do what they consider just and reasonable, by the advice of the justices, and to inform the king in chancery of all their doings in this respect, so that the process, discussion and advice being viewed, the king may cause what seems just and reasonable to be done. The Tower. customs there. Order to permit Peter de Ceseres and Benedict Ferrandes, merchants, to take 87 cloths of a ship called 'la Carrak' from that port, in ships of parts beyond, without paying any custom thereof to the king, having taken security from them that they will not take the cloth to parts warring against the king, nor communicate with the men of those parts, as Peter and Benedict have besought the king for themselves and their fellows, merchants of Arragon, Majorca, Spain and Lombardy to grant them permission to take that cloth out of the realm without paying custom, as the cloth was lately taken from that ship upon the sea by certain of the king's subjects and was taken into the realm as far as London, against the wish of the merchants, and the king caused them to restore the cloth to the merchants, who are now about to return home with the cloth, and the king wishes to deal graciously with them, on account of his affection for the king of Spain. The Tower. has paid that sum to Master William la Zousch, dean of St. Peter's, York, the treasurer, or to John de Charneles, supplying his place, by virtue of the king's order.

March 14. To the justices of the Bench. Whereas Henry son of Hugh lately
The Tower. arramed divers assizes of novel disseisin by divers writs against Robert de Clyfford and others contained in the original writs, concerning tenements in Mikelton in Tesdale, co. York, and Robert arramed divers other assizes by divers other writs against Henry and the others concerning a tenement in Burgh under Staynesmore, co. Westmorland, and that tenement which Henry placed in view in the said assizes was afterwards placed in view by Robert in the same assizes; and by reason of a petition before the king and his council in parliament, on account of the dissensions between Henry and Robert and between other men of those counties upon land in the confines of the counties, because there are no certain boundaries between the counties, the king appointed certain lieges to make a perambulation between the counties and to place certain boundaries there; and afterwards, at Robert's suit, showing the king that Henry had arramed an assize of novel disseisin before these justices against Robert and others contained in the original writ concerning the said tenements in Mikelton in Tesdale and beseeching the king to order the taking of the assize to be superseded, the perambulation not being made, the king ordered the justices to supersede the said assizes; and now Henry has besought the king that whereas Robert de Eglesfeld had taken a certain writ of trespass before the justices against Henry, asserting that he had taken Robert's cattle at Caldesele and Letete, co. Westmorland, and had driven them thence to Mikelton in Tesdale, co. York, and imparked them there, and that suit touches the soil concerning which the assize is pending before these justices, the king will cause the plea to be superseded, the perambulation not being made; the king therefore orders the justices to supersede holding that plea if they find by inquisition or otherwise

March 15. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. It has been shown
 The Tower. to the king by the plaint of queen Philippa that whereas those who oblige themselves in coined money to the king, of their own accord, are bound to pay the queen's gold on the sums which they grant, to wit, one gold mark on 100 marks and 2 gold marks on 200 marks, and pro rata for other sums, and although the queen ought to receive such gold as other queens have done, yet certain persons, cunningly contriving to defraud her, contrive to convert fines and obligations from which the gold ought to be paid, into another nature and form, to have discharge thereof, and for this they have procured divers writs in chancery, wherefore the queen is often hindered from levying the gold on divers sums of money granted to the king from which it is due to her, whereupon she has besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to inspect the statutes, rolls and memoranda of the exchequer, calling before them whom they know, and learning the reasons for the queen and for the others to cause the said gold to be levied of the fines and obligations and other sums from which it is reasonably due, and delivered to the queen as was wont to be done in times past. March 10. To the sheriff of Northampton. Order to supersede the distraint The Tower. made on the prior of Cretyng and Everdon for 13*l.* which he has paid to John Charneles supplying the place of William la Zousch, dean of St. Peter's, York, the treasurer, of 16*l.* yearly which he owes for the custody of his priory, until the quinzaine of Easter next, as he has paid that sum to John, as he says, wherefore the king ordered the treasurer and barons of the exchequer to discharge him of that sum if they found that he had paid it. Somerset, to the value of 100*s.*, were likewise found and were seised into the late king's hands by the escheator this side Trent, and that no goods or chattels of John and Robert came into the hands of the mayor and community, wherefore it was considered before the late king that the mayor and community should be discharged of the goods and chattels of John and Richard; and it was ordered by the late king's writ under the testimony of Henry le Scrop to the treasurer and barons of the exchequer to discharge the mayor and community of the said chattels, and afterwards by another writ to the treasurer and barons at the suit of the mayor and community, that the treasurer and barons had superseded to do the premises because the writ was directed to them under the testimony of Henry le Scrop, it was ordered that they should discharge the mayor and community as aforesaid, yet the said goods and chattels are now exacted of the mayor and community, whereupon they have besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to view the said writ under the testimony of Henry and his fellows, and the other writ sent afterwards, and if they find the matters to be as aforesaid, then to discharge the mayor and community of the goods and chattels, according to the tenor of the late king's writs, and to inform the king if there is any reason why they should not do this.

March 28. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas in the partition of the lands of Richard son of John, tenant in chief of the late king, there were assigned to Richard de Burgo, earl of Ulster, Richard's kinsman and co-heir, the manor of Whaddon, co. Buckingham, extended at 27*l.* 11*s.* yearly, and 10*l.* 0*s.* 9½*d.* of land and rent in the manor of Aylesbury, which Emma, late Richard's wife, held in dower of the said inheritance, as his purparty; and long before Emma deceased the king took the homage of William de Burgo, earl of Ulster, kinsman and heir of Richard for the lands which he held in chief of the late king, and ordered them to be delivered to him; and now the king has learned from the plaint of Elizabeth de Burgo that although she caused the manor of Whaddon to be delivered to William by reason of an order of the king dated 20 October, in the 6th year of the reign, at William's suit, to deliver the manor and rent to him, the custody whereof the king committed to Elizabeth after Emma's death, believing that the custody then pertained to him, yet the treasurer and barons exact 26*l.* 0*s.* 9½*d.* of the ferm of the manor and rent from her for the time when she had that custody, although William, immediately after Emma's death, entered them according to the said partition and retained them, wherefore she has besought the king to order 26*l.* 0*s.* 9*d.* to be restored to her or allowed in a debt of 28*l.* 9*s.*, which is exacted from William by her mainprise for the extent of the manor of Fambrigg and Shire; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to cause such allowance to be made if they find the premises to be so on inspection of the exchequer rolls, provided that the residue of the said 28*l.* 9*s.* is levied for the king's use.

March 13. To Robert de Tughale, receiver of the king's victuals at Berwick-upon-Tweed and Newcastle-upon-Tyne, or to him who supplies his place in Newcastle. To John Moryn, escheator beyond Trent. Order to supersede the taking into the king's hands of the lands in that bailiwick which belonged to John Paynel, tenant in chief of the late king, and if he has taken them by virtue of the king's order, to cause Richard de Gascrik and Elizabeth his wife, John's eldest daughter and heir, and John Pouger and Margery his wife, John's second daughter and heir, to have seisin of their purparties, according to the partition of John's lands, restoring to John and Margery the issues of their purparty from 23 September, in the 10th year of the reign, on which day the king took John's fealty for the same; as the king ordered the escheator to cause John and Margery to have seisin of their purparty [as in this Calendar, 10 Edward III, p. 618], and afterwards at the suit of John and Margery, because the partition was not made equally while Margery was a minor, but more was reserved in the purparty of Elizabeth than belonged to her, they refused to accept it, as the escheator returned to the king, and the king ordered him to cause Richard and Elizabeth to be in chancery on the octaves of Hilary last, which day the king gave to John and Margery, to show cause why the lands of the inheritance should not be resumed into the king's hand, extended again and divided into two equal parts, and further to do and receive what the king's court should determine; and although, because Richard and Elizabeth did not come to chancery, the king ordered the escheator to resume into the king's hands all the lands which belonged to John Paynel, and to keep them safely until further orders, answering for the issues thereof at the exchequer, and to cause the lands to be extended in the presence of the heirs, if they chose to attend, by the oath of lawful men of that bailiwick, and to have that extent in chancery on the octaves of Easter following, which day the king gave to John and Margery to receive their purparty, yet John and Margery have appeared in chancery fully informed concerning that purparty, and have severally confessed that the partiwhich the king holds of Alesia's inheritance, and which she granted to the late king and to Hugh le Despenser the elder, and Hugh le Despenser

Westminster. them to cause the wool forfeited to him in that town and in the custody of Thomas de Drayton, to be weighed in the presence of Stephen de Cattesfeld, John Elys, and Thomas But of Norwich, whom the king sent there for that purpose, and to be appraised by the oath of lawful men of those parts, and although the king ordered them by divers writs to dearrest the wool and wool-fells which Richard de Crunclyf and David de Kymbriggeham and other merchants of the realm and of Scotland, laded in a ship called 'Godeyer,' of Hull, in the port of Berwick-upon-Tweed, before any order had been sent to the collectors of customs in that port not to permit any wools, hides and wool-fells to be taken out of that port to parts beyond, and they paid custom thereon, as appears by letters under the coket seal, which wool, etc. the bailiffs arrested because the said merchants and their serjeants, in sailing towards Flanders, put into the port of that town to avoid the danger of malefactors on the sea, yet because the merchants have shown the king that the bailiffs arrested the wool, etc. and detain it at the suit of Thomas as forfeit to the king by virtue of the said order, the king orders the bailiffs to dearrest the wool and deliver it to the merchants, so that they shall not take it out of the realm. By C.

Order to pay to Queen Philippa the sums assigned to her upon that tenth, and to cause 100*l.* to be allowed to the abbot of Glastonbury in the payment of the tenth of the first term of payment, after the payment to the queen, as the king lately appointed John de Shordich and other lieges to seek a subsidy from the men of co. Somerset for the defence of the realm, and the abbot granted 100*l.* upon condition that the money should be allowed to him in any tenth granted by the clergy, wherefore the king ordered the prior to cause 100*l.* to be allowed to the abbot in the payment of the said tenth of the first terms of payment, and now the abbot has informed the king that he could not have allowance on account of assignments made to the queen upon the tenth, and he has besought the king to order allowance to be made to him.

May 1. To William de la Pole. By bill of the treasurer.

April 28. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, Dublin. Order to discharge Hugh Daudele, earl of Gloucester, and Margaret his wife, of Westminister. 183*l.* 17*s.* 2 $\frac{3}{4}$ d., as on 25 October last the king pardoned them a third part of all debts exacted from them and their fellows (participes) in Ireland before that day, which third part amounts to the said sum, as fully appears by a certificate of the treasurer and barons sent into chancery at England.

April 28. To the justiciary of Ireland for the present or the future. Order to Westminister. restore to Simon fitz Richard a messuage, a carucate of land and 6*s.* rent in Isakeston, and a messuage, a carucate of land and 8*s.* 6*d.* rent in Rathcour, and a messuage and carucate of land in Balyskeagh, together with the issues thereof, as Richard son of Thomas fitz Johan, lately impleaded him before the justices of the Bench, Dublin, by the king's writ of right called 'precipe in capite,' concerning the said tenements, and Philip son of James Possewik impleaded him in the court of the liberty of Trym, before Simon de Genevill, keeper of that liberty, by a like writ for a messuage and a carucate of land in Balyskeagh, which suit the king afterwards caused to come before his said justices for errors therein, and Richard and Philip, in their writs concerning the seisins of their ancestors in the time of Edward I, recovered seisin by a jury in the place of a great assize in which Simon, Richard and Philip placed themselves, to wit, by consideration of the respective courts, as appears by the tenors of the records and processes of these suits which the king caused to come before him in chancery in England; and Simon has shown before the king and his council, that whereas the said tenements, in the hands of Hugh de Lacy in the time of the late king, were taken into the king's hands by reason of divers felonies and seditions committed by Hugh in Ireland, and were afterwards restored to Hugh by the present king, because he was restored to the king's peace by consideration of the court in that land, and Hugh granted those tenements to Robert Power, by charter, and Simon afterwards acquired them of Robert, and held them until they were recovered as aforesaid, and although after the recoveries Simon had acquired the tenements of Richard and Philip, yet the justiciary caused them to be taken into the king's hands by reason of a judgment against Hugh, whereby he was condemned to death as a traitor against the late king, and by virtue of a writ of the king so to take all the lands which Hugh forfeited to the April 28. To the takers of wool for the king's use in the city of London. Order Westminster. to deliver 100 sacks of wool of foreign merchants and others bought before the ordinance to take wool for the king's use, to Ralph de Hautvill, knight, or his attorney, without delay, as Ralph has besought the king to cause him to take the wool to Holand, as he bought it for the use of Hugh de Geneye, knight, and it was taken for the king's use by the takers, because it has been ordained by the king and his council that Ralph shall take the wool to Holand. The king has ordered the collectors of custom in that city to permit Ralph to carry the wool to Holand, having received 40s. on each sack for the custom and subsidy due thereon, so that he shall not take it to parts warring against the king. Skirayk, Barston and the wapentake of Strafford in that county, beyond what they shall find by inquisition that he levied of the issues of the county, as Thomas has shown the king that whereas the king granted to Queen Philippa the bailiwicks of Axebrigge, Morle, Skirayk and Barston, to hold under a certain form, rendering 11*l.* 3*s.* 4*d. yearly at the exchequer, and the bailiwick of the wapentake to Robert de Bosevill, the king's yeoman, to hold under a certain form, rendering 10*l.* yearly all the time that Thomas was sheriff and received all the issues and profits thereof, yet the treasurer and barons intend to charge him with 140 marks yearly for the said time, because former sheriffs of the county have been wont to render 100 marks for the bailiwicks of Axebrigge, Morle, Skirayk, and Barston, and 50 marks for the bailiwick of the wapentake, came to London, obeying the said order, yet the sheriffs arrested his horses while he was staying in that city, and intend to appraise them and offer them for sale because of a writ of the king called 'justic[ies],' demanded at the suit of Hugh, abbot of Flaxeleye, asserting that the archbishop is bound to him in a certain debt, whereupon the archbishop has besought the king to provide a remedy. It is not the king's inten-

By K.

May 20. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains.

Dublin, which escheated to the king by the forfeiture of Hugh, who joined the Scots with an armed band, and now the king has learned from William de Boseworth and Margery his wife, that whereas Richard afterwards granted 80 acres of the said land in Foukeston to Philip Darcy in fee, and Robert Passelowe afterwards acquired it in fee of Philip, son and heir of the said Philip, and afterwards gave it in fee to William and Margery, and although they were seised thereof for a great while, yet the justiciary took it into the

To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with a messuage and 5 acres of land of the abbot of St. Albans, in Sandrug, restoring the issues thereof to the abbot without delay, as the escheator returned that he had not taken those tenements into the king's hands, but that Robert de Holwell, late escheator in cos. Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex, Hertford, Cambridge and Huntingdon delivered them to him by indenture, asserting that they were in the king's hands by reason of the trespass of the abbot of Westminster in acquiring them of the abbot of St. Albans without the king's licence, and the king, learning afterwards from the abbot of St. Albans that he held the tenements as his predecessors had, from time out of mind, without alienating them, ordered the escheator to take an inquisition on the matter, by which it is found that the abbot of Westminster never acquired those tenements of the abbot of St. Albans, but that the said abbot and his predecessors have held them as aforesaid.

April 6. To Fulk fitz Waryn, John de Cherleton the younger, Robert de Harleye, knight, and Griffin Cragh. Whereas the king appointed them to choose 200 Welshmen in the king's lands in North Wales, and 500 other Welshmen, to wit, 100 in the lordship of John de Warennæ, earl of Surrey, of Bromfeld and Yale, and the remainder in the lordships of other lords and lieges of those parts, if they were remiss in electing such men in accordance with the king's order to them, and now the king has been informed by the earl that although his lands of Bromfeld and Yale ought not to be charged with 40 men of 500 men, having consideration to the lands of other lords which are large and richer, and more populous, yet Fulk and the others demand 100 men to be chosen in those lands, wherefore the earl has besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders Fulk and the others to cause so many of the 100 men to be chosen in those lands as ought to be chosen, having consideration to the quantity of the lands and to the other lands and lordships, and to cause the remainder to be chosen in other lands as they shall see fit, so that all the men so chosen shall be at Ipswich on the appointed day.

MEMBRANE 34.

May 22. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter-
 The Tower. meddle further with three mills in Bishop's Wyke, 12 acres of land and 12 acres of meadow in Clyvelode and Sevarnestok, a messuage and a virgate of land in Poywyk, and a messuage and a virgate of land in the same town, restoring the issues thereof to the prior of Great Malverne, as the king, lately learning by inquisition taken by Hugh de Cokeseye and John de Stone, that the prior had acquired the said tenements in mortmain without licence, to wit, the mills of Godfrey late bishop of Worcester, the land and meadow of Nicholas Mounyng, the first messuage and virgate of Henry de la Chaumbre, and the second messuage and virgate of Richard atte Nasshe, ordered those tenements to be taken into the king's hands; and subsequently at the prior's suit, by his petition before the king and his council, in the last parliament at Westminster, showing that the inquisition was taken suddenly in the prior's absence, he not being called, and that the three mills are only two, and were acquired by royal licence, and the prior's predecessors were seised of the tenements before the publication of the statute of mortmain, to wit, by king Henry and others who enfeoffed them thereof, and beseeching the king to provide a remedy, the king ordered Adam de Herewynton, Peter de Grete and Walter de Shekenhurste the younger, to take an inquisition upon the matter, by the oath of lawful men of co. Worcester; and by the inquisition taken by Peter and Walter it is found that Richard sometime prior of that place, acquired two mills in two houses, called 'Wykemill' and 'Outtenhill,' in Bishops Wyke, near Worcester, in that county, of Godfrey, sometime bishop of Worcester, after the publication of the statute, and afterwards obtained the late king's letters of pardon; and afterwards the present prior erected another mill in the house called 'Wykemull' on his own soil, and so he now holds three mills in those two houses, and that the prior and his predecessors did not acquire any lands of Nicholas, Henry and Richard, but that the prior's predecessors were seised of the 12 acres of meadow in Sevarnestok by Robert de Stoke, under the name of half a virgate of land at the time of the foundation of the priory, and of the 12 acres in Clyvelode, by the said king Henry, and of the 2 messuages and 2 virgates of land in Poywike, which are parcel of the manor of Poywyk, by Herbert, formerly abbot of Westminster, long before the publication of the said statute, as of the right of their church of St. Mary, Great Malverne.

 Temple, London, from the time of the livery of a cemetery, an enclosure and places built thereon in the said Temple to the prior of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in England; as the king previously ordered them to do this [as at page 72 above], and now they have certified that they found by inspecting the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer that the king on 25th January, in the 6th year of the reign, committed the custody of the said Temple and of all the rents which formerly belonged to the master and brethren of the order of the Temple in London and its

suburb and which were then in the king's hand by the forfeiture of Hugh le Despenser the younger to William for rendering 24*l.* yearly, and it was noted in the account of Richard de Betoigne, mayor of London and escheator there in the 1st year of the reign, that Hugh le Despenser the younger, held the said lands and rents of the enfeoffment of the prior, no mention being made of any force and duress, in obtaining the manor of the New Temple, and by rolls of account of William de Basyng and James le Botiller, late sheriffs of London, concerning the issues of lands and rents which belonged to the Templars in that city, then in the late king's hands, from the morrow of Michaelmas, in the 2nd year of that reign, until the morrow of Michaelmas following, it was found that the total value of the New Temple and the other lands which belonged to the Templars in that city was extended at 73*l.* 6*s.* 11*d.* yearly, exceeding the extent in the inquisition taken by the treasurer and barons, by 46*l.* 17*s.* 11*d.*, but they have not yet found whether all the lands for which William and James accounted were in Hugh's hands and came afterwards into the king's hands, and because no mention of these things was made in the king's order, they have not yet proceeded to the said allowance and discharge, nor does it seem right to do so until scrutiny has been made upon the king's right upon the enfeoffment which Hugh is supposed to have held by the account of Richard de Betoigne; but the king does not consider it right for the prior or William to be further charged for the causes contained in the said certificate.

June 7. To the bailiffs and lawful men of Swayveseye. Order to supersede the Lopham. exaction and levying of certain customs on things coming for sale in that town, in accordance with the king's grant to them at the request of John de Moubray for enclosing and paving the town, from 12 February last for four years, because the king has learned from several persons that they levy divers customs, by virtue of that grant, on the goods of certain men of those parts, who assert that they ought to be quit of such customs, both by liberties granted to them by the king and by approved custom, and these men assemble for that cause to attack the town by armed force.

Lincoln, or to take such wool if necessary, by virtue of their commission, and the king, not wishing the merchants to be impeded in taking their wool, ordered Robert and his fellows to cause that wool to be dearrested and delivered to the merchants, if it was arrested as aforesaid, and if it was found that the wool belonged to the merchants before the said ordinance; the king, therefore, orders the collectors that if Robert and his fellows cannot be found in these parts and the wool have not been dearrested, and if they find that the wool belonged to the merchants of Brabant before the said ordinance, then to cause the wool to be dearrested without delay and delivered to the merchants.

- May 2. To the collectors of customs in the port of Southampton. Gerard Bury St. Bonenseigne, Dinus Forcetti, Peter Byne and their fellows, merchants of Edmund's. the society of the Bardi, and John Baroncelli, Thomas de Peruch[iis] and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Peruzzi, have besought the king to order certain of their wool to be dearrested and delivered to them, as the king lately granted them licence to take a certain number of sacks of wool from the realm to their own parts, and they caused 700 sacks to be taken from divers parts of the realm to the port of Southampton, to be taken thence to their own parts, and a part thereof has been arrested by William Stury and Edmund de Grymesby, appointed to supervise the taking of wool for the king's use in co. Southampton, and is delivered by them to the collectors to be kept for the king's use; the king therefore orders the collectors that if they shall find on viewing the king's letters of licence, that the wool has not yet been sent to the said parts and that 700 sacks thereof are still lacking, then to dearrest such of the 700 sacks as have been delivered to them, and to permit the merchants to take the 700 sacks to the said parts, having received 40s. for each sack for the custom and subsidy due to the king. By K.
- June 5. To the prior of Spaldyng. Order to cause the abbot of St. Nicholas, Bury St. Angers, to have the pension due to him from that house, if it is due, so Edmund's. that William Solis, his proctor in England, may answer to the king for the ferm which he owes for the custody of the possessions pertaining to that abbey in England, as the king committed that custody to the proctor for rendering 56*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* yearly, and now he has learned from the proctor's plaint that although a pension of 40*l.* yearly is due to the abbot from the house at Spaldyng, and the proctor has several times requested it of the prior, yet the prior has delayed to pay it from the time that the said possessions were taken into the king's hands, whereupon the proctor has besought the king to provide a remedy.
- June 3. To William de Bello Campo. Order to deliver to the prior of Great Bury St. Malverne 12 acres of land and 12 acres of meadow in Clyvelode and Edmund's. Sevarnestok, a messuage and a virgate of land in Poywyk, and another messuage and virgate in the same, lately extended at 50*s.* 4*d.* yearly, which were committed to William for rendering that extent, to hold during pleasure, together with the issues thereof, in accordance with the finding of an inquisition taken by Peter de Grete and Walter de Shekenhurst the younger [as at page 416 above].

June 10. To the bailiffs and lawful men of Snayth, and Alexander de Cridelyng of Snayth, William son of Thomas le Clerk of Snayth, and John de Neuton. Order to supersede the levying of certain customs on things coming for sale to that town, as although the king granted them such customs in aid of paving the town and the ways adjacent, for three years, from 28 April last, he has revoked the grant because the collection of those customs is hurtful to Queen Philippa, lady of the town, to her tenants there and to others of the neighbouring parts. By p.s. [11005.]

March 28. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the demands made on Thomas de Lavenham or his men and tenants of the manor of Ikelyngton, co. Cambridge, for tenths granted by the clergy, provided that he pay the tenths and other quotas touching the manor, with the community of the realm, if they shall find by inspecting the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer, by inquisition or otherwise that Aymer de Valencia, earl of Pembroke, acquired the manor of the prior and convent of the Domus Dei, Montmorel, by the licence of Edward I, and have paid the tenth and other quotas therein with the community of the realm, and that John de Wolaston, who held the manor for life by the earl's demise, was discharged of the tenths thereon granted by the clergy to the late king, as Thomas has shown the king that the earl acquired the manor as aforesaid of the prior and convent, who held it in frankalmoin, and paid tenths as aforesaid, and although John was discharged of the tenths granted by the clergy, yet the treasurer and barons exact divers tenths granted by the clergy, from Thomas, because the manor was lately in the seisin of the prior and convent, whereupon Thomas has besought the king to provide a remedy.

To the justices of the Bench. Whereas the late king granted to Edmund Gacelyn the manor of Cattemere, co. Berks., to hold for life, and the king being lately informed that Eleanor, late Edmund's wife, had entered that manor, at her husband's death, the king ordered the sheriff of that county to make known to her that she should be in chancery on the quinzaine of Midsummer next, to show cause why the manor, together with the issues thereof, should not be taken into the king's hands, and to answer for the contempt and damage to the king, and further to do and receive what the king's court should determine; and now the king has learned that William de Actone, by collusion with her contriving to disinherit the king of that manor, asserting that it was given to Richard de Turbervill and Margery his wife and Amicia daughter and heir of their bodies, by Meliora de Turberville, with remainder to William son and heir of Amicia, has demanded a writ de forma donacionis against Eleanor, calling her Eleanor de Sturreton, the king therefore orders the justices so to act in that plea that the king shall suffer no prejudice or disinheriting thereby without being consulted.

Aug. 16. To Thomas, bishop of Hereford, keeper of the land of Ireland, or to him Kennington. who supplies his places. The king has received the plaint of the master of the hospital of St. Thomas, Acon, London, complaining that whereas he attorned brother Henry de la More, his fellow brother as his general proctor in that land, the escheator of Ireland, because the attorney died there, has seised into the king's hands all the lands of the master, which were in the attorney's custody at his death, whereupon the master has besought the king in chancery in England, to provide a remedy; the king therefor orders the keeper to call the escheator before him, and if he finds that he took the lands for the said cause, then to order the king's hands to be amoved therefrom, and cause them to be delivered to the master or his attorney, together with the issues thereof, without delay.

and goods, and satisfaction for his damages, the said kinsman has done nothing at the king's request, as is found by the letters of the mayor of London under his common seal, whereupon Thomas has besought the king to provide a remedy; and because it is found by inquisition taken by John de Pulteneye, late mayor of London, Reginald de Conductu, and John de Causton, by the oath of merchants and other lawful men, that Philip Spenser, and Nicholas atte Gros of Normandy, and other malefactors of Normandy, Picardy, and elsewhere in France, took the ship as aforesaid, and the merchandise therein, to wit, 28 tuns of white wine, at 60s. a tun, and 4 pipes at 30s. each, 30 loads of salt, containing 375 quarters, of the price of 2s. a quarter, 10 parti-coloured cloths and 2 coloured, at 4 marks each, and a pack (malam), of the price of 2s., with 200 florins of gold, called 'Lambkyns' at 3s. 9d. each, and 200 silver pieces of Tours (turon' argenti), at 3d. each, with 20l. sterling, with sapphires and pearls and divers jewels of gold and silver of the price of 150l., with robes and armour of the price of 20l. and victuals in the same of the price of 4l.; and the king, wishing to assist Thomas, having consideration that the sea passage is closed by reason of the war with France, wherefrom Thomas cannot further sue as is customary, orders the sheriff to cause all the goods of men and merchants of Normandy, Picardy, and elsewhere in France, found within that bailiwick, to be seised to the sum of 100l.; in part satisfaction of 593l. 12s., at which the goods taken from Thomas are extended, and to be kept safely until he has been satisfied for the said 100l., and his damages; and to inform the king concerning the goods so arrested. The king has ordered the seneschal of Gascony, or him who supplies his place, and the sheriffs of London, and Norfolk and Suffolk, to seize such goods, the seneschal up to 193l. 12s., the sheriffs of London up to 100l., and the sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk up to 200l., without delay.

Aug. 7. To the mayor and bailiffs of Kyngeston-upon-Hull. Whereas the king taken to Great Yarmouth, whither the king has ordered all the wool purveyed for his use to be carried, to be taken thence to parts beyond the sea under safe conduct, so that the wool should be at Great Yarmouth before the morrow of St. Bartholomew next; and now the king has learned that the mayor and bailiffs under colour of certain of the king's letters of protection to certain men of those parts having ships, whereby they assert that they are quit of the arrest of their ships, do not arrest such ships, and because no one ought to be quit of such arrest unless express mention thereof is made in the letter, the king orders the mayor and bailiffs to arrest as many ships as are necessary for the said purpose in that port, notwithstanding the said letters, and to cause the wool to be taken to Great Yarmouth to be taken thence as aforesaid. Aug. 5. To the same. John de Trehampton has shown the king that whereas Northampton. he when he was sheriff of Lincoln, was appointed to buy and purvey divers victuals in co. Lincoln, and to send them to Berwick-upon-Tweed for the maintenance of the king's lieges in Scotland, and he bought 30 quarters of oats and caused them to be placed in a ship called 'la Blithe,' in the port of Boston, to be taken thence to Berwick; and although that ship perished in a tempest on its way to Berwick, on the sea coast near Whiteby, co. York, without the fault of John, or the master and mariners of the ship, and the oats were lost, yet the treasurer and barons intend to charge him with the oats, whereupon he has besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to take an inquisition upon the premises by men of the parts of Boston and Whyteby, and if they find that the oats were lost as aforesaid, then to do what they see fit for John's discharge.

To the sheriff of Surrey. Order not to intermeddle further with certain messuages, and 12 acres of land in Wolkenestede, as lately at the suit of Agnes, late the wife of John atte Horspole, and of Joan, Margery, Isabella, and Agnes, their daughters, showing the king that whereas William Terrige, lately impleaded John before the justices of the Bench to render account for the time when he was receiver of his moneys, and because John did not come before the justices to answer William, he was place in exigent to be outlawed, and he was outlawed, and although before the outlawry, or the demanding of the writ, he gave a messuage to Joan and Margery, and another to Isabella and Agnes, to hold for life, which messuages he had lately acquired in fee in the town of Wolkenestede, and also long before the outlawry and impetration, he and Agnes, his wife, had jointly acquired a messuage and 12 acres of land in that town of John, son and heir of Walter atte Lee of Wolkenestede, yet the said messuages and land are taken into the king's hands, by reason of a writ of judgment, directed to the sheriff so to take all the lands which belonged to John, by reason of his outlawry, to return the extent thereof, in the said Bench, and they are charged to render a certain yearly ferm at the exchequer, by the sheriff, wherefore Agnes and her daughters have besought the king to provide a remedy, and the king appointed John de Ifeld, John de Bray, and John de Hayton, to take an inquisition on the

To the keeper and chancellor of Ireland for the present or the future. Order to cause the custodies of the lands which belonged to certain men of Ireland, who held of James Botiller, earl of Ormount, deceased, tenant-in-chief, by knights' service, and which were in the earl's hands by reason of the minority of the heirs, together with the marriages of the heirs, to be restored to Eleanor, late the earl's wife, together with the issues thereof, if they shall find that the earl granted them to her during his life, as she has besought the king to order this to be done, as the earl granted the custodies to her, in aid of the expenses of his chamber, to hold of his gift, together with the said marriages, and the custodies and the earl's lands are now seised into the king's hand by reason of the debts in which the earl was bound to him, as well as the persons of the heirs.

To the same. Order to cause reasonable dower to be assigned to Eleanor, from all the lands, knights' fees, and advowsons of which the earl died seised, in his demesne as of fee, as she has besought the king to order this to be done, as although inquisitions of these lands, fees and advowsons are returned in the chancery of Ireland, and she has sued before the keeper and chancellor for an assignment, she has not hitherto obtained it, and the king has granted her request in consideration of the earl's services in Ireland.

To the same. Order to cause the king's hand to be amoved from the lands of which Eleanor was jointly enfeofed with the earl and the lands to be delivered to her, if they shall find by inquisitions returned in the chancery of Ireland that she had seisin thereof with the earl until his death, and that the grant by which she was seised thereof with him, was made with the king's licence, as she has besought the king to order this to be done, as she was seised of certain lands in Ireland, which are held in chief, together with the earl, the king's licence being obtained.

To the justices of the Bench. Whereas Edward I. for the anniversary of his Queen Eleanor, granted by charter to the abbot and convent of Westminster, the manor of Denham, co. Buckingham, and John de Bohun of Midhurst impleads the abbot for that manor, and the abbot has alleged before the justices that he holds the manor by the said charter and ought not to answer therefor without the king, wherefore the justices delayed to proceed further in the plea, and lately at John's suit the king ordered the justices to proceed in the plea and render justice to the parties, but not to proceed to render judgment without consulting the king; and afterwards learning from the abbot that the said queen acquired the manor in fee, and had deeds of release and other monuments to exclude John and the abbot from any action, in her possession, while she lived, and by her executors these were delivered into chancery, the king ordered the justices not to proceed to render judgment before these deeds were inspected, and subsequently John informed the king that although a writ was sent to the treasurer and chamberlains at the abbot's suit to have these deeds inspected, yet the abbot has delayed to prosecute such scrutiny so that John's right may be prorogued, wherefore the king ordered the treasurer and chamberlains to inspect all evidences touching the said manor and send them to the king in chancery under the exchequer seal, and they have sent transcripts of a charter and of deeds of release touching the manor which the king sends to the justices under the half seal (sub pede sigilli), ordering them to view these and the record and process held before them on the matter, calling the king's serjeants and others whom they see fit, hearing the reasons on both sides, and to cause justice to be done according to the tenor of the previous order, not proceeding to render judgment without consulting the king.

July 26. To Richard de Wylughby and his fellows, justices appointed to hold Northampton. pleas before the king. William, son of Nicholas Wychard, has shown the king that whereas he impleads Andrew de la Gove, prior of Tackele, before them for a trespass committed on him by the prior and others, as is said, and the prior has alleged that William is a villein of the manor of Tackele and the manor pertains to the priory of Tackele, and the prior and his predecessors were seised of William and his ancestors from time out of mind as of their villeins until the manor was seised into the king's hands, and the king committed the custody of the priory and its possessions to the prior for rendering a certain yearly ferm, and that the prior ought not to answer thereupon without the king, wherefore the justices delayed to proceed further in that plea, whereupon William has besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the justices to proceed further in that plea and render justice to the parties, notwithstanding the said allegation, but not to proceed to render judgment without consulting the king. Oct. 8. To John de Stirkeland and Roger de Bronolfesheved. Whereas the fifteenth, granted for three years, and afterwards to collect and levy the wool granted to the king in that county, and to take it to Newcastle-upon-Tyne, to be delivered to those deputed to receive it, to be sent to the king to parts beyond the sea, and the king ordered the sheriff of the county to pay them their costs for the carriage of the wool, and now the king has learned from the information of many that the issues of the county in the hands of the sheriff do not suffice for that carriage, and so the wool remains in the county for lack of carriage; the king therefore orders the collectors to cause the wool to be taken to Newcastle, with the issues of the county, and of the tenth and fifteenth in their hands.

 to parts beyond the sea, according to the agreement made with the king,

 London for fear of pirates, by reason of the king's commission, because receiving therefrom the timber of the park of dry wood, and taking the manor of Skuton, co. Norfolk, extended at 8*l.* 2*s.* 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ d. yearly, from which marriage Walter has received nothing, because Margaret is dead, as the king has pardoned him the said fine, for which he granted him the said marriage, and ordered the treasurer and barons to discharge him of that forfeiture, and they have not done so because no mention was made in the writ of discharging him of the fine for the marriage, whereupon he has besought the king to cause him to be discharged of the fine.

Oct. 18. To A. bishop of Winchester, collector in that bishopric of the tenth Kennington. granted by the clergy of the realm and to the sub-collectors in co. Southampton. Order to supersede the exaction made on Walter, vicar of Portesmouth church, for his portion for the present year, as he has besought the king to pardon him, as his houses, goods and chattels pertaining to his vicarage, and those of the men within his parish, were burned by certain alien enemies, so that he has not wherewith to live unless he receive other aid. Kennington. further with 20 acres of waste which belonged to Thomas de Hoton in Hoton Langthwayt, restoring the issues thereof, as the escheator returned that he had not taken it out the king's hands, but that William de Clapham, sometime escheator there, delivered to him by indenture a waste plot called Hoton Langthwayt, near Hoton, in the forest, in co. Cumberland, containing about 20 acres of land by perch of the forest, asserting that it was in the king's hands by reason of the trespass of Richard de Hoton in acquiring it without licence, of Thomas, who held it in chief; and the king, afterwards learning from Thomas de Hoton, kinsman and heir of Thomas, that Richard did not so acquire the waste, but that Thomas demised it to Richard for a term of years now past, ordered the escheator to take an inquisition upon the matter, by which it is found that Richard did not acquire the waste in fee nor for life of Thomas the grandfather, but that Thomas held it in fee, and afterwards granted it to Richard for a term of 20 years, now elapsed for a year and more, and Richard had no other estate there, and the waste is held in chief by the service of rendering 6*s.* 8*d.* yearly at the exchequer of Carlisle, and is worth nothing beyond the rent.

Oct. 23. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the pirates Kennington. of certain galleys which invaded Southampton have carried off the greater part of the seal for recognisances of debts there, so that merchants and others to whom recognisances were made, cannot procure the execution thereof, and others cannot be made according to the statute of Acton Burnell, whereupon the king has been besought to provide a remedy, he orders the treasurer and barons to cause another seal to be cut, with differences, and send it to chancery without delay, so that the king may cause what is necessary to be done according to the said statute.

the king has learned by inquisition taken by the escheator that Milo held the manor as of the right of his wife, of Giles de Badlesmere, by the service of a moiety of a knight's fee.

Nov. 3. To the collectors of customs in the port of London. Order to deliver Kennington. all the money collected for wool and delivered to them, to Robert de Wodehous, archdeacon of Richemund, the treasurer and to the chamberlains, by indenture, without delay. By C.

Nov. 3. To the mayor and bailiffs of Sandwich and the collectors of customs Kennington. there. Whereas at the plea of Alan Eliot, John Lok and Amicia Copale of Ireland, showing that they had loaded a ship called 'la Maryote,' of Respounte, with 18 great sacks and 24 stones of wool of Ireland, placed in 26 sarplars, in the port of Waterford in Ireland, and had paid custom thereon by Robert Larcher and John de Bristoll, their serjeants and merchants, and have coket, and they wished to carry the wool to Seland or Brabant, and the ship in sailing to Seland was driven to the port of Sandwich by the admiral of the fleet towards the south, and the wool is arrested by the mayor, bailiffs and collectors by pretext of the king's prohibition to take wool out of the realm, the king ordered the mayor and others by writ of privy seal that if they could show that the wool was from Ireland and custom was paid there, they should cause it to be delivered to them by finding security not to communicate with any not in the king's friendship, and now the merchants have besought the king to cause the wool to be dearrested, as when it was dearrested by virtue of his order it was again taken by Ralph le Sauvage and Stephen le Blount by reason of their commission to take wool in co. Kent, the king therefore orders the mayor and others to permit the merchants to do their pleasure with the wool by the said security. The king has ordered Ralph and Stephen to dearrest the wool. By C.

Nov. 4. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to inter-Kennington. meddle further with the lands which belonged to Thomas de Saundervill, having viewed a previous order to this effect, because it was found by inquisition taken by him that Thomas held no lands in chief in that bailiwick at his death, but that he held lands of other lords by divers services, and that Thomas de Saundervill, his son, is his next heir and of full age, restoring the issues thereof, and afterwards at the suit of Thomas the son, showing that he held the lands quietly for some time, and certain persons asserting that Thomas the elder held in chief, the truth being concealed at the time of his death, demanded a writ of diem clausit extremum, by pretext whereof the escheator took the lands into the king's hands, and Thomas beseeching the king to order his hand to be amoved, the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisition upon the matter, by which it is found that Thomas died in April, in the 6th year of the reign, and his lands are not held of the king, and they were delivered to Thomas as aforesaid.

Oct. 25. To Henry de Frowyk and William Martyn. Order to cause Kennington. 4*l.* 11*s.* 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ d. to be levied of the men of the town of Westminster, and to answer for one moiety at the exchequer on the morrow of All Souls next, and for the other on the morrow of Hilary following, as the king appointed Henry, John de Cherleton and Edmund Flambard to assess that town afresh with a clerk whom they should choose for this, and for whom they should answer, for the tenth and fifteenth, and Henry and John taxed the goods of those men at the said sum, as is found by a certificate sent into chancery, as the parliament assembled at Westminster on Friday before Michaelmas, in the 11th year of the reign, granted the king a tenth and fifteenth of all their moveable goods for the past year, and for the two years next following, in aid of his expenses for the defence of the realm against the incursions of the Scots and other alien enemies, and the king appointed Henry and William to seek and receive from all cities, boroughs and towns in co. Middlesex as much money and no more as had been levied by reason of the grant of the tenth and fifteenth in the great council held at Nottingham on Monday after St. Matthew, in the 10th year of the reign; and afterwards—at the suit of the men of Westminster, by their petition before the king and his council, beseeching him to do favour to them upon the portion of the fifteenth touching them or else to grant that their goods may be taxed afresh at the fifteenth, as the town is not a burgh or market town, and the men do not traffic or sell there, so that they are not able to live or maintain themselves except when the places of the exchequer and the Common Bench or others are staying there, and the men are much impoverished because the said places have not stayed there for a great while, and several who used to dwell in the town and bear the tallages and other charges thereon with the men living in the town, have departed therefrom by reason of want, so that the men in the town cannot live and maintain their estate unless they are favourably treated by the king—the king appointed John de Pulteneye, John Bray and Walter Sallyng to take an inquisition upon the matter, by which it is found that the town is not a burgh or market town, and the men do not traffic or sell there except when the king's places are there, and that the substance of the town was wont to consist in rents, and that on account of the absence of the said places, men have withdrawn from the town with their goods, and the men staying in the town are yearly impoverished by 70*l*.

To the sheriff of York. Like order with respect to Gregory de Thornton, who is sick and broken by age.

Nov. 15. To John, duke of Britanny and earl of Richemund, or to his bailiffs Kennington. of the wapentakes of Hang, Halikeld and Gillyng, co. York. Order to deliver to Thomas de Rokeby the arrears of 36*l*. due from the wapentakes from 10 May last, and to pay that sum henceforth, as on 10 May the king granted to Thomas those 36*l*. which the duke is bound to render for the wapentakes which he holds for life by the king's grant, to hold for the duke's life, and ordered the duke to pay this, and now Thomas has informed the king that the bailiffs have refused to pay him, because the king gave the duke respite until the quinzaine of Easter next for all the debts and reliefs which he owed at the exchequer, whereupon Thomas has besought the king to provide a remedy, and it is not the king's intention that the payment of the 36*l*. shall be delayed by reason of that respite.

MEMBRANE 27.

Oct. 28. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to abstain Kennington. from aggrieving Thomas de Baumburgh by reason of his acquiring a rent of 10*l.* 2*s.* of Roger Chauntecler of London, in Great Tywe, co. Oxford, but to permit him to hold the rent, as the escheator returned that he had taken the rent into the king's hands because he had found by inquisition of office that Roger acquired it of Robert de Veer, who held it in chief in fee, without licence, and afterwards the king learned from Roger that he held the rent of Ranulph de Veer and not of the king, and ordered the escheator to take an inquisition on the premises, by which it is found that Roger held the rent of Ranulph by the service of a 'musket' at St. Peter ad Vincula, the king ordered the escheator not to intermeddle further with the rent, restoring the issues thereof to Roger, and now the king has learned from Thomas that the escheator and sub-escheator in that county aggrieve him, who has acquired the rent of Roger in fee, because of that acquisition, as if the rent was held in chief.

Oct. 10. To the taxers and collectors in co. Hertford of the triennial tenth and Kennington. fifteenth granted by the laity. Order to cause all the goods and chattels of Matilda late the wife of William Flambard to be newly taxed, and to cause her portion to be levied according to the new taxation, superseding the demand made on her for as much ferm as William paid, informing the takers of the wool in that county thereof, as Matilda has besought the king to cause this to be done, as although she is ready to pay, yet because William, while he was taxer and collector in that county of the previous tenth and fifteenth, was taxed upon the rendering of his account by the treasurer and barons, the collectors compel her to pay for each year as much as William paid.

Nov. 8. To the sheriff of Cambridge. Order, together with Giles de Inkeston Kennington. and Roger Hogg, to receive all the wool in that county which is not yet received and put into sacks, and to find men to put the wool into sacks and have it carried with all speed to the port of London to be delivered by indenture to the collectors of customs there; as the king appointed William Muchet, late the sheriff of that county, Giles and Roger to do this, and William was amoved from his office before he had done it, wherefore a quantity of the wool remains unreceived and unsacked.

Nov. 8. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to amove the Kennington. king's hand from the manor of Hothfeld, co. licence to take 100 sacks to the said staple, 50 from Boston and 50 and the king has granted their request, because he has received the 640*l.* in the said parts by the hands of William de Northwell, keeper of the wardrobe, and the king has caused two tallies of 200*l.* to be levied at the receipt in discharge of the collectors and of the collectors at Kyngeston, and delivered to the merchants. By letter of the keeper.

Byfleet. discharge of Simon Stoket and his fellows, sub-collectors of wool for the king's use in the hundred of Westram, co. Kent, if he received that sum from them, as it has been shown to the king by Simon and his fellows, that although they paid 6*l.* which they received for wool to Ralph and his fellows, chief collectors in that county, yet the sheriff, whom the king appointed with others to receive the wool, exacts 6*l.* of them, whereupon they have besought the king to provide a remedy. By C.

William de la Pole, the king's serjeant, or to Thomas de Brome, clerk, his attorney, all the king's wool in that port, by indenture, in part satisfaction of 2,418 sacks, 10 stones of wool, which it was ordained by the king should be delivered to him, to wit, in the port of Lynn, and in the ports of Great Yarmouth and Ipswich, 394½ sacks, 7½ stones, in the port of Boston, 102 sacks, 7 stones, in the port of Kyngeston-upon-Hull 572 sacks, ½ stone, and in the port of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, 349 sacks, 8 stones; and to inform the king of the number of sacks before they have been taken to parts beyond the sea, as the king ordered William by writ of privy seal to bring him 2,900 sacks of the king's wool from England to parts beyond the sea with all possible speed, to sell them and make certain payments therewith, and the king ordered the collectors of customs in the ports of Boston, Kyngeston and Newcastle to deliver to William the wool assigned to him there to be taken as aforesaid. Dec. 20. To Th. bishop of Hereford, keeper of Ireland, or to him who supplies
 Byfleet. his place, and to his chancellor and treasurer there. Because the king is informed that the collector of customs in that land receives 80 marks yearly for his fee, and answer is hardly made to the king for so great a sum of the issues of the customs for lack of good keeping of the same, chiefly because the collector cannot attend to each of the ports in person, and it would be much more to the king's benefit if there were collectors in each of the ports where customs are received, who would attend to the office in person, the king orders the keeper and others to take deliberation upon the premises with the council of those parts, and obtaining fuller information concerning this to ordain for the levying of customs by those whom they know to be faithful and competent and concerning the fees to be appointed for this as may be best for the king's benefit and the convenience and quiet of that land.

Dec. 10. To H. bishop of Lincoln, or his vicar general during his absence.
Byfleet. Whereas the prelates, abbots, and others summoned to the last parliament at Westminster, granted a moiety of their wool up to 20,000 sacks for the king's affairs, and the king appointed certain lieges to collect this in all the counties of the realm, and it was ordained in the great council at Northampton that prelates, men of religion, and laymen should pay such wool according to the rate of the tenth and fifteenth, to wit for every 20s.; 10 stones of wool at 14 pounds a stone; and although John Ammory and his fellows, by virtue of their commission to take wool in co. Leicester, took 15 sacks from the abbot of Leicester, and delivered them to John Martyn, and Thomas Cogg, then collectors of customs in the port of Boston, yet the bishop demands the whole sum of wool of the abbot by reason of an order directing him to cause such wool to be levied, whereupon the abbot has besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the bishop to allow to the abbot in his portion, $12\frac{3}{4}$ sacks, $1\frac{3}{4}$ stones of wool, taken by John and his fellows, and to cause the residue to be levied for the king's use. The king has ordered R. bishop of Coventry and Lichfield to allow to the abbot $1\frac{1}{2}$ sacks, 4 stones of wool, and R. bishop of London to allow him $1\frac{1}{4}$ stones of wool.

Sept. 20. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Dec. 7. To the takers and purveyors of wool in co. Devon. Whereas the king Byfleet. ordered the taxers and collectors of the tenth and fifteenth in that county not to molest the tinnars there [above], and now the king has learned that the purveyors intend to compel the tinnars to render wool according to the portion of the tenth and fifteenth, wherefore they withdraw themselves from the works, the king orders the purveyors not to compel those who are true tinnars to render such wool while they work in the stannary, although in the king's commission to them it is contained that all the tinnars holding lands in that county shall be taxed. Jan. 20. To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the Berkhamp- port of London. Whereas the king has granted to the merchants of the stead. Bardi and Peruzzi for the great sums lent to him, 3,000 and 2,000 sacks of his wool, respectively, and he wishes them to have 226 sacks, 6½ stones of co. Buckingham, and the merchants have besought the king to order recompence to be made to them for 170 sacks, and 20 cloves of that wool lent to the king to make up a sum of wool reserved for the king in the port of London, of the king's wool of cos. Oxford and Berks, the king whereas they caused certain wool to be loaded in divers ships in the port of Boston to be taken to the said parts, and the ships have come to London for fear of pirates, and their wool is unloaded and is of greater weight than before through moisture, he will grant the wool to be loaded at London at the same weight as it had at Boston; the king therefore orders the collectors to view the letters of coket by which the wool was although the abbot was not at the parliaments at Westminster or time, so that he is not bound to pay the wool there granted, and he is ready to pay the tenth granted in the convocation of the clergy of the province of Canterbury on the morrow of St. Jerome last, and the tenth of the second year of the triennial tenth granted by the clergy, yet the collectors endeavour to compel him to pay wool, as the abbot

Nov. 20. To Ralph Basset of Drayton, William de Sharesull, John de Sharde-

Whereas the king learning from the complaint of Robert de Redeware of Bedford, that as he was deputed by the sheriff of Bedford to attach and imprison at Bedeford, William de Wymyngton indicted of several felonies in that county, and he took William at Eton and wished to take him to prison, Roger de Bello Campo, knight, of Eton, John de Bello Campo of Wyboldestone, knight, and others, named in the king's writ, and other malefactors, assaulted Robert, wounded, imprisoned, and ill-treated him and rescued William, the king appointed Ralph, William, John and Robert, justices of oyer and terminer in this matter; and now John de Bello Campo has informed the king that whereas he was deputed by John de Patteshull, and his fellows, justices appointed to preserve the king's peace in that county, to preserve peace in the hundred of Berford there, and Robert and seven men in his company armed with horses, shields, and lances, shouted out in a warlike manner, William, then in John's company, in the town of Eton, setting out to his own house at Wyboldeston, and William from fear of that shout, and of death, fled for safety on horse to Eton, and Robert and the seven men pursued him, to kill him, and he dismounted to defend himself and they attacked him in divers ways, and John had pursued them lest they should do anything against the peace, and ordered them to desist in the king's name, as they shot William with an arrow (sagittarunt) through the body, and because they would not render themselves to the king's peace, certain men then assisting John, raised the hue and cry, and Robert and his men seeing the country raised against them by this, took refuge at the church of Eton, and Robert was wounded in resisting John, and so detained for 3 days with his men in the church, and afterwards surrendered to the king's peace; and Robert asserting that John de Bello Campo and others named in the writ of oyer and terminer, who came to the hue and cry, had done this against the peace, cunningly demanded the said writ of oyer and terminer against them, whereupon they have besought the king to provide a remedy; and because it has been testified before the king and his council, that Robert had no commission to take William, and that John and the others were acting for the preservation of the peace, the king orders Ralph and the others to supersede the plea or process made upon the said writ of oyer and terminer.

Nov. 16. To the sheriff of Southampton. Order to supersede the taking and Kennington. exaction of John de Ambresbury, clerk, by a certain mainprise until the day when the writ of exigent against him is returnable before the justices, as A. bishop of Winchester impleads before William de Shares-hull, James de Wodestoke and Robert de Hoo, justices appointed to hear and determine a trespass committed on him by John and others contained in the original writ, and John is placed in exigent in that county to be outlawed, and he has now besought the king, appearing before the council, that whereas he is ready to answer the bishop, and he does not dare to render himself to prison on account of divers evidence touching the depression of his state if he does so, to cause the exigents to be superseded until the said day, and the king has granted this because of certain causes shown before the council, and because Roland de Wykford, Richard de Kymberle, William de Grynsted, Robert de Parnycote and Ralph Stonyle of co. Surrey, Humphrey de Merwede of co. Sussex, Robert Brudeport, John Brunyng and Clement de Durneford of co. MEMBRANE 25d.

Nov. 22. To Ralph de Nevill, Robert de Scardeburgh, Walter Percehey, Robert Kennington. Parvyng and John de Shirburn. Whereas the king appointed them to be justices to hear and determine a trespass committed at Beverley on Bartholomew de Fanacourt by John de Thornton Coppandal and others contained in the original writ, and now it has been shown to the king by W. archbishop of York, that although he and his predecessors have had cognisance of all pleas of trespass made in that town, as appears by the tenors of certain records and processes, which the king caused to come before him in chancery, and the archbishop has frequently requested the justices to allow him to have cognisance of that plea, but they have hitherto delayed to do this, because a plea concerning such trespasses has not hitherto been moved by writ of the king or his progenitors and cognisance of such plea has not been allowed to the archbishop or his predecessors, whereupon he has besought the king by his petition before him and his council, to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the justices to permit the archbishop to have cognisance of the said plea of trespass, as was wont to be done, and if any difficulty is seen by them to prevent this, then to send the record and process begun before them with the original writ and all other things touching it, to the king under the seal of Robert de Scardeburgh, and this writ, to be there on the octaves of Hilary, so that these being inspected, and the difficulty discussed, full justice may be done for the archbishop upon the indemnity of his liberty, and for Bartholomew upon his trespass.

stead.

To the abbot and convent of Peterborough. Order to grant to Master John de Thoresby, the king's clerk, such pension from that house as they are bound to give to one of the king's clerks by reason of the new creation of the abbot, until they have provided him with an ecclesiastical benefice, as the king wishes to provide for the promotion of John for his great merits.

CALENDARS OF STATE PAPERS, &c.

[IMPERIAL 8vo., cloth. Price 15s. each Volume or Part.]

Subsequent to recommendations of Committees of the House of Commons in 1800 and 1836, the Master of the Rolls, in 1865, stated to the Lords of the Treasury that although "the Records, State Papers, "and Documents in his charge constitute the most complete and perfect "series of their kind in the civilized world," and although "they are "of the greatest value in a historical and constitutional point of view, yet "they are comparatively useless to the public, from the want of proper "Calendars and Indexes." Whereupon their Lordships assented to the necessity of having Calendars prepared and printed, and empowered the Master of the Rolls to take such steps as might be necessary for this purpose.

THE CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

[ROYAL 8vo. Price 10s. each Volume or Part.]

1. THE CHRONICLE OF ENGLAND, by JOHN CAPGRAVE. Edited by the Rev. F. C. HINGESTON, M.A. 1858.

Capgrave's Chronicle extends from the creation of the world to the year 1417. Being written in English, it is of value as a record of the language spoken in Norfolk.

2. CHRONICON MONASTERII DE ABINGDON. Vols. I. and II. Edited by the Rev. JOSEPH STEPHENSON, M.A., Vicar of Leighton Buzzard. 1858.

This Chronicle traces the history of the monastery from its foundation by King Ina of Wessex, to the reign of Richard I. The author incorporates into his history various charters of the Saxon kings, as illustrating not only the history of the locality but that of the kingdom.

3. LIVES OF EDWARD THE CONFESSOR. I.—La Estoire de Saint Aedward le Rei. II.—Vita Beati Edvardi Regis et Confessoris. III.—Vita Æduuardi Regis qui apud Westmonasterium requiescit. Edited by HENRY RICHARDS LUARD, M.A., Fellow and Assistant Tutor of Trinity College, Cambridge. 1858.

The first is a poem in French, probably written in 1245. The second is an anonymous poem, written between 1440 and 1450, which is mainly valuable as a specimen of the Latin poetry of the time. The third, also by an anonymous author, was apparently written between 1066 and 1074.

4. MONUMENTA FRANCISCANA.

Vol. I.—Thomas de Eccleston de Adventu Fratrum Minorum in Angliam. Adæ de Marisco Epistolæ. Registrum Fratrum Minorum Londoniæ. Edited by J. S. BREWER, M.A., Professor of English Literature, King's College, London.

Vol. II.—De Adventu Minorum; re-edited with additions. Chronicle of the Grey Friars. The ancient English version of the Rule of St. Francis. Abbreviatio Statutorum, 1451, &c. Edited by RICHARD HOWLETT, Barrister-at-Law. 1858, 1882.

5. FASCICULI ZIZANIORUM MAGISTRI JOHANNIS WYCLIF CUM TRITICO. Ascribed to THOMAS NETTER, of WALDEN, Provincial of the Carmelite Order in England, and Confessor to King Henry the Fifth. Edited by the Rev. W. W. SHIRLEY, M.A., Tutor and late Fellow of Wadham College, Oxford. 1858.

This work gives the only contemporaneous account of the rise of the Lollards.

6. THE BUIK OF THE CRONICLIS OF SCOTLAND; or, A Metrical Version of the History of Hector Boece; by WILLIAM STEWART. Vols. I.-III. Edited by W. B. TURNBULL, Barrister-at-Law. 1858.

This is a metrical translation of a Latin Prose Chronicle, written in the first half of the 16th century. The narrative begins with the earliest legends and ends with the death of James I. of Scotland, and the "evil ending of the traitors that slew him." The peculiarities of the Scottish dialect are well illustrated in this version.

7. JOHANNIS CAPGRAVE LIBER DE ILLUSTRIBUS HENRICIS. Edited by the Rev. F. C. HINGESTON, M.A. 1858.

The first part relates only to the history of the Empire from the election of Henry I. the Fowler, to the end of the reign of the Emperor Henry VI. The second part is devoted to English history, from the accession of Henry I. in 1100, to 1446, which was the twenty-fourth year of the reign of Henry VI. The third part contains the lives of illustrious men who have borne the name of Henry in various parts of the world.

8. HISTORIA MONASTERII S. AUGUSTINI CANTUARIENSIS by THOMAS OF ELMHAM, formerly Monk and Treasurer of that Foundation. Edited by CHARLES HARDWICK, M.A., Fellow of St. Catherine's Hall, and Christian Advocate in the University of Cambridge. 1858.

This history extends from the arrival of St. Augustine in Kent until 1191.

9. EULOGIUM (HISTORIARIUM SIVE TEMPORIS): Chronicon ab Orbe condito usque ad Annum Domini 1363; a monacho quodam Malmesbiriensi exaratum. Vols. I.-III. Edited by F. S. HAYDON, B.A. 1858-1863.

This is a Latin Chronicle extending from the Creation to the latter part of the reign of Edward III., with a continuation to the year 1413.

10. MEMORIALS OF HENRY THE SEVENTH; Bernardi Andreæ Tholosatis Vita Regis Henrici Septimi; necnon alia quædam ad eundem Regem Spectantia. Edited by JAMES GAIRDNER. 1858.

The contents of this volume are—(1) a life of Henry VII., by his poet Laureate and historiographer, Bernard André, of Toulouse, with some compositions in verse, of which he is supposed to have been the author; (2) the journals of Roger Machado during certain embassies to Spain and Brittany, the first of which had reference to the marriage of the King's son, Arthur, with Catharine of Arragon; (3) two curious reports by envoys sent to Spain in 1505 touching the succession to the Crown of Castile, and a project of marriage between Henry VII. and the Queen of Naples; and (4) an account of Philip of Castile's reception in England in 1506. Other documents of interest are given in an appendix.

11. MEMORIALS OF HENRY THE FIFTH. I.—Vita Henrici Quinti, Roberto Redmanno auctore. II.—Versus Rhythmici in laudem Regis Henrici Quinti. III.—Elmhams Liber Metricus de Henrico V. Edited by CHARLES A. COLE. 1858.

12. MUNIMENTA GILDHALLÆ LONDONIENSIS; Liber Albus, Liber Custumarum, et Liber Horn, in archivis Gildhallæ asservati.

Vol. III., Translation of the Anglo-Norman Passages in Liber Albus, Glossaries, Appendices, and Index.

Edited by HENRY THOMAS RILEY, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. 1859-1862.

The Liber Albus, compiled by John Carpenter, Common Clerk of the City of London in the year 1419, gives an account of the laws, regulations, and institutions of that City in the 12th, 13th, 14th, and early part of the 15th centuries. The Liber Custumarum was compiled in the early part of the 14th century during the reign of Edward II. It also gives an account of the laws, regulations, and institutions of the City of London in the 12th, 13th, and early part of the 14th centuries.

13. CHRONICA JOHANNIS DE OXENEDES. Edited by SIR HENRY ELLIS, K.H. 1859.

Although this Chronicle tells of the arrival of Hengist and Horsa, it substantially begins with the reign of King Alfred, and comes down to 1292. It is particularly valuable for notices of events in the eastern portions of the kingdom.

14. A COLLECTION OF POLITICAL POEMS AND SONGS RELATING TO ENGLISH HISTORY, FROM THE ACCESSION OF EDWARD III. TO THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII. Vols. I. and II. Edited by THOMAS WRIGHT, M.A. 1859-1861.

This work, written in the ancient Welsh language, begins with the abdication and death of Caedwala at Rome, in the year 681, and continues the history down to the subjugation of Wales by Edward I., about the year 1282.

18. A COLLECTION OF ROYAL AND HISTORICAL LETTERS DURING THE REIGN OF HENRY IV. 1399-1404. Edited by the Rev. F. C. HINGESTON, M.A., of Exeter College, Oxford. 1860.
19. THE REPRESSOR OF OVER MUCH BLAMING OF THE CLERGY. By REGINALD PECOCK, sometime Bishop of Chichester. Vols. I. and II. Edited by the Rev. CHURCHILL BABINGTON, B.D., Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge. 1860.

The author was born about the end of the fourteenth century, consecrated Bishop of St. Asaph in the year 1444, and translated to the see of Chichester in 1450. His work gives a full account of the views of the Lollards, and has great value for the philologist.
20. ANNALES CAMBRIÆ. Edited by the Rev. JOHN WILLIAMS AB ITHEL, M.A. 1860.

These annals, which are in Latin, commence in 447, and come down to 1288. The earlier portion appears to be taken from an Irish Chronicle used by Tigernach, and by the compiler of the Annals of Ulster.
21. THE WORKS OF GIRALDUS CAMBRENSIS. Vols. I.-IV. Edited by the Rev. J. S. BREWER, M.A., Professor of English Literature, King's College, London. Vols. V.-VII. Edited by the Rev. JAMES F. These volumes contain the historical works of Gerald du Barry, who lived in the reigns of Henry II., Richard I., and John.
The Topographia Hibernica (in Vol. V.) is the result of Giraldus' two visits to Ireland, the first in 1183, the second in 1185-6, when he accompanied Prince John into that country. The Expugnatio Hibernica was written about 1188. Vol. VI. contains the Itinerarium Cambriæ et Descriptio Cambriæ; and Vol. VII., the lives of S. Remigius and S. Hugh. Vol. VIII. contains the Treatise De Principum Instructione, and an index to Vols. I.-IV. and VIII.
22. LETTERS AND PAPERS ILLUSTRATIVE OF THE WARS OF THE ENGLISH IN FRANCE DURING THE REIGN OF HENRY THE SIXTH, KING OF ENGLAND, Vol. I., and Vol. II. (in Two Parts). Edited by the Rev. JOSEPH STEVENSON, M.A., Vicar of Leighton Buzzard. 1861-1864.
23. THE ANGLO-SAXON CHRONICLE, ACCORDING TO THE SEVERAL ORIGINAL AUTHORITIES. Vol. I., Original Texts. Vol. II., Translation. Edited and translated by BENJAMIN THORPE, Member of the Royal Academy of Sciences at Munich, and of the Society of Netherlandish Literature at Leyden. 1861.

There are at present six independent manuscripts of the Saxon Chronicle, ending in different years, and written in different parts of the country. In this edition, the text of each manuscript is printed in columns on the same page, so that the student may see at a glance the various changes which occur in orthography.
24. LETTERS AND PAPERS ILLUSTRATIVE OF THE REIGNS OF RICHARD III. AND HENRY VII. Vols. I. and II. Edited by JAMES GARDINER, 1861-1863.

The principal contents of the volumes are some diplomatic Papers of Richard III., correspondence between Henry VII. and Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain; documents relating to Edmund de la Pole, Earl of Suffolk; and a portion of the correspondence of James IV. of Scotland.

In the first two volumes is a History of England, from the death of Henry III. to the death of Henry V., by Thomas Walsingham, Precentor of St. Albans.

In the 3rd volume is a Chronicle of English History, attributed to William Rishanger, who lived in the reign of Edward I.: an account of transactions attending the award of the kingdom of Scotland to John Balliol, 1291-1292, also attributed to William Rishanger, but on no sufficient ground: a short Chronicle of English History, 1292 to 1300, by an unknown hand: a short Chronicle, Willelmi Rishanger Gesta Edwardi Primi, Regis Angliæ, probably by the same hand: and fragments of three Chronicles of English History, 1285 to 1307.

In the 4th volume is a Chronicle of English History, 1259 to 1296: Annals of Edward II., 1307 to 1323, by John de Trokelowe, a monk of St. Albans, and a continuation of Trokelowe's Annals, 1323, 1324, by Henry de Blanford: a full Chronicle of English History, 1392 to 1406, and an account of the benefactors of St. Albans, written in the early part of the 15th century.

The 8th and 9th volumes, in continuation of the Annals, contain a Chronicle probably of John Amundesham, a monk of St. Albans.

The 10th and 11th volumes relate especially to the acts and proceedings of Abbots Whethamstede, Albon, and Wallingford.

The 12th volume contains a compendious History of England to the reign of Henry V. and of Normandy in early times, also by Thomas Walsingham, and dedicated to Henry V.

29. CHRONICON ABBATIE EVESHAMENSIS, AUCTORIBUS DOMINICO PRIORE EVESHAMIE ET THOMÆ DE MARLEBERGE ABBATE, A FUNDATIONE AD ANNUM 1213, UNA CUM CONTINUATIONE AD ANNUM 1418. Edited by the Rev. W. D. MACRAY, Bodleian Library, Oxford. 1863.

The Chronicle of Evesham illustrates the history of that important monastery from 690 to 1418. Its chief feature is an autobiography, which makes us acquainted with the inner daily life of a great abbey. Interspersed are many notices of general, personal, and local history.

30. RICARDI DE CIRENCESTRIA SPECULUM HISTORIALE DE GESTIS REGUM ANGLIÆ. Vol. I., 447-871. Vol. II., 872-1066. Edited by JOHN E. B. MAYOR, M.A., Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge. 1863-1869.

Richard of Cirencester's history is in four books, and gives many charters in favour of Westminster Abbey, and a very full account of the lives and miracles of the saints especially of Edward the Confessor, whose reign occupies the fourth book. A treatise on the Coronation, by William of Sudbury, a monk of Westminster, fills book ii. c. 3.

31. YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGNS OF EDWARD THE FIRST AND EDWARD THE THIRD. Years 20-21, 21-22, 30-31, 32-33, and 33-35 Edw. I; and 11-12 Edw.  Vol. I.:—ITINERARIUM PEREGRINORUM ET GESTA REGIS RICARDI.
 Vol. II.:—EPISTOLÆ CANTUARIENSES; the Letters of the Prior and Convent of Christ Church, Canterbury; 1187 to 1199.
Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM STUBBS, M.A., Vicar of Navestock, Essex, and Lambeth Librarian. 1864-1865.
- The authorship of the Chronicle in Vol. I., hitherto ascribed to Geoffrey Vinesauf, is now more correctly ascribed to Richard, Canon of the Holy Trinity of London.
 The letters in Vol. II., written between 1187 and 1199, had their origin in a dispute which arose from the attempts of Baldwin and Hubert, archbishops of Canterbury, to found a college of secular canons, a project which gave great umbrage to the monks of Canterbury.
39. RECUEIL DES CRONIQUES ET ANCHIENNES ISTORIES DE LA GRANT BRETAGNE A PRESENT NOMME ENGLETERRE, par JEHAN DE WAURIN. Vol. I., Albina to 688. Vol. II., 1399-1422. Vol. III., 1422-1431. Edited by WILLIAM HARDY, F.S.A. 1864-1879. Vol. IV., 1431-1447. Vol. V., 1447-1471. Edited by Sir WILLIAM HARDY, F.S.A., and EDWARD L. C. P. HARDY, F.S.A. 1884-1891.
40. A COLLECTION OF THE CHRONICLES AND ANCIENT HISTORIES OF GREAT BRITAIN, NOW CALLED ENGLAND, by JOHN DE WAURIN. Vol. I., Albina to 688. Vol. II., 1399-1422. Vol. III., 1422-1431. (Translations of the preceding Vols. I., II., and III.) Edited and translated by Sir WILLIAM HARDY, F.S.A., and EDWARD L. C. P. HARDY, F.S.A. 1864-1891.

41. POLYCHRONICON RANULPHI HIGDEN, with Trevisa's Translation. Vols. I and II. Edited by CHURCHILL BABINGTON, B.D., Senior Fellow of St John's College, Cambridge. Vols. III.-IX. Edited by the Rev. JOSEPH RAWSON LUMBY, D.D., Norrisian Professor of Divinity, Vicar of St. Edward's, Fellow of St. Catharine's College, and late Fellow of Magdalene College, Cambridge. 1865-1886.

This chronicle begins with the Creation, and is brought down to the reign of Edward III. The two English translations, which are printed with the original Latin, afford interesting illustrations of the gradual change of our language, for one was made in the fourteenth century, the other in the fifteenth.

42. LE LIVRE DE REIS DE BRITTANIE E LE LIVRE DE REIS DE ENGLETERE. Edited by the Rev. JOHN GLOVER, M.A., Vicar of Brading, Isle of Wight, formerly Librarian of Trinity College, Cambridge. 1865.

These two treaties are valuable as careful abstracts of previous historians.

43. CHRONICA MONASTERII DE MELSA AB ANNO 1150 USQUE AD ANNUM 1406, Vols. I.-III. Edited by EDWARD AUGUSTUS BOND, Assistant Keeper of Manuscripts, and Egerton Librarian, British Museum. 1866-1868.

44. MATTHEI PARISIENSIS HISTORIA ANGLORUM, SIVE UT VULGO DICITUR, HISTORIA MINOR. Vols. I.-III. 1067-1253. Edited by Sir FREDERICK MADDEN, K.H., Keeper of the Manuscript Department of the British Museum. 1866-1869.

45. LIBER MONASTERII DE HYDA: A CHRONICLE AND CHARTULARY OF HYDE ABBEY, WINCHESTER, 455-1023. Edited by EDWARD EDWARDS. 1866.

The "Book of Hyde" is a compilation from much earlier sources, which are usually indicated with considerable care and precision. In many cases, however, the Hyde Chronicler appears to correct, to qualify, or to amplify the statements which, in substance, he adopts.

There is to be found, in the "Book of Hyde," much information relating to the reign of King Alfred which is not known to exist elsewhere. The volume contains some curious specimens of Anglo-Saxon and mediæval English.

46. CHRONICON SCOTORUM. A CHRONICLE OF IRISH AFFAIRS, from the earliest times to 1135; and SUPPLEMENT, containing the events from 1141 to 1150. Edited, with Translation, by WILLIAM MAUNSELL HENNESSY, M.R.I.A. 1866.

47. THE CHRONICLE OF PIERRE DE LANGTOFT, IN FRENCH VERSE, FROM THE EARLIEST PERIOD TO THE DEATH OF EDWARD I. Vols. I. and II. Edited by THOMAS WRIGHT, M.A. 1866-1868.

It is probable that Pierre de Langtoft was a canon of Bridlington, in Yorkshire, and lived in the reign of Edward I., and during a portion of the reign of Edward II. This chronicle is divided into three parts; in the first, is an abridgment of Geoffrey of Monmouth's "Historia Britonum"; in the second, a history of the Anglo-Saxon and Norman kings, to the death of Henry III.; in the third, a history of the reign of Edward I. The language is a specimen of the French of Yorkshire.

48. THE WAR OF THE GAEDHIL WITH THE GAILL, OR THE INVASIONS OF IRELAND BY THE DANES AND OTHER NORSEMEN. Edited, with a Translation, by the Rev. JAMES HENTHORN TODD, D.D., Senior Fellow of Trinity College, and Regius Professor of Hebrew in the University of Dublin. 1867.

49. GESTA REGIS HENRICI SECUNDI BENEDICTI ABBATIS. CHRONICLE OF THE REIGNS OF HENRY II. AND RICHARD I., 1169-1192, known under the name of BENEDICT OF PETERBOROUGH. Vols. I. and II. Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM STUBBS, M.A., Regius Professor of Modern History, Oxford, and Lambeth Librarian. 1867.

50. MUNIMENTA ACADEMICA, OR, DOCUMENTS ILLUSTRATIVE OF ACADEMICAL LIFE AND STUDIES AT OXFORD (in Two Parts). Edited by the Rev. HENRY ANSTEY, M.A., Vicar of St. Wendron, Cornwall, and late Vice-Principal of St. Mary Hall, Oxford. 1868.

51. CHRONICA MAGISTRI ROGERI DE HOVEDENE. Vols. I.-IV. Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM STUBBS, M.A., Regius Professor of Modern History and Fellow of Oriel College, Oxford. 1868-1871.

The earlier portion, extending from 732 to 1148, appears to be a copy of a compilation made in Northumbria about 1161, to which Hoveden added little. From 1148 to 1169—a very valuable portion of this work—the matter is derived from another source, to which Hoveden appears to have supplied little. From 1170 to 1192 is the portion which corresponds to some extent with the Chronicle known under the name of Benedict of Peterborough (see No. 49). From 1192 to 1201 may be said to be wholly Hoveden's work.

WORKS PUBLISHED IN PHOTOZINCOGRAPHY.

DOMESDAY BOOK, or the GREAT SURVEY OF ENGLAND OF WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR, 1086; fac-simile of the Part relating to each county, separately (with a few exceptions of double counties). Photozincographed at the Ordnance Survey Office, Southampton, by Colonel Sir HENRY JAMES, R.E., F.R.S., DIRECTOR-GENERAL of the ORDNANCE SURVEY, under the superintendence of W. BASEVI SANDERS, an Assistant Record Keeper. 35 Parts, imperial quarto and demy quarto (1861-1863), boards.

Domesday Survey is in two parts or volumes. The first, in folio, contains the counties of Bedford, Berks, Bucks, Cambridge, Chester, and Lancaster, Cornwall, Derby, Devon, Dorset, Gloucester, Hants, Hereford, Herts, Huntingdon, Kent, Leicester and Rutland, Lincoln, Middlesex, Northampton, Nottingham, Oxford, Salop, Somerset, Stafford, Surrey, Sussex, Warwick, Wilts, Worcester, and York. The second volume, in quarto, contains the counties of Essex, Norfolk, and Suffolk.

Domesday Book was printed verbatim et literatim during the last century, in consequence of an address of the House of Lords to King George III. in 1767. It was not, however, commenced until 1773, and was completed early in 1783. In 1860, Her Majesty's Government, with the concurrence of the Master of the Rolls, determined to apply the art of photozincography in the production of a fac-simile of Domesday Book.

This work forms a comprehensive Palæographic Series for Ireland. It furnishes characteristic specimens of the documents which have come down from each of the classes which, in past ages, formed principal elements in the population of Ireland, or exercised an influence in her affairs. With these reproductions are combined fac-similes of writings connected with eminent personages or transactions of importance in the annals of the country to the early part of the eighteenth century.

The specimens have been reproduced as nearly as possible in accordance with the originals, in dimensions, colouring, and general appearance. Characteristic examples of styles of writing and calligraphic ornamentation are, as far as practicable, associated with subjects of historic and linguistic interest. Descriptions of the various manuscripts are given by the Editor in the Introduction. The contents of the specimens are fully elucidated and printed in the original languages, opposite to the Fac-similes—line for line—without contractions—thus facilitating reference and aiding effectively those interested in palæographic studies.

In the work are also printed in full, for the first time, many original and important historical documents.

Part I. commences with the earliest Irish MSS. extant.

Part II. : From the Twelfth Century to A.D. 1299.

Part III. : From A.D. 1300 to end of reign of Henry VIII.

Part IV. 1. : From reign of Edward VI. to that of James I.

In part IV. 2 the work is carried down to the early part of the eighteenth century, with Index to the entire publication.
